Making Life Work:

Making Life Work Barney Hamady, 2010-02 It s no secret that on so many levels our world is getting worked And so are we So who or what is working you difficult circumstances difficult people or some unbreakable bad habit Are you getting worked by fear poor health family or financial problems The fact is everyone gets worked And if you re not getting worked right now it s a good bet someone you love is Feel like blaming your surroundings In the beginning God placed Adam and Eve in a beautiful garden and told them to work it Instead in their perfect world they got worked by the serpent by the Garden and yes even by their own choices Making Life Work Bill Hybels, Lynne Hybels, 1998-09-14 Bill Hybels points us to the wisdom of the book of Proverbs This practical guidebook is ideal for anyone who wants to live the Christian life with wisdom and wholeness

Making Life Work Jack Levinson, Group homes emerged in the United States in the 1970s as a solution to the failure of the large institutions that for more than a century segregated and abused people with intellectual and developmental disabilities Yet community services have not for the most part delivered on the promises of rights self determination and integration made more than thirty years ago and critics predominantly portray group homes simply as settings of social control Making Life Work is a clear eyed ethnography of a New York City group home based on more than a year of field research Jack Levinson shows how the group home needs the knowledgeable and voluntary participation of residents and counselors alike The group home is an actual workplace for counselors but for residents group home work involves working on themselves to become more autonomous Levinson reveals that rather than being seen as the antithesis of freedom the group home must be understood as representing the fundamental dilemmas between authority and the individual in contemporary liberal societies No longer inmates but citizens these people who are presumed rightly or wrongly to lack the capacity for freedom actually govern themselves Levinson a former group home counselor demonstrates that the group home depends on the very capacities for independence and individuality it cultivates in the residents At the same time he addresses the complex relationship between services and social control in the history of intellectual and developmental disabilities interrogating broader social service policies and the role of clinical practice in the community Making Life

The Genocide Paradox Anne O'Byrne,2023-04-25 We regard genocidal violence as worse than other sorts of violence perhaps the worst there is But what does this say about what we value about the genos on which nations are said to be founded This is an urgent question for democracies We value the mode of being in time that anchors us in the past and in the future that is among those who have been and those who might yet be If the genos is a group constituted by this generational time the demos was invented as the anti genos with no criterion of inheritance and instead only occurring according to the interruption of revolutionary time Insofar as the demos persists we experience it as a sort of genos for example the democratic nation state As a result democracies are caught in a bind disavowing genos thinking while cherishing the temporal forms of genos life they abhor genocidal violence but perpetuate and disguise it This is the genocide paradox O Byrne traces the problem through our commitment to existential categories from Aristotle to the life taxonomies of Linneaus and Darwin through anthropologies of kinship that tether us to the social world the shortfalls of ethical theory into the history of democratic theory and the defensive tactics used by real existing democracies when it came to defining genocide for the U N Genocide Convention She argues that although models of democracy all make room for contestation they fail to grasp its generational structure or acknowledge the generational content of our lives They cultivate ignorance of the contingency and precarity of the relations that create and sustain us The danger of doing so is immense It leaves us unprepared for confronting democracy s deficits and its struggle to entertain multiple temporalities In addition it leaves us unprepared for understanding the relation between demos and violence and the ability of good enough citizens to tolerate the slow burning destruction of marginalized peoples What will it take to envision an anti genocidal democracy Making
