Making Coordination Work:

Making Inclusion Work Saija Katila, Susan Merilinen, Janne Tienari, 2010-01-01 Full of insights for any organizational scholar still hoping to make a difference for a better world this greatly illuminating book examines what it takes to intervene critically but positively in the mainstream of a globalized academic life and be able to survive such interventions The contributors offer tried and tested approaches neither aggressive nor confrontational allowing them to bring inclusion and multiplicity to their teaching and their research while carving spaces for action and resistance to hegemonic academic practices An innovative must read and much needed text Marta B Cal s University of Massachusetts US This important book should be required reading for all management educators Starting from an incisive and timely critique of the increasingly standardized global academic system the editors set out to offer an inclusive vision of what education can be A rich array of contributors from diverse cultures and perspectives offer experiences and ideas about the practice of inclusive education and perhaps more importantly offer some hope that the logic of standardization is not immutable Christopher Grey University of Warwick UK This innovative book explores how inclusion can be enhanced in academia by considering the strategic work of expert academics from around the world It offers a new look at academic work through the accounts of passionate practitioners who have each in their own ways made inclusion work Making Inclusion Work exemplifies how academics can meaningfully engage in inclusive practices in their everyday work Scholars around the world share their experiences of intervening in curriculum development teaching and research and reflect on practices that have worked in local contexts The authors discuss the process for reaching greater inclusion which begins with an honest appraisal of current local practice Reflective developers in academic institutions and educational administration will appreciate the unique insights provided by this book Students interested in diversity and inclusion academic practices and autobiographical action oriented research will also find the contributions invaluable

Making Devolution Work for Service Delivery in Kenya

Abdu Muwonge, Muratha Kinuthia, Timothy Stephen Williamson, Christine Owuor, 2022-02-23 Kenya adopted a new Constitution and began the process of devolution in 2010 The new Constitution was the institutional response to longstanding grievances over the centralization of state powers and public sector resources and regional disparities in service delivery and development outcomes This radical restructuring of the Kenyan state has three main objectives decentralizing political power public sector functions and public finances ensuring a more equitable spatial distribution of resources between regions and promoting more accountable participatory and responsive government at all levels The first elections under the new Constitution were held in 2013 Alongside the national government 47 new county governments were established Each county government is made up of a County Executive headed by an elected Governor and works under the oversight of an elected County Assembly Seven years after the devolution train left the station this report takes stock of how devolution has affected the delivery of devolved basic services to Kenyan citizens Whereas devolution was driven by political reform the ensuing institutions and systems were expected to deliver greater socioeconomic equity through devolved service delivery The Making Devolution Work for Service Delivery MDWSD study is the first major assessment of Kenya's devolution reform The study was a jointly coordinated effort by the Government of Kenya and the World Bank The study provides key messages with respect to what is working what is not working and what could work better to enhance service delivery based on the currently available data It provides an independent assessment of service delivery performance in five sectors namely health education agriculture urban and water services and includes an in depth review of the main pillars of devolved service delivery namely public financial management intergovernmental finance human resource management politics and accountability Crisis

Management in China Lan Xue,Qiang Zhang,Kaibin Zhong,2022-05-06 This book describes various crisis situations in transitional China and by analyzing the unique characteristics and backgrounds of emergencies and crisis it argues that crisis management has become a major challenge for the Chinese governments It then discusses the chronology of crisis organizational behaviors and the decision making processes to construct a modern crisis management system in detail to shed light on the creation of a strategic design and institutional framework of crisis management in China In so doing it provides not only insights into the dynamics of crisis decision making and communication but also solutions for possible problems specific to a transitional political regime in China Decision Making in Complex Environments Jan

Noyes,2017-09-18 Many complex systems in civil and military operations are highly automated with the intention of supporting human performance in difficult cognitive tasks The complex systems can involve teams or individuals working on real time supervisory control command or information management tasks where a number of constraints must be satisfied Decision Making in Complex Environments addresses the role of the human the technology and the processes in complex socio technical and technological systems The aim of the book is to apply a multi disciplinary perspective to the examination of the human factors in complex decision making It contains more than 30 contributions on key subjects such as military human factors team decision making issues situation awareness and technology support In addition to the major application area of military human factors there are chapters on business medical governmental and aeronautical decision making The book provides a unique blend of expertise from psychology human factors industry commercial environments the military computer science organizational psychology and training that should be valuable to academics and practitioners alike

The Making of an Expert Engineer James Trevelyan,2014-09-22 This book sets out the principles of engineering practice knowledge that has come to light through more than a decade of research by the author and his students studying engineers at work Until now this knowledge has been almost entirely unwritten passed on invisibly from one generation of engineers to the next what engineers refer to as experience This is a book for all engineers It distils the knowledge of many experts in one volume The book will help engineers enjoy a more satisfying and rewarding career and provide more valuable results for their employers and clients The book focuses on issues often seen as non technical in the world of engineering yet it shows how these issues are thoroughly technical Engineering firms traditionally have sought expert advice on these aspects from management schools often regarding these aspects of engineering practice as something to do with psychology or organisational behaviour The results are normally disappointing because management schools and psychologists have limited insight and understanding of the technical dimensions in engineering work Little if any of the material in this book can be obtained from management texts or courses Management schools have avoided the technical dimension of workplace practices and that is precisely what characterises engineering practice The technical dimension infuses almost every aspect of an engineer s working day and cannot be avoided That s why this book is so necessary there has not yet been any authoritative source or guidance to bridge the gap between inanimate technical issues and organisational behaviour This book fills this gap in our knowledge is based on rigorous research and yet is written in a style which is accessible for a wide audience

