Fuentes Carlos Monsiv is and Elena Poniatowska are also esteemed as analyzers of society critics of public officials and both molders and mirrors of public opinion This book offers a reading of Mexican current affairs from 1968 to 1995 through a comparative study of these four writers political work In hundreds of articles essays and comments published in the Mexican press Exc lsior La Cultura en M xico La Jornada Proceso and many other publications these writers tackled current affairs as events unfolded Yet the lack of detailed examination of their contributions in the press has left a gap in our understanding of their vital role in raising awareness of national concerns as they were happening Claire Brewster has mined direct quotations from a host of publications to illustrate the techniques that they used in combating government and editorial restraints Brewster first addresses the Student Movement of 1968 the violent suppression of which was a watershed in the relationship between the Mexican government and people and illustrates the ways in which the student crisis affected the writers relationships with presidents Luis Echeverr a Alvarez and Jos L pez Portillo She next considers the profound social and political repercussions of the 1985 earthquake as described by Poniatowska and Monsiv is and the consequent emergence of Mexican civil society She then outlines Paz s and Monsiv is s vociferous responses to the 1988 presidential election campaigns and their highly contentious result and lastly she examines the Chiapas rebellion from January to July 1994 The eloquent Zapatista spokesman Subcomandante Marcos challenged Mexican writers to a duel of words and Brewster analyzes the ways in which the four writers took up the gauntlet and in so doing reveals the development of their political thoughts and their relationships with the Mexican people and the federal government The work of these four authors charts an important historical era and a close examination of their essays reveals their maturation as writers and provides an understanding of the development of Mexican society By bringing their opinions and attitudes to light Brewster unearths a rich lode of insight into the inner workings of Mexican intellectuals and invites observers of contemporary Mexico to reconsider their role in reflecting social change way of understanding contemporary Mexican history politics and culture Modern Mexican Culture Stuart A. Day, 2017-10-31 Diego Rivera's mural Sueño de una tarde dominical en la Alameda Central is a fascinating critique of high society and wealthy elites. It also offers a multitude of other stories that intersect in a web of historical memory. The massive mural the histories it depicts and even its physical journey after a devastating earthquake hold answers to many of the questions readers might ask about Mexico. It also demonstrates how cultural artifacts explain the world around us and expose intersections and entanglements of specific power dynamics. Modern Mexican Culture offers an enriching and deep investigation of key ideas and events in Mexico through an examination of art and history. Experts in Mexican cultural and literary studies cover the 1968 Tlatelolco student massacre, the figure of the charro cowboy, the construct of the postrevolutionary teacher, the class-correlated construct of gente decente, a borderlands response to the rhetoric of dominance and the democratic transition in late twentieth-century Mexico. Each essay is a rich reading experience providing teachers and students alike with a deep and well-contextualized sense of Mexican life, culture, and politics. Each chapter provides a historical grounding of its topic followed by a multifaceted analysis through various artistic representations that provide a more complex view of Mexico. Chapters are accompanied by lists of readily available murals, political cartoons, plays, pamphlets, posters, films, poems, novels, and other cultural products. Modern Mexican Culture demonstrates the power of art and artists to question, explain, and influence the world around us. Contributors: Rafael Acosta Morales, Jacqueline E.
