Raising Money For Education A Guide To The Property Tax:

Raising Money for Education David H. Monk, Brian O. Brent, 1997-09-09 How can we create a funding system that's fair to every school and every taxpayer Or is this an impossible goal That's the issue Monk and Brent raise The authors offer an overview of the current trends in school funding sources They explain how the property tax system works They examine the elements necessary to fair taxation and explore tax reform options that could bring in more dollars for education Consider these pertinent questions about any proposed future public education tax Is the tax fair Does it generate money efficiently Is there a potential growth of the tax base Will this tax be a stable source of revenue for schools How hard will it be to administer this tax Will the public comply with this tax The authors offer real insights into the issues surrounding how we get and how we spend the money for our schools The book also looks at alternative ways to raise funds such as taxes based on income sales and lotteries It delivers thoughtful well researched information for anyone who's interested in the future of public education and how we will fund it

Cutting Costs and Generating Revenues in Education Tim L. Adsit, George R. Murdock, 2011 At no time in the history of public education has there been such a dramatic discrepancy between accelerated standards and expectations and adequate funding for our schools Much has been written about how to achieve new expectations in the realm of student achievement Much has also been written about the need for accountability and the restructuring of how education dollars are spent Unfortunately most of the input regarding the need for belt tightening is unaccompanied by any tangible solutions or suggestions and results only in hollow rhetoric or convenient political sound bytes Tim Adsit and George Murdock's journey into meaningful avenues for cost savings in public education is clearly an exception In this book readers will find many practical ideas for saving money which can be readily implemented

Selected Papers in School Finance, 2000 Handbook of Research on Transforming Government, Nonprofits, and Healthcare in a Post-Pandemic Era Howard, Joanne E., 2022-10-28 The COVID 19 pandemic has offered the world and its governments many challenges in how they will conduct their responsibilities and best assist their citizens The COVID 19 pandemic not only brought a global health emergency but also helped to shed light on systemic inequalities caused conspiracy and distrust within the masses and exhausted global health services The government and nonprofit sector including healthcare education and social service organizations will have to utilize the best practices greater collaboration and joint venturing to survive post pandemic The Handbook of Research on Transforming Government Nonprofits and Healthcare in a Post Pandemic Era serves as a resource for those in education healthcare government social service and other nonprofit organizations who wish to advance their missions in an age of uncertainty It further discusses how democracy can continue to advance the world its countries and the way that we see one another Covering topics such as BIPOC academic leaders economic development and health science education this premier reference source is an essential resource for government officials public administration community leaders advocacy networks social service organizations
