Mapping It Out Mark Monmonier, 2024-05-31 Writers know only too well how long it can take and how awkward it can be to describe spatial relationships with words alone And while a map might not always be worth a thousand words a good one can help writers communicate an argument or explanation clearly succinctly and effectively In his acclaimed How to Lie with Maps Mark Monmonier showed how maps can distort facts In Mapping it Out Expository Cartography for the Humanities and Social Sciences he shows authors and scholars how they can use expository cartography the visual two dimensional organization of information to heighten the impact of their books and

Rethinking the Power of Maps Denis Wood, 2010-04-16 A contemporary follow up to the groundbreaking Power of Maps this book takes a fresh look at what maps do whose interests they serve and how they can be used in surprising creative and radical ways Denis Wood describes how cartography facilitated the rise of the modern state and how maps continue to embody and project the interests of their creators He demystifies the hidden assumptions of map making and explores the promises and limitations of diverse counter mapping practices today Thought provoking illustrations include U S Geological Survey maps electoral and transportation maps and numerous examples of critical cartography participatory GIS and map art The book will be important reading for geographers and others interested in maps and their political uses It will also serve as a supplemental text in advanced undergraduate and graduate level courses such as Cartography GIS Geographic Thought and History of Geography
