Manufactured Sites Rethinking The Post Industrial Landscape:

Manufactured Sites Niall Kirkwood, 2003-09-02 This title was originally published in 2001 The version published in 2011 is a PB reprint of the original HB Manufactured Sites focuses on the legacy of industrial production and pollutants on the contemporary landscape and their influence on new scientific research innovative site technologies and progressive site design It presents innovative environmental engineering and design approaches along with ongoing research and built projects of international significance Contributions range from innovative scientific engineering research from industry and federal agencies to contemporary international and regional professional reclamation and redevelopment projects such as the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney Australia and the A G Thyssen steelworks and blast furnace planning in Germany's Ruhr region

Large Parks John Beardsley, 2007-07-26 Publisher description The Post-Industrial Landscape as Site for Creative Practice Gwen Heeney, 2018-06-11 This book brings together experts in the fields of art history visual arts music cultural geography curatorial practice and landscape architecture to explore the role of material memory in the post industrial landscape and the ways in which that landscape can act as a site for many forms of creative practice It examines the role of material memory in the siting of public artworks and politically inspired installation art within the socio economic post industrial landscape The post industrial ruin as a place for innovation in the curatorial process is also investigated as are social memory and the complexities of inscribing memory into places A number of chapters focus on photography and its important role in recording memory as transformation abandonment and erosion Artists and musicians present personal case studies examining the siting of permanent and temporary artworks which can invoke memory of both culture and place The land itself and its associated histories of post industry are explored in artistic terms investigating dislocation wasted spaces and extinction Landscape architects and cultural geographers explore the aesthetic of the urban ruin its natural and human ecologies and the re wilding of urban spaces The volume provokes discussion by a group of diverse experts on a very contemporary subject

Reimagining Industrial Sites Catherine Heatherington, 2017-12-06 The discourse around derelict former industrial and military sites has grown in recent years This interest is not only theoretical and landscape professionals are taking new approaches to the design and development of these sites This book examines the varied ways in which the histories and qualities of these derelict sites are reimagined in the transformed landscape and considers how such approaches can reveal the dramatic changes that have been wrought on these places over a relatively short time scale It discusses these issues with reference to eleven sites from the UK Germany the USA Australia and China focusing specifically on how designers incorporate evidence of landscape change both cultural and natural There has been little research into how these developed landscapes are perceived by visitors and local residents This book examines how the tangible material traces of pastness are interpreted by the visitor and the impact of the intangible elements hidden traces experiences and memories The book draws together theory in the field and implications for practice in landscape architecture and concludes with an examination of how different approaches to revealing and reimagining change can affect the future management of the site

Post-Industrial Landscape Scars A. Storm, 2014-10-22 Post industrial landscape scars are traces of 20th century utopian visions of society they relate to fear and resistance expressed by popular movements and to relations between industrial workers and those in power The metaphor of the scar pinpoints the inherent ambiguity of memory work by signifying both positive and negative experiences as well as the contemporary challenges of living with these physical and mental marks In this book Anna Storm explores post industrial landscape scars caused by nuclear power production mining and iron and steel industry in Malmberget Kiruna Barsebäck and Avesta in Sweden Ignalina and Visaginas Snieķis in Lithuania former Soviet Union and Duisburg in the Ruhr district of Germany The scars are shaped by time and geographical scale they carry the vestiges of life and work of community spirit and hope of betrayed dreams and repressive hierarchical structures What is critical Storm concludes is the search for a legitimate politics of memory The meanings of the scars must be acknowledged Past and present experiences must be shared in order shape new understandings of old places

Transformative Ground Ross Mclean, 2019-08-29 Aimed at students and instructors alongside practitioners and researchers in landscape architecture and its allied disciplinary fields this book provides the reader with a clear framework of theoretical and practical considerations for interpreting and designing post industrial landscapes One of the biggest contemporary challenges currently faced in the profession is how to effectively understand and work with the transformational possibilities of post industrial landscapes while negotiating significant spatial challenges such as degradation and fragmentation Transformative Ground A Field Guide to the Post Industrial Landscape presents a range of theoretical perspectives and practical approaches offering a broad scope of contemporary design strategies that deal with post industrial landscapes Through a series of thematic chapters allied with precedents from leading design offices this book identifies how the context of post industrial landscapes has compelled shifts in fundamental ideas that underpin landscape design As a richly illustrated account of this transformative ground this book provides a must have guide to help you reimagine the post industrial landscape

