Mapping Islamic Studies Azim Nanji, 2011-09-20 Since its founding by Jacques Waardenburg in 1971 Religion and Reason has been a leading forum for contributions on theories, theoretical issues and agendas related to the phenomenon and the study of religion. Topics include among others category formation, comparison, ethnophilosophy, hermeneutics, methodology, myth, phenomenology, philosophy of science, scientific atheism, structuralism and theories of religion. From time to time the series publishes volumes that map the state of the art and the history of the discipline. The Bloomsbury Companion to Islamic Studies Clinton Bennett, 2014-11-20 The Bloomsbury Companion to Islamic Studies is a comprehensive one-volume reference guide to Islam and study in this area. A team of leading international scholars, Muslim and non-Muslim, cover important aspects of study in the field, providing readers with a complete and accessible source of information to the wide range of methodologies and theoretical principles involved. Presenting Islam as a variegated tradition, key essays from the contributors demonstrate how it is subject to different interpretations, with no single version privileged. In this volume Islam is treated as a lived experience, not only as a theoretical ideal or textual tradition. Featuring a series of indispensable research tools, including a substantial A-Z of key terms and concepts, chronology and a detailed list of resources, this is the essential reference guide for anyone working in Islamic Studies.

Secularism and Religion-Making Markus Dressler, Arvind Mandair, 2011-10-03 This book conceives of religion-making broadly as the multiple ways in which social and cultural phenomena are configured and reconfigured within the matrix of a world religion discourse that is historically and semantically rooted in particular Western and predominantly Christian experiences, knowledges and institutions. It investigates how religion is universalized and certain ideas, social formations and practices rendered religious are thus integrated in and subordinated to very particular, mostly liberal secular assumptions about the relationship between history, politics and religion. The individual contributions, written by a new generation of scholars with decisively interdisciplinary approaches, examine the processes of translation and globalization of historically specific concepts and practices of religion and its dialectical counterpart, the secular, into new contexts. This volume contributes to the relatively new field of thought that aspires to unravel the thoroughly intertwined relationships between religion and secularism as modern concepts.

Islam on Campus Alison Scott-Baumann, Mathew Guest, Shuruq Naguib, Sariya Cheruvallil-Contractor, Aisha Phoenix, 2020-10-16 Islam on Campus explores how Islam is represented, perceived and lived within higher education in Britain. It is a book about the changing nature of university life and the place of religion within it. Even while many universities maintain ambiguous or affirming orientations to religious institutions for reasons to do with history and ethos, much western scholarship has presumed higher education to be a strongly secularizing force. This framing has resulted in religion often being marginalized or ignored as a cultural irrelevance by the university sector. However, recent times have seen higher education increasingly drawn into political discourses that problematize religion in general and Islam in particular as an object of risk Using the largest data set yet collected in the UK this book explores university life and the ways in which ideas about Islam and Muslim identities are produced experienced perceived appropriated and objectified It asks what role universities and Muslim higher education institutions play in the production reinforcement and contestation of emerging narratives about religious difference This is a culturally nuanced treatment of universities as sites of knowledge production and contexts for the negotiation of perspectives on culture and religion among an emerging generation It demonstrates the urgent need to release Islam from its official role as the othered the feared When universities achieve this we will be able to help students of all affiliations and of none to be citizens of the campus in preparation for being citizens of the world

