Making contemporary art Linda Weintraub, 2003 The Making of Indigenous Australian Contemporary Art Marie Geissler, 2021-01-06 This publication brings together existing research as well as new data to show how Arnhem Land bark painting was critical in the making of Indigenous Australian contemporary art and the self determination agendas of Indigenous Australians It identifies how when and what the shifts in the reception of the art were especially as they occurred within institutional exhibition displays Despite key studies already being published on the reception of Aboriginal art in this area the overall process is not well known or always considered while the focus has tended to be placed on Western Desert acrylic paintings This text however represents a refocus and addresses this more fully by integrating Arnhem Land bark painting into the contemporary history of Aboriginal art The trajectory moves from its understanding as a form of ethnographic art to seeing it as conceptual art and appreciating it for its cultural agency and contemporaneity

Making Memory Matter Lisa Saltzman, 2006-10-02 In an ancient account of painting s origins a woman traces the shadow of her departing lover on the wall in an act that anticipates future grief and commemoration Lisa Saltzman shows here that nearly two thousand years after this story was first told contemporary artists are returning to similar strategies of remembrance ranging from vaudevillian silhouettes and sepulchral casts to incinerated architectures and ghostly processions Exploring these artists work Saltzman demonstrates that their methods have now eclipsed painting and traditional sculpture as preeminent forms of visual representation She pays particular attention to the groundbreaking art of Krzysztof Wodiczko who is known for his projections of historical subjects Kara Walker who creates powerful silhouetted images of racial violence in American history and Rachel Whiteread whose work centers on making casts of empty interior spaces Each of the artists Saltzman discusses is struggling with the roles that history and memory have come to play in an age when any historical statement is subject to question and doubt In identifying this new and powerful movement she provides a framework for understanding the art of our time The Making of Modern Art Michael Peppiatt,2020-05-05 A new collection of key texts from a leading critic of modern art The critic Michael Peppiatt has been described by Art Newspaper as the best art writer of his generation For more than 50 years he has written trenchant and lively dispatches from the center of the international art world In this new volume of key works Peppiatt gives his unique insight into the making collection display and interpretation of modern art Covering the whole spectrum of modern art from pioneers such as Gustav Klimt and Chaim Soutine to collectors and dealers who played a pivotal role in the modern art world to artists such as Francis Bacon Bill Jacklin and Frank Auerbach with whom he had close relationships Peppiatt interweaves personal anecdote with critical judgment Each text is accompanied by a new short introduction written in Peppiatt s signature vivid and jargon free style in which he contextualizes his writings and reflects on significant moments in a lifetime of artistic engagement This volume will provide readers with an exhilarating tour of 20th century art A

Modern in the Making Austin Porter, Sandra Zalman, 2020-10-29

Today the Museum of Modern Art is widely recognized for establishing the canon of modern art yet in its early years the museum considered modern art part of a still unfolding experiment in contemporary visual production. By bracketing MoMA's early history from its later reputation, this book explores the ways the Museum acted as a laboratory to set an ambitious agenda for the exhibition of a multidisciplinary idea of modern art. Between its founding in 1929 and its 20th anniversary in 1949, MoMA created the first museum departments of architecture and design, film and photography in the country, marshaled modern art as a political tool, and brought consumer culture into a versatile yet institutional context. Encompassing 14 essays that investigate the diversity of modern art, this volume demonstrates how MoMA's programming shaped a version of modern art that was not elitist but fundamentally intertwined with all levels of cultural production.

Contemporary Art and the Church W. David O. Taylor, Taylor Worley, 2017-06-20

The church and the contemporary art world often find themselves in an uneasy relationship in which misunderstanding and mistrust abound. Drawn from the 2015 biennial CIVA conference, these reflections from theologians, pastors, and practicing artists imagine the possibility of a renewed and mutually fruitful relationship between contemporary art and the church.