Nature, Landscape, and Building for Sustainability William S. Saunders, 2008 The complexity and scale of the environmental problems confronting humanity today provoke a wide range of responses from indifference to anger to creativity Among a growing number of architects landscape architects and planners however these problems have inspired a new vision sustainability to guide their practices In Nature Landscape and Building for Sustainability a diverse group of contributors considers the concept of sustainability both philosophically and practically Some take a broad view of the divisions between nature and humanity exploring the incomprehensible scale of human intervention in the natural world the relationship between how we feel about nature and what we do about it and the commodification of the natural world Other essays focus on sustainable design practices sustainability's roots in the American conservation tradition its utility as a framework for future design practice and the necessity of moving beyond demonstration projects into the mainstream Together these essays suggest that the gap between the promise and reality of sustainable design although significant can be bridged through diligence and practice Contributors D Michelle Addington Yale U John Beardsley Harvard Graduate School of Design Albert Borgmann U of Montana Missoula Peter Buchanan Peter Del Tredici Harvard Graduate School of Design Robert France Harvard Graduate School of Design Susannah Hagan U of East London Kristina Hill U of Virginia Catherine Howett U of Georgia Niall Kirkwood Harvard Graduate School of Design Lucy R Lippard Bill McKibbin Michael Pollan Rossana Vaccarino Vaccarino Associates St Thomas William S Saunders is editor of Harvard Design Magazine and assistant dean for external relations at Harvard University s Graduate School of Design He is editor of five previous Harvard Design Magazine Readers published by the University of Minnesota Press Robert L Thayer Jr is emeritus professor of landscape architecture and founder of the landscape architecture program at the University of California Davis

The Politics of Water in Post-War Britain Glen O'Hara, 2017-05-10 This is the first book to cover the British people s late twentieth century engagement with water in all its domestic national and international forms and from bathing and household chores to controversies about maritime pollution The British Isles a relatively wet and rainy archipelago cannot in any way be said to be short of liquid resources Even so it was the site of highly contentious and revealing political controversies over the meaning and use of water after the Second World War A series of such issues divided political parties pressure groups government and voters and form the subject matter of this book problems as diverse as flood defence to river and beach cleanliness from the teaching of swimming to the installation of hot and cold running water in the home from international controls over maritime pollution and from the different housework duties of men and women to the British state s proposals to fluoridise the drinking water supply

Teaching Landscape Karsten Jørgensen, Nilgöl Karadeniz, Elke Mertens, Richard Stiles, 2019-08-30 Teaching Landscape The Studio Experience gathers a range of expert contributions from across the world to collect best practice examples of teaching landscape architecture studios This is the companion volume to The Routledge Handbook of Teaching Landscape in the two part set initiated by the European Council of Landscape Architecture Schools ECLAS Design and planning studio as a form of teaching lies at the core of landscape architecture education They can simulate a professional situation and promote the development of creative solutions based on gaining an understanding of a specific project site or planning area address existing challenges in urban and rural landscapes and often involve interaction with real stakeholders such as municipality representatives residents or activist groups In this way studio based planning and design teaching brings students closer to everyday practice helping to prepare them to create real world problem solving designs This book provides fully illustrated examples of studios from over twenty different schools of landscape architecture worldwide With over 250 full colour images it is an essential resource for instructors and academics across the landscape discipline for the continuously evolving process of discussing and generating improved teaching modes in landscape architecture

