Manufacturing For Export In The Developing World:

Manufacturing for Export in the Developing World Gerry Helleiner, 1995-09-07 In recent years much has been made of the success of developing countries particularly in East Asia which have achieved economic growth by manufacturing goods which are then exported to developed economies Case studies of five countries uncover serious potential difficulties in maintaining the pace of manufacturing for export in the developing countries and shows that there is no simple relationship between import liberalization and manufacturing for export Export-oriented Industrialization in Developing Countries Pitou van Dijck, Hans Linnemann, Harmen Verbruggen, 1987 This study describes and analyses in depth the transformation taking place in world manufacturing industry and its impact on the economies of newly industrialising countries In Part One the causes and characteristics of export oriented industrialisation are studied often using world wide cross country analyses Trade policies and export strategies underlying such industrialisation processes get much attention Part Two mainly deals with the domestic preconditions for and consequences of export oriented manufacturing production on the basis of detailed case studies of seven East and South East Asian countries Developing Countries and World Trade Yilmaz Akyüz, Yilmaz Akyuz, 2003-09 Increased participation in world trade is conventionally seen as the key to economic growth and development Yet as this book shows through its detailed examination of world trade patterns over the last 20 years while developing country exports have grown faster than the world average the rich countries have meanwhile increased their share in world manufacturing valued added This poses the vitally important policy challenge of what poor countries confronted by the vigorous expansion of their foreign trade but no comparable rise in income should do Primary commodity prices have collapsed in value and there is a real danger that the terms of trade for their exports of manufactured goods may do the same The key challenge confronting poor countries today is not more trade liberalization on their part but how to improve the terms of their participation in world trade and to increase the still limited and unstable benefits they derive from it

Inequality in the Developing World Carlos Gradín, Murray Leibbrandt, Finn Tarp, 2021 An analysis of the elevated level of contemporary global economic inequality its measurement trends over time and geography and the policy challenges thrown up by them with a focus on mainly five countries Brazil China India South Africa and Mexico Growth of Exports and Income in the Developing World Constantine Michalopoulos, Keith Jay, 1973 Global Agricultural Trade and Developing Countries M. Ataman Aksoy, John C. Beghin, 2004-11-01 Global Agricultural Trade and Developing Countries presents research findings based on a series of commodity studies of significant economic importance to developing countries The book sets the stage with background chapters and investigations of cross cutting issues It then describes trade and domestic policy regimes affecting agricultural and food markets and assesses the resulting patterns of production and trade The book continues with an analysis of product standards and costs of compliance and their effects on agricultural and food trade The book also investigates the impact of preferences given to selected countries and their effectiveness then reviews the evidence on the attempts to decouple agricultural support from agricultural output The last background chapter explores the robustness of the global gains of multilateral agricultural and food trade liberalization Given this context the book presents detailed commodity studies for coffee cotton dairy fruits and vegetables groundnuts rice seafood products sugar and wheat These markets feature distorted policy regimes among industrial or middle income countries The studies analyze current policy regimes in key producing and consuming countries document the magnitude of these distortions and estimate the distributional impacts winners and losers of trade and domestic policy reforms By bringing the key issues and findings together in one place Global Agricultural Trade and Developing Countries aids policy makers and researchers both in their approach to global negotiations and in evaluating their domestic policies on agriculture The book also complements the recently published Agriculture and the WTO which focuses primarily on the agricultural issues within the context of the WTO negotiations Manufacturing for Export in the Developing World Gerald Karl Helleiner (Oekonom, Canada),1995

Export Quality in Developing Countries Christian Henn,Mr.Chris Papageorgiou,Mr.Nicola Spatafora,2013-05-15 This paper develops new far more extensive estimates of export quality covering 178 countries and hundreds of products over 1962 2010 Quality upgrading is particularly rapid during the early stages of development with quality convergence largely completed as a country reaches upper middle income status There is significant cross country heterogeneity in quality growth rates Within any given product line quality converges both conditionally and unconditionally to the world frontier increases in institutional quality and human capital are associated with faster quality upgrading In turn faster growth in quality is associated with more rapid output growth The evidence suggests that quality upgrading is best encouraged through a broadly conducive domestic environment rather than sector specific policies Diversification is important to create new upgrading opportunities Industrial Transformation in the Developing World Michael T. Rock,David P.

Angel,2005-10-06 Grow first clean up later environmental strategies in the developing economies of East Asia China Korea and Taiwan in Northeast Asia and Indonesia Malaysia the Phillippines Singapore Thailand and Vietnam in Southeast Asia pose a critical regional and global sustainability challenge in this area of continuing rapid urban based industrial growth It is the most polluted region in the world Whilst being at the leading edge of the processes of urbanization industrialization and globalization these economies are in the midst not at the end of their urban industrial transformations During the next 25 years urban populations in the region are expected roughly to double and most of the industrial capital stock that will be on the ground by 2030 has not yet been built Given East Asia s growing size in the world s economy and ecology and its increasingly polluted environment this looming urban industrial transformation is both a challenge and an opportunity Unless steps are taken now to make this transformation more sustainable East Asia s and the world s environmental future is likely to deteriorate seriously Using detailed case studies and rigorous empirical analyses Rock and Angel leading experts in this field show that East Asian governments have found institutionally unique ways to overcome the sustainability challenge As a result of these findings they demonstrate how even low income economies in the rest of the world can use regulatory policies industrial policies and an openness to trade and foreign investment that will increase the competitiveness of their firms whilst improving their environmental performance thus proving an important antidote to those who argue that poor countries cannot afford to clean up their environment whilst their economies remain under developed