Muslims in the United States Karen Isaksen Leonard, 2003-06-19 As the United States wages war on terrorism the country's attention is riveted on the Muslim world as never before While many cursory press accounts dealing with Muslims in the United States have been published since 9/11 few people are aware of the wealth of scholarly research already available on the American Islamic population In Muslims in the United States: The State of Research Karen Isaksen Leonard mines this rich vein of research to provide a fascinating overview of the history and contemporary situation of American Muslim communities Leonard describes how Islam never a monolithic religion has inevitably been shaped by its experience on American soil American Muslims are a religious minority and arbiters of Islamic cultural values and jurisprudence must operate within the framework of America's secular social and legal codes while coping with the ethnic differences among Muslim groups that have long divided their communities Arab Muslims tend to dominate mosque functions and teaching Arabic and the Qur'an whereas South Asian Muslims have often focused on the regional and national mobilization of Muslims around religious and political issues By the end of the 20th century however many Muslim immigrants had become American citizens prompting greater interchange among these groups and bridging some cultural differences African American Muslims remain the most isolated group a minority within a minority Many African American men have converted to Islam while in prison leading to a special concern among African American Muslims for civil and religious rights within the prison system Leonard highlights the need to expand our knowledge of African American Muslim movements which are often not regarded as legitimate by immigrant Muslims Leonard explores the construction of contemporary American Muslim identities examining such factors as gender sexuality race class and generational differences within the many smaller national origin and sectarian Muslim communities including secular Muslims Sufis and fundamentalists Muslims in the United States provides a thorough account of the impact of September 11th on the Muslim community Before the terrorist attacks Muslim leaders had been mostly optimistic envisioning a growing role for Muslims in U.S. society Afterward despite a brave show of unity and support for the nation Muslim organizations became more open in showing their own conflicts and divisions and more vocal in opposing militant Islamic ideologies By providing a concise summary of significant historical and contemporary research on Muslims in the United States this volume will become an essential resource for both the scholar and the general reader interested in understanding the diverse communities that constitute Muslim America      Dynamic Islam Jon Armajani, 2004 Dynamic Islam analyzes the lives and works of four of the most influential liberal diaspora Muslim intellectuals of the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries Fatima Mernissi Leila Ahmed Fazlur Rahman and Mohammed Arkoun These prolific scholars are among the first generation of Muslims writing in Western languages who have intentionally directed their works toward audiences in the West as well as the Muslim world Jon Armajani examines the way these cutting edge scholars have interpreted the Quran Hadith and Islamic history as they have constructed their visions for Islam in the modern world Armajani vividly describes their perspectives on women and gender veiling Islamic revivalism Islam and democracy and Islamic mysticism The volume also situates their ideas with respect to conservatively minded western Muslims and Islamic revivalists      Islam Jacques

Waardenburg, 2008-08-22 This book presents some twenty essays on different aspects of Islam in history and the present These essays are grouped into eight larger sections The first The Beginnings deals with the transition from pre Islamic understandings and reason an essential part of the Quranic message The next two sections deal with Islam specifically as a religion with its particular signs and symbols The question of rules of interpretation in Islam and its structural features is discussed here Sections four and five deal with ethics in Islam including Muslim identity and human rights and certain social functions of Islam Section six introduces some 19th and 20th century reform movements with special attention given to developments in Saudi Arabia and the puritan characteristics of present day Islamic revival movements The final two sections discuss contemporary issues Islamization processes and policies Islamic ideologies the ideologization of Islam and the political uses of religion Throughout the book the author shows the links between the religious and other interpretations and uses made of Islam and the contexts in which they are made The Introduction signals some important developments in Islamic studies since World War II      Muslims as Actors Jacques Waardenburg, 2012-02-13 This book deals with Islamic studies and with the question how the scholarly study of religion can contribute to the study of Islam The author advocates studying Islamic phenomena as signs and symbols interpreted and applied in diverse ways in existing traditions He stresses the role of Muslims as actors in the ongoing debate about the articulation of Islamic ways of life and construction of Islam as a religion A careful study of this debate should steer clear of political religious and ideological interests Research in this area by Muslims and non Muslim scholars alike should address the question of what Muslims have made of their Islam in specific circumstances Current political contexts have created an unhealthy climate for pursuing an open approach to Islam based on reading observing listening and reflecting Yet precisely nowadays we need to look anew at ways of Muslim thinking and acting that refer to Islam and to avoid certain schemes of interpreting Muslim realities that are no longer adequate for present day Muslim life situations Muslim recourse to Islam can be studied as human constructions of value and meaning and relations between Muslims and others can be seen in terms of human interaction without blame always falling on Islam