Decision Making in Aviation Don Harris,2017-07-05 Decision making pervades every aspect of life people make hundreds of decisions every day The vast majority of these are trivial and without a right or wrong answer In some respects there is also nothing extraordinary about pilot decision making It is only the setting that is different the underlying cognitive processes are just the same However it is the context and the consequences of a poor decision which serve to differentiate aeronautical decision making Decisions on the flight deck are often made with incomplete information and while under time pressure The implications for inadequate performance is much more serious than in many other professions Poor decisions are implicated in over half of all aviation accidents This volume contains key papers published over the last 25 years providing an overview of the major paradigms by which aeronautical decision making has been investigated Furthermore decision making does not occur in isolation It is a joint function of the flight tasks knowledge equipment on the flight deck and other stressors In this volume of collected papers works from leading authors in the field consider all these aspects of aeronautical decision making

Working in Restructured Workplaces Daniel B. Cornfield,Karen Campbell,Holly McCammon,2001-07-27 What are the contemporary trends in workplace restructuring and the sociological impact on workers lives Around what concepts will work be organized and groups and individuals motivated in their work into the new century To give you definition and answers to these contemporary questions the editors of the sociological quarterly Work and Occupations assembled Working in Restructured Workplaces It addresses contradictory influences in contemporary workplace restructuring its impact on workers lives and the direction and nature of future changes in the workplace This authentic collection of sociological thought and research consists of previous works in Work and Occupations and some commissioned specifically for this book to focus on the nature causes and consequences of workplace restructuring The editors introduce a new concept of workplace restructuring to broaden your perspective and then assess implications for workers and their lives The chapters address four major themes Reconfiguring workplace status hierarchies Casualization of employment relationships Restructuring and worker marginalization Comparative labor responses to global restructuring The last two chapters chart new research agendas on the boundaries and durability of workplace restructuring

The Standardized Coordination Task Assessment (SCTA) Oemig, Christoph, 2023-02-06 Today s modern world often affords individuals to form teams to work together towards shared goals and objectives The need for tools to digitally support collaboration distributed in time and space increased over the past decades significantly with a recent sudden increase due to the Corona pandemic crisis The research goal in the field of computer supported cooperative work CSCW has always been to design systems that facilitate collaboration based on the understanding of groups and social interaction especially on how people coordinate their work In the real world coordination happens in a seemingly seamless and effortless way However the resulting mechanisms translated to digital systems often provide a clumsy and awkward experience as users lack the means for subtle and rich interaction beyond the spoken word After numerous failures revealing system deficits and a large number of ethnographic studies researchers identified awareness to become the support mechanism for effortless coordination in digital systems Yet instead of addressing the problem using appropriate methods and tools researchers found themselves trapped in circular reformulations of concepts and evaluations of prototypes on the basis of disciplinary preferences ignoring the basic characteristics of the objects of interest Even worse the most basic design tensions stemming from a use inspired perspective have not been resolved indicating a substantial problem with the evaluation of awareness and coordination support Effortless coordination cannot be reached without being measured thus not without an appropriate measurement approach This thesis introduces an appropriate assessment method for the efforts related to awareness and coordination support in cooperative settings the STANDARDIZED COORDINATION TASK ASSESSMENT SCTA Applying a use inspired basic research driven approach it creates and leverages an effort based operationalization of the two constructs derived from literature and especially from a cognitive perspective A highly automated and scalable framework delivers quantitative results to be used for hypotheses validations that allows a benchmark based approximation of effortless coordination At the same time the method opens the door for a lot more use inspired basic research to resolve many of the still open design tensions and challenges

Decision Making and Problem Solving in Organizations: Assessing and Expanding the Carnegie Perspective Daniella Laureiro Martinez, Pino Audia, Daniel A. Newark, 2024-09-04

Within the broader study of decision making the Carnegie perspective occupies a unique place Initially developed by pioneering scholars such as Herbert Simon and James March it views organizational decisions as resulting from the combined influences of a psychological processes of attention allocation interpretation of experience and motivated search and b features of the organizational context that direct attention influence preferences contend with ambiguity contain conflict and divide labor Despite its unique strengths and a considerable body of work see below some foundational references research that adopts the Carnegie perspective is still relatively unknown outside the field of organization studies As James March noted Carnegie has been primarily an importer of ideas rather than an exporter The goal of this research topic is to facilitate dialogue and integration between this well established Carnegie perspective and other lines of inquiry into the study of decision making and problem solving We are interested in bringing to the fore what is distinctive in the accumulated body of evidence produced by the Carnegie perspective and highlighting similarities differences and potential points of connection with other research done on similar topics To achieve this goal we hope that the front end of each submission will cover the following four components
