The Geospatial Web Arno Scharl, Klaus Tochtermann, 2009-02-28 The most important attribute of geospatial platforms is their unique potential to aggregate a multitude of public and private geographic data sets providing access to data from government agencies industry and the general public NASA and other organizations have a wealth of planetary science data representing the output from thousands of satellites in earth orbit and from dozens of costly missions to other planets Benefits derived from both the data and visual interfaces to access the data represent a significant return on investment for the public Integrating geospatial data with semantic and collaborative Web technology multiplies the public benefits and represents the main focus of this book The user interfaces of geobrowsers are designed for the layperson giving convenient access to all kinds of geographically referenced information Geobrowsers hide the technical details related to finding accessing and retrieving such information The daunting challenge of the Geospatial Web is to seamlessly integrate and display vastly different information modes Nowadays it is not enough to simply display a map of some region additional dynamic information modes need to be displayed and put into context from weather sensor readings and live aerial video feeds to daily news updates photo collections and video archives General Technical Report PNW-GTR ,2005

Publications, 2004-08 From Rodinia to Pangea Richard P. Tollo, 2010 The Appalachians constitute one of Earth's major tectonic features and have served as a springboard for innovative geologic thought for more than 170 years. This volume contains 36 original papers reporting the results of research performed throughout nearly the entire length and breadth of the Appalachian region including all major provinces and geographical areas. Memoir 206 was designed to commemorate the near fortieth anniversary of the publication of the classic Studies of Appalachian Geology volumes that appeared just prior to the application of plate tectonic concepts to the region. Contributions concerning structural evolution, sedimentation, stratigraphy, magmatic processes, metamorphism, tectonics, and terrane accretion illustrate the wide range of ongoing research in the area and collectively serve to mark the considerable progress in scientific thought that has occurred during the past four decades. pub desc Hemet/San Jacinto Integrated Recharge and Recovery Program, Riverside County, 2007 Upgrading and Repairing Networks Terry William Ogletree, 2004 Now in its fourth edition, this industry classic networking reference gives readers real world in depth explanations of confusing networking architectures and protocols and helps them track down and repair costly networking problems Digital Mapping Techniques '06, Workshop Proceedings David R. Soller, 2007 U.S. Geological Survey Professional Paper Suzanne Smith Paschke, 1984 Estimation of Agricultural Pesticide Use in Drainage Basins Using Land Cover Maps and County Pesticide Data, Abstracting Geographic Information in a Data Rich World Dirk Burghardt, Cécile Duchêne, William Mackaness, 2014-07-08 Research in the field of automated generalisation has faced new challenges in recent years as a result of technological developments in web based processing, new visualisation paradigms and access to very large volumes of multi source data generated by sensors and humans. In these contexts, map generalisation needs to underpin on demand mapping, a form of mapping that responds to individual user requirements in the thematic selection and visualisation of geographic information. It is this new impetus that drives the research of the ICA Commission on Generalisation and Multiple Representation, for example through its annual workshops, biannual tutorials and publications in international journals. This book has a coherent structure, each chapter focusing on core concepts and tasks in the map generalisation towards on demand mapping. Each chapter presents a state of the art review together with case studies that illustrate the application of pertinent generalisation methodologies. The book addresses issues from data gathering to multi scaled outputs. Thus there are chapters devoted to defining user requirements in handling specifications and in the application and evaluation of map generalisation algorithms. It explores the application of generalisation methodologies in the context of growing volumes of data and the increasing popularity of user generated content.
