The renewal of post-war Manchester Richard Brook,2025-01-28 A compelling account of the project to transform post war Manchester revealing the clash between utopian vision and compromised reality Urban renewal in Britain was thrilling in its vision yet partial and incomplete in its implementation For the first time this deep study of a renewal city reveals the complex networks of actors behind physical change and stagnation in post war Britain Using the nested scales of region city and case study sites the book explores the relationships between Whitehall legislation its interpretation by local government planning officers and the on the ground impact through urban architectural projects Each chapter highlights the connections between policy goals global narratives and the design and construction of cities The Cold War decolonialisation rising consumerism and the oil crisis all feature in a richly illustrated account of architecture and planning in post war Manchester

"Art in the North of England, 1979?008 " GabrielN. Gee,2017-07-05 Based on rare archival material and numerous interviews with practitioners Art in the North of England 1979 2008 analyses the relation between political and economic changes stemming from the 1980s and artistic developments in the principal cities of the North of England in the late 20th century Looking in particular at the art scenes of Liverpool Manchester Leeds Sheffield and Newcastle Gabriel Gee unveils a set of powerful aesthetic reactions to industrial change and urban reconstruction during this period on the part of artists including John Davies Pete Clarke the Amber collective Richard Wilson Karen Watson Nick Crowe Ian Rawlinson John Kippin and the contribution of organisations such as Projects UK Locus East Street Arts the Henry Moore Sculpture Trust and the Bluecoat Gallery in Liverpool While the geographical focus of this study is highly specific a key concern throughout is the relationship between regional national and international artistic practices and identities Of interest to all scholars and students concerned with the developments of British art in the second half of the 20th century the study is also of direct pertinence to observers of global narratives which are here described and analysed through the concept of trans industriality

Realising the city Camilla Lewis,Jessica Symons,2017-12-29 This book offers an inside view of Manchester England demonstrating the complexity of urban dynamics from a range of ethnographic vantage points including the city's football clubs the airport housing estates the Gay Village and the city's annual civic parade These perspectives help trace the multiple dynamics of a vibrant and rapidly changing post industrial city showing how people's decisions and actions co produce the city and give it shape Using the metaphor of the kaleidoscope with each turn of the wheel another aspect of the city is materialised In doing so the contributors complicate the dominant narrative of Manchester's renaissance as driven by the city administration's entrepreneurial ethos By taking up civic space and resources with council led cultural representations focused largely on generating financial income for the city three decades of command and control politics has inhibited grassroots and spontaneous forms of emergent publics Frommer's? European Public Leadership in Crisis? John Diamond, Joyce Liddle, 2014-10-27 This volume questions the changing dynamics of public leadership across different European settings Chapters highlight emergent discussions on the strengths and weaknesses of current knowledge Authors investigate the tensions between Anglo American and economic focused models of leadership that may challenge received wisdom Lowry's City Judith Sandling, Michael Leber, 2000 Photographer Len Grant has visited each location and photographed its current appearance revealing both the sites that remain redolent of Lowry's painting and those that have changed beyond recognition BOOK JACKET The Bus Daniel Meadows, 2011-12-31 The Free Photographic Omnibus 1973 2001 In July 1973 21 year old Daniel Meadows fresh out of art school bought a double decker bus for 360 and set off round England in search of ordinary people to photograph In the course of a 14 month journey he offered free portrait sessions in 22 different towns developing the black and white prints in a darkroom he had contrived inside the bus in which he also lived He photographed a total of 958 people alone or in groups the majority of whom remained anonymous and collected their free portraits the following day A quarter of a century later Meadows came across the bus photographs in his archive and was struck by how fresh they were After they were exhibited and appeared in a magazine he began to wonder what had happened to the people in the pictures With the help of the local press in Barrow in Furness Hartlepool and Southampton he went in search of them Many could not be found others had died but a number of people turned up to be re photographed The juxtaposition of their past and present selves in this astonishing adventure in documentary makes for a powerful pictorial history of the changing face of England the vagaries of fashion and the ravages of time Meadows interviews the sitters ordinary people from varied walks of life who talk candidly about their lives their friends their loves their families and what they feel the future holds providing a moving commentary to Meadows's own evocative journey through time Ghost Milk Iain Sinclair, 2012-07-17 From an astonishingly original and entertaining writer Michael Dirda The Washington Post and our greatest guide to London The Spectator an extraordinary book about a disappearing city The Olympics the story goes have transformed London into a gleaming wholly modern city And East London Olympic headquarters is the city's new jewel provider of unlimited opportunities and better tomorrows The grime and poverty have been scrubbed away and huge stadiums and grand public sculptures have taken their place The writer Iain Sinclair has lived in East London for four decades and in Ghost Milk he tells a very different story about his home that of a neighborhood turned upside down of stolen history Long beloved parks have vanished police raids can occur at any time and high security exclusion zones enforced by armed guards and hidden cameras have steamrolled East London s open streets and public spaces To prepare for the most public of events everything has been privatized A call to arms against the politicians and public figures who have so doggedly preached the gospel of the Olympics Ghost Milk is also a brilliant reflection on a changing landscape and Sinclair s most personal book yet In an attempt to understand what has happened to his beloved city Sinclair travels farther afield he walks along the Thames from the North Sea to Oxford he rides the bus across northern England he visits Athens and Berlin Olympic sites of the recent and distant past Elegiac intimate and audacious Ghost Milk is at once a powerful chronicle of memory and loss in the tradition of W G Sebald and Roberto Bola o and a passionate interrogation of our embrace of progress at any cost Roads and Road Construction ,1972
