Post-War Business Planners in the United States,

1939-48 Charlie Whitham, 2016-10-20 During the Second World War several independent business organizations in the US devoted considerable energy to formulating and advocating social and economic policy options for the US government for implementation after the war. This planning community of far-sighted businessmen joined with academics and government officials in a nationwide endeavor to ensure that the colossal levels of productivity achieved by the US during wartime continued into the peace. At its core, this effort was part of a wider struggle between liberals, moderates, and conservatives over determining the economic and social responsibilities of government in the new post-war order. In this book, Charlie Whitham draws on an abundance of unpublished primary material from private and public archives that includes the minutes, memoranda, policy statements, and research studies of the major post-war business planning organizations on a wide range of topics including monetary policy, demobilization, labor policy, international trade, and foreign affairs. This is the untold story of how the post-war business planners of all hues helped shape the moderate consensus which prevailed after 1945 over a permanent but limited government responsibility for fiscal welfare and labor affairs, advanced American interests overseas, and established Moralizing Capitalism Stefan Berger, Alexandra Przyrembel, 2019-07-26 This book adds a crucial focus on morality to the growing literature on the history of capitalism by exploring social and cultural perspectives on the economic order that has dominated the modern world. Taking the study beyond narrow economic confines, it traces the entanglement between moral sentiments and capitalism, examining both moral critiques and moral justifications. Company bankruptcies, systems of taxation, wealth, and the running of stock exchanges were attacked on moral grounds, while ideas of economic justice and the humanization of capitalism loomed large over moral critiques. Many movements, from antislavery to labour campaigns, were inspired by aspirations to improve capitalism and halt the moral decay that was felt to have affected large sections of society. This book questions how moral sentiments are defined and have changed over time and how these relate to both capitalism and anti-capitalism. Covering a range of different social movements and ethical issues, the 13 chapters present a moral history of capitalism understood not simply as an economic system but as an order that encompasses all areas of modern life.

Corporate Conservatives Go to War Charlie Whitham,2020-05-30 World War II presented a unique opportunity for American business to improve its reputation after years of censure for inflicting the Great Depression upon the nation No employers organization worked harder or devoted greater resources to reviving business prestige during the war than the National Association of Manufacturers which spent millions of dollars on promoting the indispensability of private enterprise to the successful mobilization of the American economy in an uncompromising multi media campaign which spanned the factory floor to the movie theatre Now using unpublished primary sources the full extent of the NAM s wartime mission to raise the stature of American business in the post war era is revealed During the war the NAM erected a vast structure of research on an unprecedented scale numbering more than one hundred persons dedicated to planning the best solutions for restoring American free enterprise capitalism after the war in a direct challenge to the liberal prescriptions of the reigning administration These studies were painstakingly assembled and widely distributed and served as a complimentary arm to the better known pro business propaganda message of the organization What emerges is a unique and telling glimpse into the minds of the corporate class of wartime America that reveals the determination of a major employers organization to exploit the exceptional circumstances of total war to influence both the power brokers in Washington who wrote economic policy and the American public as a whole to embrace a post war future ruled by private enterprise capitalism

Murphy,2006-09-14 The United Nations Development Programme is the central network co ordinating the work of the United Nations in over 160 developing countries This 2006 book provides the first authoritative and accessible history of the Programme and its predecessors Based on the findings of hundreds of interviews and archives in more than two dozen countries Craig Murphy traces the history of the UNDP s organizational structure and mission its relationship to the multilateral financial institutions and the development of its doctrines He argues that the principles on which the UNDP was founded remain as relevant in a world divided by terrorism as they were in the immediate aftermath of the Second World War as are the fundamental problems that have plagued the Programme from its origin including the opposition of traditionally isolationist forces in the industrialized world

The Globalization of Legal Education Bryant G. Garth, Gregory C. Shaffer,2022 Legal academics and practitioners in recent decades increasingly emphasize the so called globalization of legal education The diffusion of the Juris Doctor JD degree to Australia Hong Kong Japan and South Korea as well as the advent of a very similar Juris Master JM degree in China and a shift in the late 1980s and beyond to a new US influenced format in India exemplify shifts toward US

legal education practices Flood 2014 The global and Americanizing trend is evident on the web sites of law schools around the globe with many law schools competing to be the most global in terms of their faculty curricula teaching methods and students Less pronounced but related to the literature on legal globalization is that on transnationalization and transnational processes which is a strong component of the move toward globalization in legal education As this book shows if we look to see what is celebrated as part of globalized law schools and faculties we see increased cross border flows of professors and students teaching of transnational legal subjects development of particular forms of teaching practice such as legal clinics explicit focus on transnational rankings and transnationalized scholarly communities sharing teaching and research methods and approaches across domains of law