as such Contemporary Islamic Discourse in the Malay-Indonesian World Azhar Ibrahim, 2022-11-24 While many books have probed the role of Islam in political and social change in Southeast Asia over the past three decades few have focused on the power of the religious discourse itself in shaping this transformation Contemporary Islamic Discourse in the Malay Indonesian World captures the interplay between religion and social thought in comparative case studies from Malaysia Indonesia and Singapore Drawing on a critical sociology of knowledge and a profound understanding of historical contexts the central focus is on Muslim intellectuals who have grappled with the impact of modernity in these societies between those seeking to reform Islam's role and those who take a hardline defensive stance The discussion deals successively with the role of religious traditionalism the upsurge of dakwah revivalism and the public sphere attitudes towards democracy and pluralism and finally the ideas advanced by liberal Islam and its opponents Above all Azhar Ibrahim offers the reader a creative way of understanding the modern Islamic discourse and its relationship to the remaking of society at large Azhar Ibrahim's book cuts through the noise of much discourse on Islam and puts perspective to a vast amount of materials effectively constructing their actual social and historical meaning It should be read by all those seeking an in depth understanding of contemporary Southeast Asia even beyond the particular issues of Islam and Muslims Shaharuddin Maaruf Academy of Malay Studies University of Malaya This book is a must read for all those interested in a critical evaluation of the force and implications of religious traditionalism conservatism and revivalism on the development of plural and democratic Muslim societies in Southeast Asia and the challenges they pose to critical voices struggling for the relevance of ethical and humanist traditions of Islam Noor Aisha binte Abdul Rahman Department of Malay Studies National University of Singapore memoirs written in Tehran during Ivanow's final years have now been edited with substantial annotations by Farhad Daftary. They reveal for the first time the circumstances under which modern Ismaili studies were initiated and an eyewitness account of several regions during the early decades of the twentieth century before the rapid onset of modernisation. The Heritage of Soviet Oriental Studies Michael Kemper, Stephan Conermann, 2011-02-01 This book examines the Russian Soviet intellectual tradition of Oriental and Islamic studies which comprised a rich body of knowledge especially on Central Asia and the Caucasus. The Soviet Oriental tradition was deeply linked to politics probably even more than other European Orientalisms. It breaks new ground by providing Western and post-Soviet insider views especially on the features that set Soviet Oriental studies apart from what we know about its Western counterparts for example the involvement of scholars in state supported anti-Islamic agitation the early and strong integration of Orientals into the scientific institutions the spread of Oriental scholarship over the Oriental republics of the USSR and its role in the Marxist reinterpretation of the histories of these areas. The authors demonstrate the declared emancipating agenda of Soviet scholarship with its rhetoric of anti-colonialism and anti-imperialism made Oriental studies a formidable tool for Soviet foreign policy towards the Muslim World and just like in the West the Iranian Revolution and the mujahidin resistance to the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan necessitated a thorough redefinition of Soviet Islamic studies in the early 1980s. Overall the book provides a comprehensive analysis of Soviet Oriental studies exploring different aspects of writing on Islam and Muslim history societies and literatures. It also shows how the legacy of Soviet Oriental studies is still alive especially in terms of interpretative frameworks and methodology after 1991. Soviet views on Islam have contributed significantly to nation building in the various post-Soviet and Russian Muslim republics. Modern Challenges Mohammed Hashas, 2021-03-12 This book brings together international scholars of Islamic philosophy theology and politics to examine these current major questions: What is the place of pluralism in the Islamic founding texts? How have sacred and prophetic texts been interpreted throughout major Islamic intellectual history by the Sunnis and Shi'a? How does contemporary Islamic thought treat religious and political diversity in modern nation states and in societies in transition? How is pluralism dealt with in modern major and minor Islamic contexts? How does modern political Islam deal with pluralism in the public sphere? And what are the major internal and external challenges to pluralism in Islamic contexts? These questions that have become of paramount relevance in religious studies especially during the last three-four decades are answered as critically highlighted in Islamic founding sources the formative classical sources and how it has been lived and practiced in past and present Islamic majority societies and communities around the world. Case studies cover Egypt Turkey Indonesia and Thailand besides various internal references to other contexts. Theorizing Islam Aaron W.

Hughes, 2014-09-11 The scholarly study of Islam has become ever more insular and apologetic. Academic Islamic Studies has tried to maintain a focus on truth authenticity experience and meaning and has effectively avoided discussion of larger social cultural and ideological issues Many scholars of Islam have presented themselves to their colleagues the media and the public as the interpreters of Islam and have done so with an interpretation which tends almost universally to the liberal and egalitarian The ignorance and hostility which the Islamic faith has faced since 9 11 has partly necessitated the taking of such a position But as Theorizing Islam argues the issue remains that only one interpretation of Islam is generally being presented and as with any interpretation this has its own assumptions The aim of Theorizing Islam is to explore the potential for a fuller more honest and more sophisticated approach to both theory and methodology in the academic study of Islam
