University Texas Tech University. Museum, 1989 Patterns in the Structure of Mammalian Communities Douglas W.

Morris, Zvika Abramsky, 1989 Addresses the evolutionary ecology of various closely related well known mammals Contributions address issues of habitat selection species interaction distribution abundance and diversity Habitats under study include deserts tropical and boreal forests heaths swamps and savannas No index Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Landscape Ecology of Small Mammals Gary W. Barrett, John D. Peles, 2013-03-19 Small mammals can be regarded as excellent subjects to test suppositions about population growth migration and reproduction and in particular on how the complex physical structure of the environment affects the ecology of populations and communities In other words these small mammal studies can help formulate landscape ecological principles This book summarizes a great deal of experimental work on the spatial ecology of small mammals The field has entered an exciting stage with several new techniques such as GIS and systems modeling becoming available Leading contributors describe and analyze the most well known case studies and provide new insights into how landscape patterns and processes have had an impact on small mammals and how small mammals have in turn affected landscape structure and composition Terrestrial Ecosystems

Through Time Anna K. Behrensmeyer, 1992-08-15 Breathtaking in scope this is the first survey of the entire ecological history of life on land from the earliest traces of terrestrial organisms over 400 million years ago to the beginning of human agriculture By providing myriad insights into the unique ecological information contained in the fossil record it establishes a new and ambitious basis for the study of evolutionary paleoecology of land ecosystems A joint undertaking of the Evolution of Terrestrial Ecosystems Consortium at the National Museum of Natural History Smithsonian Institution and twenty six additional researchers this book begins with four chapters that lay out the theoretical background and methodology of the science of evolutionary paleoecology Included are a comprehensive review of the taphonomy and paleoenvironmental settings of fossil deposits as well as guidelines for developing ecological characterizations of extinct organisms and the communities in which they lived The remaining three chapters treat the history of terrestrial ecosystems through geological time emphasizing how ecological interactions have changed the rate and tempo of ecosystem change the role of exogenous forcing factors in generating ecological change and the effect of ecological factors on the evolution of biological diversity The six principal authors of this volume are all associated with the Evolution of Terrestrial Ecosystems program at the National Museum of Natural History Smithsonian Institution Special Publications, 1985 Ecological Assembly Rules Evan

Weiher, Paul Keddy, 2001-08-16 Considers the evidence for the existence of unifying rules controlling the formation and maintenance of ecological communities Occasional Papers - The Museum, Texas Tech University, 2002 Texas State Publications, 1990 Bats James S. Findley, 1995-01-26 Extensive scientific study of bats suggests that they are long lived slowly reproducing animals adapted to relatively stable environments As such they might be expected to exist in communities heavily influenced by biotic interactions This book begins with an overview of bat biology including their systematic diversity and methodological problems in bat research This is followed by examples of local bat community surveys from the major biogeographic regions The evidence bearing upon resource limitation and competition in bats is reviewed Then patterns in species richness taxonomic packing biomass numerical density trophic and morphological diversity are described The relevance of these to the nature of bat communities is examined Major habitats and their histories are shown to be powerful predictors of important aspects of bat community structure
