Saunders, Archer M. Huntington Art Gallery, 1988 Information on the works and artists represented in the collection Arts in New Zealand, 1928 High Country Woman Iris Scott, 2012-04-13 A special book about a unique high country farmer and her historic sheep station New Zealand's high country farmers are a special breed They farm in tough terrain at high altitudes in areas where extreme climate puts both man and animal to the test When she was widowed with three children in 1992 Iris Scott had to call on all her farming skill and inner strength to carry on as the runholder of the 150 year old 18 000 hectare Rees Valley Station at the head of Lake Wakatipu near Glenorchy Not only that she had to run the station on her own and keep up her veterinary practice High Country Woman is the engaging story of Iris Scott's love of our high country and her determination to farm it successfully while upholding high conservation and land guardianship values The book also covers the fascinating history of the area long known to locals as The Head of the Lake the focus of William Rees' great sheep run established not long after he and Nicolas von Tunzelman became two of the earliest Europeans to travel into the area in an epic exploration feat in 1860 Whitaker's Cumulative Book List, 1981 Sharing Spaces Robert Sweeny, 2020-03-24 Sherry Olson has almost always worked with others inspiring them to ground their research in an empathetic understanding of the human condition Through this team work she has made signal contributions in fields as diverse as environmental social urban and women's histories as well as public health demography and geographic information systems GIS In this volume a critical assessment of her life's work is complemented by original pieces advancing our knowledge in these remarkably diverse fields From the environmental impact of colonial settlement in New Zealand to racial segregation in Chicago from the demography of the Mauricie and marriage patterns of Quebec City to the inns gay spaces and landladies of Montreal this collection demonstrates the complexity of sharing space in the past and its centrality to any critical understandings of the global challenges we face in the present Published in English Art Book Review, 1982 New Zealand James Wilmot Rowe, Margaret A. Art and Architecture Division, 1982 Grazing in Future Multi-scapes: From Thoughtscapes to Landscapes, Creating Health from the Ground Up Pablo Gregorini, Iain James Gordon, Carol Kerven, Fred Provenza, 2022-09-27 This Research Topic is hosted in partnership with the Grazing in Future Multi Scapes international workshop The workshop will be held online 30th May 5th June 2021 Throughout different landscapes of the world grazing herbivores fulfill essential roles in ecology agriculture economies and cultures including families farms and communities Not only do livestock provide food and wealth they also deliver ecosystem services through the roles they play in environmental composition structure and dynamics Grazing as a descriptive adjective locates herbivores within a spatial and temporal pastoral context where they naturally graze or are grazed by farmers ranchers shepherds etc In many cases however pastoralism with the single objective of maximizing animal production and or profit has transformed landscapes diminishing biodiversity reducing water and air quality accelerating loss of soil and plant biomass and displacing indigenous animals and people These degenerative landscape transformations have jeopardized present and future ecosystem and societal services breaking the natural integration of land water air health society and culture Land users policy makers and societies are calling for alternative approaches to pastoral systems a call for diversified adaptive and integrative agro ecological and food pastoral systems designs that operate across multiple scales and scapes e g thought social land food health wild scapes simultaneously There needs to be a paradigm shift in pastoral production systems and how grazing herbivores are managed grazed within them derived initially from a change in perception of how they provide wealth The thoughtsapes will include paradigm shifts where grazers move away from the actual archetype of pastoralism future landscapes are re imagined and regenerative and sustainable management paradigms are put in place to achieve these visions From this will come a change in collective thinking of how communities and cultures socialscapes perceive their relationships with pastoral lands The landscapes are the biotic and abiotic four dimensional domains or environments in need of nurture Landscapes are the tables where humans and herbivores gain their nourishment i e foodscapes Foodscapes and dietary perceptions dictate actions and reactions that are changing as developed countries grapple with diseases related to obesity and people starve in developing countries Societies are demanding healthscapes and nutraceutical foodscapes and paradoxically some are moving away from animal products While indigenous species of animals including humans wildscapes have been displaced from many of their lands by monotonic pastoralism multifunctional pastoral systems can be designed in view of dynamic multi scapes of the future The purpose of this Research Topic is to influence future mental and practical models of pastoralism in continually evolving multi scapes We seek a collection of papers that will cultivate such a shift in thinking towards future models of sustainable multipurpose pastoralism The contributions will be synthesized to establish how multifunctional pastoral systems can be re imagined and then designed in view of the integrative dynamics of sustainable future multi scapes

List of New Zealand Books in Print ,1981 New Zealand Books in Print ,1981 Subject Catalog Library of Congress, The Art Sales Index ,1989 Parliamentary Debates New Zealand. Parliament,1927 Home in the Howling Wilderness Peter Holland,2013-11-01 During the 19th century New Zealand s South Island underwent an environmental transformation at the hands of European settlers They diverted streams and drained marshes burned native vegetation and planted hedges and grasses stocked farms with sheep and cattle and poured on fertilizer Through various letter books ledgers diaries and journals this book reveals how the first European settlers learned about their new environment talking to Maori and other Pakeha observing weather patterns and the shifting populations of rabbits reading newspapers and going to lectures at the Mechanics Institute As the New Zealand environment threw up surprise after surprise the settlers who succeeded in farming were those who listened closely to the environment This rich and detailed contribution to environmental history and the literature of British colonial history and farming concludes contrary to the assertions of some North American environmental historians that the first generation of European settlers in New Zealand were by no means unthinking agents of change
