Midwives Coping with Loss and Grief Doreen Kenworthy, Mavis Kirkham, 2019-01-22 The experience of stillbirth and other losses in pregnancy at what is usually a time of great joy is tragic for everyone involved including midwifery professionals Although research increasingly shows how profound the effects of loss can be few studies have explored the effects of pregnancy loss which often leads to other personal and professional traumas such as loss of autonomy or a workplace on midwives This in depth investigation uses a phenomenological approach to capture midwives experiences of loss and grief in their own words and encompasses both pregnancy loss and wider professional and personal issues It then makes recommendations to enhance midwives resilience and ability to cope appropriately whilst giving maximum support to their clients Reflections on the emerging implications for midwifery education and practice further broaden the scope of the analysis The insights in this book will be of great use to midwifery managers and supervisors They will also help midwives to nurture themselves their colleagues and their clients at a time when pressures on the service can leave support lacking The devastating experience of losing a baby for women and their families is something that as midwives we strive to understand in order to provide appropriate practical and emotional support Doreen and Mavis encourage us to consider how we are affected by the grief of others at a deeply personal level Ultimately the message in this book is one of hope through reflection and the sharing of experiences midwives who have been with women whose babies have died can regain their personal strength and learn to re shape memories in ways that contribute to personal growth and understanding A From the Foreword by Nicky Leap

Loss and Bereavement in Childbearing Rosemary Mander,2007-04-11 This new edition of a groundbreaking work reflects important developments in the general understanding of and research into loss and death Providing a wealth of information for both experienced and inexperienced midwives the book covers topics including perinatal and neonatal loss miscarriage and termination for foetal abnormality death of a mother in third world and first world settings difficulties encountered during future childbearing Combining an authoritative research based orientation with a critical yet human approach to this sensitive topic the book aids midwives in providing effective care and support to those who experience loss The author draws on relevant and largely research based literature from a wide range of related disciplines to inform this area which is only now receiving the attention it has long deserved

Bereavement, Loss and Learning Disabilities Robin Grey,2010 Losing a loved one and coping with the subsequent adjustments that follow are a difficult fact of life but people with learning disabilities face specific difficulties in processing and managing these changes Adopting an integrative approach this book acknowledges the importance of helping relationships in supporting this vulnerable group through periods of loss and bereavement The author explains how to engage the person with a learning disability in talking therapy by creating an open dialogue Common signs of stress factors to consider in assessing risk and advice on how best to approach difficult subjects are presented The role of supervision in counselling and issues surrounding terminal illness are also discussed and practical solutions offered Professionals working in the field of learning disabilities such as counsellors therapists carers and health and social care students will find this informed guide beneficial in communicating and supporting people with learning disabilities

Ward-based Critical Care: a guide for health professionals Ann M Price, Dr Sally A Smith, Dr Alistair Challiner, 2016-01-01 Like the original Ward based Critical Care this second edition aims to guide practitioners in the initial management of critically ill adult patients within the ward setting It should be of value to a wide range of healthcare professionals including junior doctors nurses physiotherapists and students It will also be relevant to practitioners who are moving into any setting that cares for acutely ill patients This volume has been slightly reorganised since the first edition to ensure that practical aspects are incorporated within the relevant sections The book is still structured around the ABCDE approach to assessing and managing patients as this is promoted in critical care and resuscitation care training The focus on practical examples and hot tips to aid memory of key points continues All the chapters have been updated with the most recent guidance as available at the time of writing This has meant that some chapters have required major revisions while others have remained relatively unchanged Some new chapters have been included such as the ones on anaphylactic shock patient safety dealing with pregnant women in the ward setting and massive blood transfusion In addition each section now starts with a chapter giving an overview of the A E approach in order to provide more detail about assessing and managing those aspects of patient care This informative book contains many useful features such as clinical scenarios hot tips and practical skills and the text is richly illustrated and cross referenced throughout Managing Death: International Perspectives

Gerry R. Cox, Neil Thompson, 2022-09-23 There is a huge collection of literature relating to death grief and bereavement but one aspect that has received relatively little attention is that of death management practices by which we mean the various ways of managing the circumstances of the death ritually acknowledging it and sensitively handling the disposal of the body and so on While ways of disposing of the dead and grief practices have been thought of as based upon individual responses grief and bereavement practices can be understood not only by looking at psychological and medical frameworks but also by examining people as part of a complex structure of social arrangements institutions structures and patterns By examining the social and institutional structures of various groups around the world we provide an international framework for a better understanding of the study of dying death and bereavement This book highlights the significance of these matters in an international context reflecting common themes and important differences It will highlight common themes across diverse cultures and national settings while also drawing attention to significant differences If professionals working in the field of death grief and bereavement are not aware of such differences their practice can be insensitive discriminatory and therefore ineffective if not actually counterproductive As such the book provides an invaluable resource for a wide variety of professionals and students including medicine and health care social work counselling and psychotherapy chaplaincy and pastoral work and of course those involved in the funeral industry In addition students of sociology psychology and anthropology will find much of interest here in terms of appreciating the diversity of ways in which funerals and other death management practices are managed and integrated into social life Management in Health Care Neil Wheeler, Diana Grice, 2000 The text integrates necessary theory and practice of management in a health care setting in an efficient and accessible form It develops management skills to enable the student and new practitioner to enter practice with a high level of proficiency The book provides essential background relating to the NHS as a managed organisation It addresses professional issues in health care with particular reference to patient confidentiality and the management of information The text is supported by Case Studies and Reading Lists throughout Memory and the Management of Change Emily Keightley, Michael Pickering, 2017-11-09 This book shows how the mnemonic imagination creatively uses the resources of photography and music in the registering and management of change Looking in particular at major transitions and turning points it covers key issues of identity for the remembering subject and key scales of remembering in vernacular milieus The book explores the connections of memory and remembering with transformations in intimate relationships migration and spatial mobilities loss and bereavement involving loved ones or those with whom close affinities are felt resulting in a volume that helps fill the gap in memory studies caused by lack of sustained ethnographic work Drawing on extensive fieldwork on the processes and practices of remembering in everyday life it demonstrates how the mnemonic imagination is central to the management of change and transition and how its cross temporal interanimations of past present and future are fostered and facilitated by the visual and sonic resources of photography and recorded music

Psychiatric and Mental Health Nursing Phil Barker, 2017-07-20 The concept of the craft of caring dictates that the basis of good nursing practice is a combination of both art and science encouraging nurses to take a holistic approach to the practice of psychiatric and mental health nursing Supported by relevant theory research policy and philosophy this volume reflects current developments in nursing practice and the understanding of mental health disorders The book includes case studies of patients with anxiety schizophrenia and bipolar disorder as well as victims of sexual abuse those with an eating disorder homeless patients and those with dementia and autism

Good Practices in Palliative Care David Oliviere, Rosalind Hargreaves, 2017-03-02 A team of two practitioners in psychosocial palliative care and an academic have drawn together the work of twenty eight highly experienced practitioners Good Practices in Palliative Care a psychosocial perspective provides detailed descriptions of innovative practices and how they were developed together with clear practice principles This unique contribution to palliative care literature is suitable for a wide range of health and social care professionals at student and experienced levels and is written in a user friendly style
