Making Our Way Through Primary Re:

Making Our Way to Shore Eileen O'Farrell, 2004 Since 1991 members of the Jewish Catholic Couples Dialogue Group in Chicago have celebrated a combination Hebrew Baby Naming and Baptism ceremony as they welcome their children into the world with the support and participation of a Catholic Priest and Reform Rabbi These ceremonies are spiritual moments created in the spirit of finding new pathways for interfaith families to share in their religious traditions For some couples their ceremony makes a statement about the religious identity of their child either in one tradition or another For others it is an expression of thanks to God for new life and the wish to ask for God's blessing on their family In either case the celebration is an authentic manifestation of a Divine presence in their new family In addition to the ceremony this text includes an overview of the current literature regarding Catholic Jewish families a review of Hebrew Rites of Initiation as well as a short course on Catholic sacramentality and Baptism commonly asked questions and answers facing Catholic Jewish couples a lively conversation between a Rabbi and a Priest regarding rites of initiation a resource section of books and websites and a closing chapter on topics of family faith formation

Making our Way through the World Margaret S. Archer, 2007-06-14 How do we reflect upon ourselves and our concerns in relation to society and vice versa Human reflexivity works through internal conversations using language but also emotions sensations and images Most people acknowledge this inner dialogue and can report upon it However little research has been conducted on internal conversations and how they mediate between our ultimate concerns and the social contexts we confront In this book Margaret Archer argues that reflexivity is progressively replacing routine action in late modernity shaping how ordinary people make their way through the world Using interviewees' life and work histories she shows how internal conversations guide the occupations people seek keep or quit their stances towards structural constraints and enablements and their resulting patterns of social mobility

Making Your Case Charles Auerbach, Wendy Zeitlin, 2015-06-04 There is a growing need for research within practice settings Increasing competition for funding requires organizations to demonstrate that the funding they are seeking is going towards effective programming Additionally the evidence based practice movement is generally pushing organizations towards research activities both as producers and consumers There have been many books written about research methodology and data analysis in the helping professions and many books have been written about using R to analyze and present data however this book specifically addresses using R to evaluate programs in organizational settings This book is divided into three sections The first section addresses background information that is helpful in conducting practice based research The second section of the book provides necessary background to begin working with R Topics include how to download R and RStudio navigation R packages basic R functions and importing data This section also introduces The Clinical Record a freely available database program to help organizations record and track client information The remainder of the book uses case studies to illustrate how to use R to conduct program evaluations Techniques include data description and visualization bivariate analysis simple and multiple regression and logistic regression The final chapter illustrates a comprehensive summary of the skills demonstrated throughout the book using The Clinical Record as a data repository
