Maps Of Africa To 19:

Decolonizing the Map James R. Akerman, 2017-06-16 Almost universally newly independent states seek to affirm their independence and identity by making the production of new maps and atlases a top priority For formerly colonized peoples however this process neither begins nor ends with independence and it is rarely straightforward Mapping their own land is fraught with a fresh set of issues how to define and administer their territories develop their national identity establish their role in the community of nations and more The contributors to Decolonizing the Map explore this complicated relationship between mapping and decolonization while engaging with recent theoretical debates about the nature of decolonization itself These essays originally delivered as the 2010 Kenneth Nebenzahl Jr Lectures in the History of Cartography at the Newberry Library encompass more than two centuries and three continents Latin America Africa and Asia Ranging from the late eighteenth century through the mid twentieth contributors study topics from mapping and national identity in late colonial Mexico to the enduring complications created by the partition of British India and the racialized organization of space in apartheid and post apartheid South Africa A vital contribution to studies of both colonization and cartography Decolonizing the Map is the first book to systematically and comprehensively examine the engagement of mapping in the long and clearly unfinished parallel processes of decolonization and nation building in the modern world National Archives Inventory Series United States. A History of the Twentieth Century in 100 Maps Tim Bryars, Tom Harper, 2014-12-10 The twentieth century was a golden age of mapmaking an era of cartographic boom Maps proliferated and permeated almost every aspect of daily life not only chronicling geography and history but also charting and conveying myriad political and social agendas Here Tim Bryars and Tom Harper select one hundred maps from the millions printed drawn or otherwise constructed during the twentieth century and recount through them a narrative of the century's key events and developments As Bryars and Harper reveal maps make ideal narrators and the maps in this book tell the story of the 1900s which saw two world wars the Great Depression the Swinging Sixties the Cold War feminism leisure and the Internet Several of the maps have already gained recognition for their historical significance for example Harry Beck's iconic London Underground map but the majority of maps on these pages have rarely if ever been seen in print since they first appeared There are maps that were printed on handkerchiefs and on the endpapers of books maps that were used in advertising or propaganda maps that were strictly official and those that were entirely commercial maps that were printed by the thousand and highly specialist maps issued in editions of just a few dozen maps that were envisaged as permanent keepsakes of major events and maps that were relevant for a matter of hours or days As much a pleasure to view as it is to read A History of the Twentieth Century in 100 Maps celebrates the visual variety of twentieth century maps and the hilarious shocking or poignant narratives of the individuals and institutions caught up in their production and use World Directory of Map Collections Olivier Loiseaux, Section of Geography and Map Libraries, 2012-01-02 No detailed description available for World Directory of Map Collections