Innovations in Landscape Architecture Jonathon Anderson, Daniel Ortega, 2016-05-20 This inspiring and thought provoking book explores how recent innovations in landscape architecture have uniquely positioned the practice to address complex issues and technologies that affect our built environment The changing and expanding nature of landscape make it more important than ever for landscape architects to seek innovation as a critical component in the forward development of a contemporary profession that merges expansive ideas and applications The editors bring together leading contributors who are experts in new and pioneering approaches and technologies within the fields of academic and professional landscape architecture The chapters explore digital technology design processes and theoretical queries that shape the contemporary practice of landscape architecture Topics covered include Digital design Fabrication and prototyping Emerging technology Visualization of data System theory Concluding the book are case studies looking at the work of two landscape firms PEG and MYKD and two academic departments Illinois Institute of Technology and the Rhode Island School of Design which together show the novel and exciting directions that landscape is already going in Sustainable Remediation for Pollution and Climate Resilience Arafat Abdel Hamed Abdel Latef, Ehab M. Zayed, Ahmad Alsayed Omar, 2025-06-29 This book offers a comprehensive exploration of strategies to combat pressing environmental challenges focusing on pollution remediation and climate change mitigation. It presents innovative recycling models and advanced tertiary water treatment methods as viable solutions to these global issues. As humanity faces the consequences of pollution from plastic waste to industrial contamination, this book highlights the need for sustainable practices that ensure environmental and biological continuity. It addresses the critical question of how to remediate plastic pollution, a major environmental crisis affecting marine life, terrestrial ecosystems, and human health. The chapters cover a wide range of topics, including the comparison of bioremediation and nanomaterials, phytoremediation of domestic wastewater, and the integration of mine rehabilitation practices in the context of climate change. Readers will discover the ecological importance of bacteria and fungi in bioremediation, the role of microbes in environmental restoration, and the potential of phycoremediation (algae) in mitigating climate change. The book also examines the impact of viral and fungal remediation in creating a healthy environment and the role of biofertilizers in soil remediation. This volume is essential for researchers, environmental scientists, and policymakers seeking to understand and implement effective pollution remediation strategies. It offers valuable insights into the intersection of technology and ecology, making it a must-read for anyone committed to preserving our planet for future generations.

Large-Scale Urban Parks on Post-Industrial Sites in Contemporary Urban Landscape Conceptions
Mengyixin Li, 2023-08-09

The theme is related to Large Parks on Post-industrial Sites in Contemporary Urban Landscape Conceptions, which is expounded in the fields of landscape architecture, landscape ecology, and urban planning. A worldwide perspective is created so as to conduct cross-cultural research on the theories and practices of large-scale urban parks in North America, Germany, and China. Through the scientific approach of critical rationalism, three design paradigms of large parks in different conceptions of contemporary urban landscapes are formulated based on quantitative and qualitative analysis, which are classified as the organic parks of North American landscape urbanism, the structural parks of German landscape structuralism, and the large parks of Chinese urban inventory renewal. By means of critical thinking in diverse cultural interpretations, the research aims to reveal remarkable similarities and differences between the cultures in the Western world according to their understanding of landscapes: coherent vs. creative landscape and ecology representation vs. metaphor and landscape and life diversity vs. unpredictability. Through theoretical analysis and case studies, it demonstrates that the international park paradigms characterised by complexity, diversity, sustainability, appropriation, and identity can influence various socio-cultural, ecological, and aesthetic developments. Finally, the analytical results of the two park paradigms in Western countries are adopted in the examination of landscape architectural park models and urbanistic theoretical frameworks in China. This monograph is written primarily for scholars, professionals, and students in the fields of landscape architecture, urban planning, and architecture. The book involving in-depth analysis about urban parks, green open spaces, green infrastructure, and post-industrial landscapes will have international appeal. It will appeal to readers at different levels. Above all, it may be of interest to professionals who are concerned with the topics urban parks and post-industrial landscapes as well as Chinese scholars and experts particularly those looking at China's urban renewal and the ongoing transformation of post industrial sites at different scales This book will have strong implications for relevant urban landscape practices in China Furthermore it will be supported by the author's colleagues from various countries such as Germany Italy USA Canada Brazil and China Moreover students to whom the author teaches courses of Landscape Architecture History and Theory and Landscape Planning and Design at BUCEA as well as the international students at Collaborative Classes organized by BUCEA TUM and POLIMI Politecnico di Milano Italy are encouraged to read this book

Beyond Rust Allen Dieterich-Ward, 2015-10-21 Beyond Rust chronicles the rise fall and rebirth of metropolitan Pittsburgh an industrial region that once formed the heart of the world's steel production and is now touted as a model for reviving other hard hit cities of the Rust Belt Writing in clear and engaging prose historian and area native Allen Dieterich Ward provides a new model for a truly metropolitan history that integrates the urban core with its regional hinterland of satellite cities white collar suburbs mill towns and rural mining areas Pittsburgh reached its industrial heyday between 1880 and 1920 as vertically integrated industrial corporations forged a regional community in the mountainous Upper Ohio River Valley Over subsequent decades metropolitan population growth slowed as mining and manufacturing employment declined Faced with economic and environmental disaster in the 1930s Pittsburgh's business elite and political leaders developed an ambitious program of pollution control and infrastructure development The public private partnership behind the Pittsburgh Renaissance as advocates called it pursued nothing less than the selective erasure of the existing social and physical environment in favor of a modernist functionally divided landscape a goal that was widely copied by other aging cities and one that has important ramifications for the broader national story Ultimately the Renaissance vision of downtown skyscrapers sleek suburban research campuses and bucolic regional parks resulted in an uneven transformation that tore the urban fabric while leaving deindustrializing river valleys and impoverished coal towns isolated from areas of postwar growth Beyond Rust is among the first books of its kind to continue past the collapse of American manufacturing in the 1980s by exploring the diverse ways residents of an iconic industrial region sought places for themselves within a new economic order

