Mathscape Gullivers World:

Fostering Children's Mathematical Power Arthur Baroody, Arthur J. Baroody, Jesse L.M. Wilkins, Ronald T. Coslick, 1998-09-01 Teachers have the responsibility of helping all of their students construct the disposition and knowledge needed to live successfully in a complex and rapidly changing world To meet the challenges of the 21st century students will especially need mathematical power a positive disposition toward mathematics curiosity and self confidence facility with the processes of mathematical inquiry problem solving reasoning and communicating and well connected mathematical knowledge an understanding of mathematical concepts procedures and formulas This guide seeks to help teachers achieve the capability to foster children s mathematical power the ability to excite them about mathematics help them see that it makes sense and enable them to harness its might for solving everyday and extraordinary problems The investigative approach attempts to foster mathematical power by making mathematics instruction process based understandable or relevant to the everyday life of students Past efforts to reform mathematics instruction have focused on only one or two of these aims whereas the investigative approach accomplishes all three By teaching content in a purposeful context an inquiry based fashion and a meaningful manner this approach promotes children s mathematical learning in an interesting thought provoking and comprehensible way This teaching guide is designed to help teachers appreciate the need for the investigative approach and to provide practical advice on how to make this approach happen in the classroom It not only dispenses information but also serves as a catalyst for exploring conjecturing about discussing and contemplating the teaching and learning of mathematics Gulliver's World McGraw-Hill, 1997-02-28 Improving Instruction in Geometry and Measurement Margaret Schwan Smith, Edward A. Silver, Mary Kay Stein, 2005-01-01 Helping students develop an understanding of important mathematical ideas is a persistent challenge for teachers In this book one of a three volume set well known mathematics educators Margaret Smith Edward A Silver and Mary Kay Stein provide teachers of mathematics the support they need to improve their instruction They focus on ways to engage upper elementary middle school and high school students in thinking reasoning and problem solving to build their mathematics understanding and proficiency The content focus of Volume One is rational numbers and proportionality Using materials that were developed under the NSF funded COMET Cases of Mathematics to Enhance Teaching program each volume in the set features cases from urban middle school classrooms with ethnically racially and linguistically diverse student populations Each case illustrates an instructional episode in the classroom of a teacher who is implementing standards based instruction the teachers perspective including their thoughts and actions as they interact with students and with key aspects of mathematical content cognitively challenging mathematics activities that are built around samples of authentic classroom practice and facilitation chapters to help professional developers teach the cases including specific guidelines for facilitating discussions and suggestions for connecting the ideas presented in the cases to a teacher s own practice As a complete set this resource provides a basis on which to build a comprehensive professional development program to improve mathematics instruction and student learning