Contemporary Art and Feminism Jacqueline Millner, Catriona Moore, 2021-07-05

This important new book examines contemporary art while foregrounding the key role feminism has played in enabling current modes of artmaking, spectatorship, and theoretical discourse. Contemporary Art and Feminism carefully outlines the links between feminist theory and practice of the past four decades of contemporary art and offers a radical re-reading of the contemporary movement. Rather than focus on filling in the gaps of accepted histories by adding the missing female queer First Nations and women artists of colour the authors seek to revise broader understandings of contemporary practice by providing case studies contextualised in a robust art historical and theoretical basis Readers are encouraged to see where art ideas come from and evaluate past and present art strategies What strategies materials or tropes are less relevant in today's networked event driven art economies What strategies and themes should we keep hold of or develop in new ways This is a significant and innovative intervention that is ideal for students in courses on contemporary art within fine arts visual studies history of art gender studies and queer studies

Art in the Making Glenn Adamson, 2016-06-21 The first book to address the significance of the materials and methods used to make contemporary artworks Today artists are able to create using multiple methods of production from painting to digital technologies to crowdsourcing some of which would have been unheard of just a few decades ago Yet even as our means of making art become more extraordinary and diverse they are almost never addressed in their specificity While critics and viewers tend to focus on the finished products we see in museums and galleries authors Glenn Adamson and Julia Bryan Wilson argue that the materials and processes behind the scenes used to make artworks are also vital to current considerations of authorship and to understanding the economic and social contexts from which art emerges This wide ranging exploration of different methods and media in art since the 1950s includes nine chapters that focus on individual processes of making Painting Woodworking Building Performing Tooling Up Cashing In Fabricating Digitizing and Crowdsourcing Detailed examples are interwoven with the discussion including visuals that reveal the intricacies of techniques and materials Artists featured include Ai Weiwei Alice Aycock Isa Genzken Los Carpinteros Paul Pfeiffer Doris Salcedo Santiago Sierra and Rachel Whiteread

Contemporary Art and the Home Colin Painter, 2020-05-26 The home is for many people the location for their most intense relationships with visual things Because they are constructed through the objects we choose domestic spaces are deeply revealing of a range of cultural issues How is our interpretation of an object affected by the domestic environment in which it is placed Why choose a stainless steel teapot over a leopard print one How do the images hanging on the walls of our homes arrive there In placing contemporary art in the context of the ordinary home this book embarks on the contentious topic of whether high art impacts on ordinary people What is the size and nature of the audience for contemporary art in Britain Do people really visit more art galleries than attend football matches What is the significance of the home in relation to such questions Indeed what constitutes art in the home This book carefully unpicks these questions as well as the troubled relationship between the home as a place of comfort and reassurance and the often unsettling and challenging images offered by contemporary art Within the art world the home has been addressed as a subject and even used as a temporary gallery and a space for installations and yet it is not common for works by today's avant garde artists to be conceived and marketed to participate in the domestic lives that most people live Handsomely illustrated this book unites contemporary art craft and design with sociology anthropology and cultural studies to provide an unusual and forthright addition to ongoing art and culture debates Some Ways of Making Nothing Curt Cloninger, 2021-02-18

What if all works of art were better understood as functioning apparatuses entangling their human audiences in experiences of becoming? What if certain works of art were even able to throw the brakes on becoming altogether, making nothings rather than somethings? What would be the ethical value of making nothing of stalling becoming, and how might such nothings even be made? Some Ways of Making Nothing: Apophatic Apparatuses in Contemporary Art borrows its understanding of apparatuses from quantum mechanics and the process philosophy of Alfred North Whitehead and its understanding of nothing from apophatic negative theology. It then proposes a new way of understanding art, applying this understanding to artworks by Arakawa and Gins, Robert Fludd, David Crawford, Joshua Citarella, William Pope L, and Haim Steinbach. Philosophy, physics, theology, and media theory are traversed and involved in order to understand art differently so that it might be made to matter more.

What Was Contemporary Art? Richard Meyer, 2013

Contemporary art in the early twenty-first century is often discussed as though it were a radically new phenomenon unmoored from history. Yet all works of art were once contemporary to the artist and culture that produced them. In What Was Contemporary Art? Richard Meyer reclaims the contemporary from historical amnesia, exploring episodes in the study, exhibition, and reception of early twentieth-century art and visual culture.