A Cultural History of Waste Disposal Benjamin A. Lawson, 2024-12-11 This book offers a historical analysis of landfill sites in New York City Greater Toronto and Greater Tel Aviv and uses them as case studies to emphasize the international and global scale of issues concerning waste disposal and park redevelopments New York Toronto and Tel Aviv are currently redeveloping giant landfills into parks to much fanfare The park redevelopments may be seen as an attempt to erase or assuage the decades of problematic waste disposal policy that led to the creation of such large landfills Booster rhetoric underscores this point such as promoting how the parks will be a green lung for the city This book contextualizes these redevelopments by offering a historical analysis providing a greater understanding of the past current and future potential issues It goes on to analyze the language and media coverage surrounding former waste sites becoming park redevelopments including how cities use art to promote their image and gain cultural relevance By engaging with both the works of waste historians and literature on waste and discard studies the book provides theoretical models for analyzing the role of power in municipal systems as well as human and ecological impacts on waste It concludes with an analysis of the features necessary for landfill parks to be successful This book will be useful for scholars researchers and academics studying waste studies the environment cities and sustainable development as well as for policymakers and environmental eco artists

Handbook of Regenerative Landscape Design Robert L. France, 2007-10-18 What if environmentally damaged landscapes could not only be remediated from an ecological standpoint but also designed to replenish an entire community as well as the nature surrounding it The Handbook of Regenerative Landscape Design incorporates ecology engineering sociology and design elements into a new paradigm for environmental r

Landscape Theory in Design Susan Herrington, 2016-12-08 Phenomenology Materiality Cybernetics Palimpsest Cyborgs Landscape Urbanism Typology Semiotics Deconstruction the minefield of theoretical ideas that students must navigate today can be utterly confusing and how do these theories translate to the design studio Landscape Theory in Design introduces theoretical ideas to students without the use of jargon or an assumption of extensive knowledge in other fields and in doing so links these ideas to the processes of design In five thematic chapters Susan Herrington explains the theoretic groundings of the theory of philosophy why it matters to design an example of the theory in a work of landscape architecture from the twentieth and twenty first centuries debates surrounding the theory particularly as they elaborate modern and postmodern thought and primary readings that can be read as companions to her text An extensive glossary of theoretical terms also adds a vital contribution to students comprehension of theories relevant to the design of landscapes and gardens Covering the design of over 40 landscape architects architects and designers in 111 distinct projects from 20 different countries Landscape Theory in Design is essential reading for any student of the landscape

Phyto Kate Kennen, Niall Kirkwood, 2015-05-01 Winner of the 2017 CBHL Literature Award of Excellence in Landscape Design and Architecture Phyto presents the concepts of phytoremediation and phytotechnology in one comprehensive guide illustrating when plants can be considered for the uptake removal or mitigation of on site pollutants Current scientific case studies are covered highlighting the advantages and limitations of plant based cleanup Typical contaminant groups found in the built environment are explained and plant lists for mitigation of specific contaminants are included where applicable This is the first book to address the benefits of phytotechnologies from a design point of view taking complex scientific terms and translating the research into an easy to understand reference book for those involved in creating planting solutions Typically phytotechnology planting techniques are currently employed post site contamination to help clean up already contaminated soil by taking advantage of the positive effects that plants can have upon harmful toxins and chemicals This book presents a new concept to create projective planting designs with preventative phytotechnology abilities phytobuffering where future pollution may be expected for particular site programs Filled with tables photographs and detailed drawings Kennen and Kirkwood s text guides the reader through the process of selecting plants for their aesthetic and environmental qualities combined with their contaminant removal benefits
