Lost Universe 2 Pb 2003:

Relativity, Gravitation and Cosmology Ta-Pei Cheng, 2009-11-07 Einstein's general theory of relativity is introduced in this advanced undergraduate and beginning graduate level textbook. Topics include special relativity in the formalism of Minkowski's four dimensional space time, the principle of equivalence, Riemannian geometry and tensor analysis, Einstein field equation as well as many modern cosmological subjects from primordial inflation and cosmic microwave anisotropy to the dark energy that propels an accelerating universe. The author presents the subject with an emphasis on physical examples and simple applications without the full tensor apparatus. The reader first learns how to describe curved spacetime. At this mathematically more accessible level, the reader can already study the many interesting phenomena such as gravitational lensing, precession of Mercury's perihelion, black holes and cosmology. The full tensor formulation is presented later when the Einstein equation is solved for a few symmetric cases. Many modern topics in cosmology are discussed in this book from inflation, cosmic microwave anisotropy to the dark energy that propels an accelerating universe. Mathematical accessibility together with the various pedagogical devices, e.g. worked out solutions of chapter end problems, make it practical for interested readers to use the book to study general relativity and cosmology on their own.

Groups of Galaxies in the Nearby Universe Ivo Saviane, Valentin D. Ivanov, Jordanka Borissova, 2007-08-01 For every galaxy in the field or in clusters there are about three galaxies in groups. The Milky Way itself resides in a group and groups can be found at high redshift. The current generation of 10 m class telescopes and space facilities allows the observation of the members of nearby groups with exquisite detail and their properties can be correlated with the global properties of their host group. Groups in the local Universe offer us the chance to study galaxies in environments characterized by strong interactions. In the cosmological context, groups trace large scale structures better than clusters and the evolution of groups and clusters appears to be related. All these aspects of research on groups of galaxies are summarized in this book written by scientists working in various fields.

Banerji,2019-04-25 The research for this book was motivated by speculations about the religious movements that may have influenced the plans and arrangements of temples built by the Hoysa as of Karnataka in the period between the twelfth and thirteenth centuries It investigates the causes for the accelerated pace of these constructions enquires about what served as catalysts for the incorporation of multiple shrines within structures examines the factors that gave momentum to the sanctification of a variety of deities within them and studies the characteristics of their style as it was manifested in the temples they commissioned Thought the finest of these are in the Imperial Hoysa a Style in either the Ha ebi or Korava gala types all of the architectural output does not necessarily fall into these categories some displaying a plurality of characteristics from earlier regional idioms However the differences between the two are revealing as they serve to highlight the really ground breaking innovations introduced by the Hoysa as

High Luminosity Large Hadron Collider, The: The New Machine For Illuminating The Mysteries Of Universe

Oliver Bruning, Lucio Rossi, 2015-08-28 This book provides a broad introduction to the physics and technology of the High Luminosity Large Hadron Collider HL LHC This new configuration of the LHC is one of the major accelerator projects for the next 20 years and will give new life to the LHC after its first 15 year operation Not only will it allow more precise measurements of the Higgs boson and of any new particles that might be discovered in the next LHC run but also extend the mass limit reach for detecting new particles The HL LHC is based on the innovative accelerator magnet technologies capable of generating 11.13 Tesla fields with effectiveness enhanced by use of the new Achromatic Telescopic Squeezing scheme and other state of the art accelerator technologies such as superconducting compact RF crab cavities advanced collimation concepts and novel power technology based on high temperature superconducting links The book consists of a series of chapters touching on all issues of technology and design and each chapter can be read independently The first few chapters give a summary of the whole project of the physics motivation and of the accelerator challenges The subsequent chapters cover the novel technologies the new configurations of LHC and of its injectors as well as the expected operational implications Altogether the book brings the reader to the heart of technologies for the leading edge accelerator and gives insights into next generation hadron colliders

Audience Genre Expectations in the Age of Digital Media Leo W. Jeffres, David J. Atkin, Kimberly A. Neuendorf, 2022-12-05 This volume bridges the divide between film and media studies scholarship by exploring audience expectations of film and TV genre in the age of digital streaming using qualitative thematic and quantitative data driven analyses Through four ground breaking surveys of audience members and content creators the authors have empirically determined what audiences expect of various genres the extent to which these definitions match those of scholars and critics and the overall variation and complexity of audience expectations in the age of media abundance They also examine audience habits and preferences drawing from both theory and original empirical analyses with a view toward the implications for the moving image in a rapidly changing media environment The book draws from the data to develop a number of new concepts including genre repertoire genre hybridity audience interest maximization and variety seeking and a new stage of genre development genre bending It is an ideal resource for students and scholars interested in the symbiotic relationship between audiences and the moving image products they consume as well as the way the current digital media environment has impacted our understanding of film and TV genres

Indigenist African Development and Related Issues Akwasi Asabere-Ameyaw, Jophus Anamuah-Mensah, George Sefa Dei, Kolawole Raheem, 2014-07-11 There is no term so heavily contested in social science literature nomenclature than Development This book brings Indigenous perspectives to African development It is argued that contrary to development as we know it not working a greater part of the problem is that conventional development approaches that work have in fact not truly been followed to the letter and hence the quagmire All this is ironic since everything we do about our world is development So how come there is difficult knowledge when it comes to learning from what we know i e what local peoples do and have done for centuries as a starting point to reconstructing and reframing development In getting our heads around this paradox we are tempted to ask more questions How do we as African scholars and researchers begin to develop home grown solutions to our problems How do we pioneer new analytical systems for understanding our communities and offer a pathway to genuine African development i e Indigenist African development see also Yankah 2004 How do we speak of Indigenist development mindful of global developments and entanglements around us Can we afford to pursue development still mired in a catch up scenario Are we in a race with the development world and where do we see this race ending or where do we define as the finishing line A Publication of the Centre for School and Community Science and Technology Studies SACOST University of Education Winneba Ghana
