Was Mao Really a Monster? Gregor Benton,Lin Chun,2013-09-13 Mao The Unknown Story by Jung Chang and Jon Halliday was published in 2005 to a great fanfare The book portrays Mao as a monster equal to or worse than Hitler and Stalin and a fool who won power by native cunning and ruled by terror It received a rapturous welcome from reviewers in the popular press and rocketed to the top of the worldwide bestseller list Few works on China by writers in the West have achieved its impact Reviews by serious China scholars however tended to take a different view Most were sharply critical questioning its authority and the authors methods arguing that Chang and Halliday's book is not a work of balanced scholarship as it purports to be but a highly selective and even polemical study that sets out to demonise Mao This book brings together sixteen reviews of Mao The Unknown Story all by internationally well regarded specialists in modern Chinese history and published in relatively specialised scholarly journals Taken together they demonstrate that Chang and Halliday's portrayal of Mao is in many places woefully inaccurate While agreeing that Mao had many faults and was responsible for some disastrous policies they conclude that a more balanced picture is needed 37 Poems of Mao Mao ,2024-04-05 37

Poems by Mao is a compilation of poems made by an anonymous Jamaican American author spanning across the last 12 years 2012-2024. The purpose of this book is to inspire, guide and teach. Walk through the mind, spirit and heart of the unconventional author's darkest times. As he gives a full expression of his thoughts, emotions and perspective, his vivid imagination is nothing short of amazing. These poems composed by Mao will give encouragement and hope to humanity. As you journey with Mao, you'll see the maturity, the wisdom and growth throughout the years with his unorthodox style of writing. Written in a time where murder, police brutality, racism, gang violence, division, blasphemy and corrupt government officials thrive in poverty-stricken communities worldwide, this literature is the light at the end of the tunnel. Mao's Way Edward E. Rice, 2022-04-29. This major biography of Mao draws on never before seen documents to reveal surprising details about Mao's rise to power and leadership in China. This narrative chronicles the activities of the U. S. Marine Corps in Southeast Asia from January 1961 to March 1965. The period witnesses increasing Marine Corps involvement in the region as our nation's leaders responded to Communist aggression and sought to protect the United States' national interests. Individual Marines saw duty as early as 1954 when a Marine lieutenant colonel was assigned to the U. S. Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG) in Saigon, South Vietnam. The first involvement of a Marine Corps operational unit came in March 1961 with the deployment to Udorn, Thailand, of approximately 300 Marines from Marine Air Base Squadron 16 (MABS 16). The squadron's mission was to provide aircraft maintenance and flight line support operations for Air America, a U. S. company flying missions in support of the pro-Western forces in Laos. MABS 16 remained in northeast Thailand for seven months, not returning to its home base at Futenma, Okinawa, until Air America had become self-supporting in October 1961. The situation in Laos continued to deteriorate, and in early 1962, Communist aggression was threatening to spill over into neighboring Thailand. President John F. Kennedy's administration determined to protect this vitally important Asian ally and Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) member, ordered the 3d Marine Expeditionary Brigade (3d MEB) to deploy to Thailand in May 1962 as a show of force and as a demonstration of American resolve to halt the spread of Communism in Southeast Asia. As the situation in Laos stabilized, the 3d MEB, which in fact was reduced in size and actually deployed as a Marine expeditionary unit, began an incremental withdrawal, with all Marines departing Thailand by the end of July 1962. Earlier, individual Marines had been posted to South Vietnam, where they served in a variety of roles.

Prior to the signing of the 1954 Geneva Agreement that partitioned Vietnam at the 17th parallel a Marine guard detachment had been assigned to provide embassy security In addition several Marines were assigned to the MAAG staff and when it was established to the U S Military Assistance Command Vietnam USMACV When the South Vietnamese Marine Corps VNMC was established on 13 October 1954 U S Marine advisors both officers and enlisted men were assigned to provide training operational and logistic support As the VNMC expanded over time the number of U S Marine advisors assigned also grew In 1961 the commanding general of Fleet Marine Force Pacific FMFPac initiated an On the Job Training OJT Program that assigned 3d Marine Division 3d MarDiv and 1st Marine Aircraft Wing 1st MAW junior officers and staff noncommissioned officers to Republic of Vietnam RVN military units for 30 days to observe combat operations In response to increasing Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Army NVA operations in South Vietnam and to providing the Army of the Republic of Vietnam ARVN with much needed tactical mobility a Marine medium helicopter squadron with supporting elements was ordered to South Vietnam and arrived on 15 April 1962 In the closing months of 1964 the Marine Corps began assigning officers and enlisted Marines as advisors to the ARVN divisions operating in South Vietnam s I Corps Tactical Zone I Corps Red Star Over China Edgar Snow,1968 The iconic history of the Chinese Communist leaders who forever changed the course of China The first Westerner to meet Mao Tse tung and the Chinese Communist leaders in 1936 Edgar Snow came away with the first authorized account of Mao s life as well as a history of the famous Long March and the men and women who were responsible for the Chinese revolution Out of that experience came Red Star Over China a classic work that remains one of the most important books ever written about the birth of the Communist movement in China This edition includes extensive notes on military and political developments in China further interviews with Mao Tse tung a chronology covering 125 years of Chinese revolution and nearly a hundred detailed biographies of the men and women who were instrumental in making China what it is today Knowledge Production in Mao-Era China Rui Kunze,Marc Andre Matten,2021-10-15 This book traces and analyzes the transformation of the public discourse of science and technology in Mao era China Based on extensive primary sources such as science dissemination materials and technical handbooks as well as mass media products of the Great Leap Forward and the Cultural Revolution periods this book delineates the emergence of a pragmatic approach to knowledge in society To achieve the goal of fast modernization with limited financial human and material resources the party state accommodated Western and local modern and traditional knowledges in the fields of agricultural mechanization steel production and Chinese veterinary medicine The case studies demonstrate that scientific knowledge production in the Mao era included various social groups and was entangled with political and cultural issues This reveals and explains the continuity of scientific thinking across the historical divides of 1949 and 1978 which has hitherto been underestimated
