Imaginary Futures Richard Barbrook, 2007-04-20 This book is a history of the future It shows how our contemporary understanding of the Internet is shaped by visions of the future that were put together in the 1950s and 1960s At the height of the Cold War the Americans invented the only working model of communism in human history the Internet Yet for all of its libertarian potential the goal of this hi tech project was geopolitical dominance the ownership of time was control over the destiny of humanity The potentially subversive theory of cybernetics was transformed into the military friendly project of artificial intelligence Capitalist growth became the fastest route to the information society The rest of the world was expected to follow America's path into the networked future Today we're still being told that the Internet is creating the information society and that America today is everywhere else tomorrow Thankfully at the beginning of the twenty first century the DIY ethic of the Internet shows that people can resist these authoritarian prophecies by shaping information technologies in their own interest Ultimately if we don't want the future to be what it used to be we must invent our own improved and truly revolutionary future
