Renaissance of Impasse Jean-François Leroux, 2004 In his 1963 debut essay for the militant Quebec journal Parti pris André Brochu invoked the figure of the sixteenth century skeptic Michel de Montaigne in the name of what Ralph Waldo Emerson responding to the same over a century earlier had called an original relation to the universe crire wrote Brochu c'est red finir la relation originelle de l'homme l'univers c'est comme crit magnifiquement Montaigne faire l'homme By tracing the idealism of nineteenth century American and twentieth century Quebec writers back to Montaigne and his rejection of Aristotelian and Scholastic reason The Renaissance of Impasse offers an alternate history to that found in much post Romantic criticism wherein modern skepticism tends to be identified with and so in a sense confined to the project of Enlightenment reason Key works from Thomas Carlyle Emerson and Herman Melville to Hubert Aquin R. Jean Ducharme and Victory Le Beaulieu serve to define and to refine the sense of an impasse personal social spiritual historical and political that accompanies the modern drive to renaissance

Elliott Carter's What Next? Guy Capuzzo, 2012 The first book about Elliott Carter's only opera or indeed about any single work by this still productive modern master In 1997 the eminent American composer Elliott Carter teamed with British music critic librettist Paul Griffiths to create the one act opera What Next Hailed by the New York Times as theatrically dynamic and poignant the opera explores how six people work together to emerge from the wreckage of an accident Today What Next enjoys a prominent position in Carter's celebrated late late compositional period In the first book to focus exclusively on one Carter composition Guy Capuzzo uses the metaphors of communication cooperation and separation to trace the dramatic arc of What Next Through an approach that places stage action words and music on equal footing Capuzzo's readings of four excerpts from the opera reveal the inner workings of Carter and Griffiths's tragicomedy Elliott Carter's What Next Communication Cooperation and Separation sheds light on a significant work by a major figure in twentieth century concert music and will be of interest to all who study American music vocal music and musical criticism Guy Capuzzo is associate professor of music theory at the University of North Carolina Greensboro

Francophone Post-colonial Cultures Kamal Salhi, 2003-01-01 A collection of discussions of literary texts from areas as diverse as Europe and North Africa the Caribbean and South Asia regions of the world that seem to have only their language in common But despite enormous differences among all the countries where French is spoken Francophone literatures tend to deal with a similar spread of issues This volume positions the study of the Francophone world and its cultures as a comparative project in which post colonial Francophone cultures and the specific alterity of these cultures emerge as inextricable from and essential to an understanding of modern France The volume is organized by region with an international roster of contributions and includes summaries of selected creative and critical works and a guide to selected terms and figures

The Postwar Novel in Canada Rosmarin Heidenreich, 1989-10-31 As a comparative study which includes the analysis of both English Canadian and Quebec novels this book provides an overview of the novel as it has developed in this country since the Second World War Focusing on narratological rather than thematic elements the book represents a systematic application of the insights and analytical tools of reader reception theory in particular the models proposed by Wolfgang Iser and Hans Robert Jauss Placing the emphasis on the text and its effects rather than on the historical or psycho sociological genesis of the text the author invokes the models and paradigms of other literatures to establish a broader cultural context permitting the significance of a literature to emerge as a carrier of meaning in and beyond the culture that produces it Tracing a critical path from Hugh MacLennan s hierarchic romance structures and Gabrielle Roy s social realism to the metafiction of Hubert Aquin and Timothy Findley the author reveals that the novel s narratological features themselves are often closely linked with ideological positions