China's Growing Role in World Trade Robert C. Feenstra, 2010-03-10 In less than three decades China has grown from playing a negligible role in international trade to being one of the world's largest exporters a substantial importer of raw materials intermediate outputs and other goods and both a recipient and source of foreign investment Not surprisingly China's economic dynamism has generated considerable attention and concern in the United States and beyond While some analysts have warned of the potential pitfalls of China's rise the loss of jobs for example others have highlighted the benefits of new market and investment opportunities for US firms Bringing together an expert group of contributors China's Growing Role in World Trade undertakes an empirical investigation of the effects of China's new status The essays collected here provide detailed analyses of the microstructure of trade the macroeconomic implications sector level issues and foreign direct investment This volume's careful examination of micro data in light of established economic theories clarifies a number of misconceptions disproves some conventional wisdom and documents data patterns that enhance our understanding of China's trade and what it may mean to the rest of the world

Economic Diversification in Developing Countries Ms. Corinne C Delechat, Mr. Giovanni Melina, Ms. Monique Newiak, Mr. Chris Papageorgiou, Mr. Nikola Spatafora, 2024-07-30 This paper examines the significance and impact of broad based and industrial policies on economic diversification in developing economies supported by a literature review case studies and IMF analyses Economic diversification entails shifting from traditional sectors like agriculture and mining to a variety of high quality services and sectors This transition is crucial for adapting to global market fluctuations and promoting sustainable growth and improved living standards A literature review including many IMF contributions reveals a strong correlation between economic diversification and improved macroeconomic performance in developing countries such as faster economic growth and higher incomes per capita Factors influencing economic diversification include macroeconomic stability infrastructure quality workforce skills credit access regulatory environment and income equality Six case studies highlight the experiences of Costa Rica Gabon Georgia India Senegal and Vietnam demonstrating that successful diversification strategies require a long term commitment and effective broad based policies Industrial policies can support diversification by addressing market failures but they must be well designed and effectively implemented Common lessons include the necessity of maintaining macroeconomic stability investing in human capital and fostering competition Sector specific mechanisms like Special Economic Zones should be used cautiously emphasizing underlying bottlenecks and minimizing fiscal costs Country specific insights include Costa Rica's strategic policy shift towards export orientation Gabon's reduced dependence on oil Georgia's market friendly policies India's skilled labor and software clusters Senegal's infrastructure and business environment improvements and Vietnam's transition from an agrarian to an industrial economy The IMF's engagement in diversification emphasizes improving human capital infrastructure reducing trade barriers and promoting international trade integration Policymakers researchers and international organizations increasingly recognize the importance of economic diversification for resilient sustainable and inclusive growth requiring nuanced policy interventions tailored to each country's context and capabilities India's Manufacturing Sector, 2003 Released by the Prime Minister of India Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee on 24th May 2003 this book brings together 3 top ranking independent reports that outlining a comprehensive manufacturing policy framework for India

Competitiveness Strategy in Developing Countries Ganeshan Wignaraja, 2003-10-04 Globalization and structural adjustment offer many opportunities for export orientated industrialization in developing economies As a group competitiveness in the developing countries has improved but while East Asian economies have had rapid export growth and technological upgrades South Asian and African economies have lagged behind Old structures institutions behavioural patterns and public policies are ill adapted to deal with the challenges posed by technological change and economic liberalization Consequently there is an urgent need for change in government and private sector attitudes and strategies This volume seeks to generalise the lessons across developing country and enterprise cases and sheds light on which trade and industrial strategies and instruments work best and which do not work in relation to manufacturing competitiveness

Global Business Cycles and Developing Countries Eri Ikeda, 2019-09-17 This book investigates how global business cycles impact the economies of developing countries Global business cycles the wave like movements of economic expansion followed by contraction in aggregate economic activities impact all economies comprising the global economy The patterns being shown in developing countries correspond increasingly to those in the global north and yet there is a relative dearth of studies exploring whether global business cycles exist and how they operate in developing economies This book explores how cycles operate at the global and sub global developing country levels with a particular focus on the level of development and the structure of the economies Drawing an important distinction between cycles and fluctuations the book criticises mainstream conceptualisation and identification of cycle phenomena and instead proposes an alternative conception and methodology for the identification of cycles Along the way the book also delves into the manufacturing and rise of China and other potential competitors in the industrial arena as increasingly important drivers of global cycles and global economic growth This book will be an important read for researchers and upper level students of development economics and international political economy Peasants and Globalization A. Haroon Akram-Lodhi, Cristóbal Kay, 2009 In 2007 for the first time in human history a majority of the world's population lived in cities However on a global scale poverty overwhelmingly retains a rural face This book assembles an unparalleled group of internationally eminent scholars in the field of rural development and social change in order to explore historical and contemporary processes of agrarian change and transformation and their consequent impact upon the livelihoods poverty and well being of those who live in the countryside The book provides a critical analysis of the extent to which rural development trajectories have in the past and are now promoting a change in rural production processes the accumulation of rural resources and shifts in rural politics and the implications of such trajectories for peasant livelihoods and rural workers in an era of globalization Peasants and Globalization thus explores continuity and change in the debate on the agrarian question from its early formulation in the late 19th century to the continuing relevance it has in our times including chapters from Terence Byres Amiya Bagchi Ellen Wood Farshad Araghi Henry Bernstein Saturnino M Borras Ray Kiely Michael Watts and Philip McMichael Collectively the contributors argue that neoliberal social and economic policies have in deepening the market imperative governing the contemporary world food system not only failed to tackle to underlying causes of rural poverty but have indeed deepened the agrarian crisis currently confronting the livelihoods of peasant farmers and rural workers This crisis does not go unchallenged as rural social movements have emerged for the first time on a transnational scale Confronting development policies that are unable to reduce let alone eliminate rural poverty transnational rural social movements are attempting to construct a more just future for the world s farmers and rural workers
