Threats David P. Barash, 2020-09-01 Threats is a comprehensive and scientifically accurate exploration into threats at every level from animalistic competition to social manipulation and political strife

Imperial Rome AD 284 to 363 Jill Harries, 2012-03-07 This book is about the reinvention of the Roman Empire during the eighty years between the accession of Diocletian and the death of Julian How had it changed The emperors were still warriors and expected to take the field Rome was still the capital at least symbolically There was still a Roman senate though with new rules brought in by Constantine There were still provincial governors but more now and with fewer duties in smaller areas and military command was increasingly separated from civil jurisdiction and administration The neighbours in Persia Germania and on the Danube were more assertive and better organised which had a knock on effect on Roman institutions The achievement of Diocletian and his successors down to Julian was to create a viable apparatus of control which allowed a large and at times unstable area to be policed defended and exploited The book offers a different perspective on the development often taken to be the distinctive feature of these years namely the rise of Christianity Imperial endorsement and patronage of the Christian god and the expanded social role of the Church are a significant prelude to the Byzantine state The author argues that the reigns of the Christian supporting Constantine and his sons were a foretaste of what was to come but not a complete or coherent statement of how Church and State were to react with each other

Women Readers and

Writers in Medieval Iberia Montserrat Piera, 2019-08-05 This book is devoted to medieval Iberian women readers and writers Focusing on the stories and texts women heard visually experienced or read and the stories that they rewrote the work explores women's experiences and cultural practices and their efforts to make sense of their place within their familial networks and communities The study is based on two methodological and interpretive threads a new paradigm to represent premodern reading and a study of women's writing or more precisely women's textualities as a process of creating words but also acts social practices emotions and ultimately affectus understood here as the embodiment of the ability to affect and be affected

Passio SS. Perpetuae Et Felicitatis Engl Thomas J. Heffernan, 2012-06-18 One of the most widely read and studied texts composed in Late Antiquity is the prison diary of Vibia Perpetua a young woman of the elite classes who was martyred in March of the year 202 or 203 C E in Carthage as part of a civic celebration honoring Caesar Geta She was well married and had recently become the mother of a baby son but despite her advantages she refused to recant her faith when she was arrested with other recent converts to Christianity Imprisoned with her was her pregnant slave Felicity Perpetua's steadfastness in her belief led to her martyrdom in the amphitheater A description of the heroic deaths of both women and the autobiography of one of the leaders of the Christian community Saturus is woven into Perpetua's diary by an anonymous editor who tells us that as they died Perpetua Felicity and the other condemned Christians bid farewell with a kiss of peace This unique and precious text survives in one Greek and in nine Latin manuscript versions Thomas Heffernan's new study contains much that has never been done before including a prosopography of all the individuals mentioned in the Passion a new English translation and the first detailed historical commentary in English on the entire narrative of the Passion It also includes a newly edited version of the Latin text based on all the extant manuscripts and rarer still the Greek text He concludes the book with a complete codicological description of all of the known manuscripts and thorough scholarly indices of the text itself Perpetua's prison diary is a revered text of early Christianity and Heffernan's new translation and commentary brings unprecedented scholarly resources to the much loved Passion

Women's Socioeconomic Status and Religious Leadership in Asia Minor in the First Two Centuries C.E. Katherine Bain, 2014 Rethinking the socioeconomic status of women in the Roman world Moving beyond discussions of patriarchy and prescribed women's roles in the Roman world discussions that have relied too much on elite literary sources in her view Katherine Bain explores what inscriptional data from Asia Minor can tell us about the actual socioeconomic status of women in the first and second centuries C E Her findings suggest that women's leadership in social associations and by implication in Jewish and Christian congregations as well was even more frequent than has been imagined Book Cover

Flavian Responses to Nero's Rome Mark Heerink, Esther Meijer, 2025-10-01 In this interdisciplinary volume a team of classicists historians and archaeologists examines how the memory of the infamous emperor Nero was negotiated in different contexts and by different people during the ensuing Flavian age of imperial Rome The contributions show different Flavian responses to Nero's complicated legacy

while some aspects of his memory were reinforced others were erased Emphasizing the constant and diverse nature of this negotiation this book proposes a nuanced interpretation of both the Flavian age itself and its relation to Nero's Rome By combining the study of these strategies with architectural approaches archaeology and memory studies this volume offers a multifaceted picture of Roman civilization at a crucial turning point and as such will have something to offer anyone interested in classics ancient history and archaeology

The Homeric Centos Anna Lefteratou, 2023 The Homeric Centos a poem that is Homeric in style and biblical in theme is a dramatic illustration of the creative cultural and religious dialogue between Classical Antiquity and Christianity in the fifth century CE This book exposes the work's debt to centuries of Homeric reception and interpretation as well as Christian literature and exegesis and places it at the crossroads of Christian and pagan literary traditions

Materialising Roman Histories Astrid Van Oyen, Martin Pitts, 2017-09-30 The Roman period witnessed massive changes in the human material environment from monumentalised cityscapes to standardised low value artefacts like pottery This book explores new perspectives to understand this Roman object boom and its impact on Roman history In particular the book's international contributors question the traditional dominance of representation in Roman archaeology whereby objects have come to stand for social phenomena such as status facets of group identity or notions like Romanisation and economic growth Drawing upon the recent material turn in anthropology and related disciplines the essays in this volume examine what it means to materialise Roman history focusing on the question of what objects do in history rather than what they represent In challenging the dominance of representation and exploring themes such as the impact of standardisation and the role of material agency Materialising Roman History is essential reading for anyone studying material culture from the Roman world and beyond
