Mao Tse Tung A Critical Biography:

Mao Tse-tung Stephen Uhalley,1975 The Private Life of Chairman Mao Li Zhi-Sui,1996-04-02 The most revealing book ever published on Mao perhaps on any dictator in history Professor Andrew J Nathan Columbia University From 1954 until Mao Zedong's death twenty two years later Dr Li Zhisui was the Chinese ruler's personal physician which put him in daily and increasingly intimate contact with Mao and his inner circle in The Private Life of Chairman Mao Dr Li vividly reconstructs his extraordinary experience at the center of Mao's decadent imperial court Dr Li clarifies numerous long standing puzzles such as the true nature of Mao's feelings toward the United States and the Soviet Union He describes Mao's deliberate rudeness toward Khrushchev and reveals the actual catalyst of Nixon's historic visit Here are also surprising details of Mao's personal depravity we see him dependent on barbiturates and refusing to wash dress or brush his teeth and the sexual politics of his court To millions of Chinese Mao was more god than man but for Dr Li he was all too human Dr Li's intimate account of this lecherous paranoid tyrant callously indifferent to the suffering of his people will forever alter our view of Chairman Mao and of China under his rule Praise for The Private Life of Chairman Mao From now on no one will be able to pretend to understand Chairman Mao's place in history without reference to this revealing account Professor Lucian Pye Massachusetts Institute of Technology Dr Li does for Mao what the physician Lord Moran's memoir did for Winston Churchill turns him into a human being Here is Mao unveiled eccentric demanding suspicious unregretful lascivious and unfailingly fascinating Our view of Mao will never be the same again Ross Terrill author of China in Our Time An extraordinarily intimate portrait of Mao Dr Li portrays Mao's imperial court as a place of boundless decadence licentiousness selfishness relentless toadying and cutthroat political intrigue Richard Bernstein The New York Times One of the most provocative books on Mao to appear since the publication of Edgar Snow's Red Star Over China Paul G Pickowicz The Wall Street Journal Mao Tse-Tung's Theory of Dialectic F.Y.K. Soo,2012-12-06 The year 1979 ushered in a new phase in China's long and continuous revolution Currently this new phase is being symbolically referred to by the Chinese leaders themselves as the New Long March a continuation of the legendary and historical Long March in terms of modernization which comprises the Four Modernizations Agriculture Industry Science and Technology and Military Defense Such an all encompassing attempt at modernization may appear to some at least to be something new or may indicate a radical shift in her policy But upon closer examination this decision seems only to reflect an historical continuity in terms of the two major long term goals of the Chinese Revolution national independence and modernization or industrialization The former would make China strong the latter wealthy For ever since the Opium War in 1840 and throughout the Revolutions of 1911 and 1949 China has always pursued these two revolutionary goals though with different emphases at different times This has been especially true during the past three decades as this twofold goal has dictated all of China's important policies both domestic and foreign In other words while the concrete policies may have appeared to be lacking in unity at times they have been formulated with the specific intent of achieving national independence and modernization From this perspective the New Long March marks the passage of post Mao China beyond the transition of succession toward the continued pursuit of the same revolutionary goals

Thomas Kampen,2000 Analyses the power struggles within the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party between 1931 when several Party leaders left Shanghai and entered the Jiangxi Soviet and 1945 by which time Mao Zedong Liu Shaoqi and Zhou Enlai had emerged as senior CCP leaders In 1949 they established the People s Republic of China and ruled it for several decades Based on new Chinese sources this study challenges long established views that Mao Zedong became CCP leader during the Long March 1934 35 and that by 1935 the CCP was independent of the Comintern in Moscow The result is a critique not only of official Chinese historiography but also of Western especially US scholarship that all future histories of the rise of the CCP and power struggles within the PRC will need to take into account Chinese Discourses on the Peasant, 1900-1949 Xiaorong Han,2012-02-01 Xiaorong Han explores how Chinese intellectuals envisioned the peasantry and its role in changing society during the first half of the twentieth century Politically motivated intellectuals both Communist and non Communist believed that rural peasants and their villages would be at the heart of change during this long period of national crisis Nevertheless intellectuals saw themselves as the true shapers of change who would transform and use the peasantry Han uses intellectuals writings to provide a comprehensive look at their views of the peasantry He shows how intellectuals with varying politics created images of the peasant a supposed contemporary image and an ideal image of the peasant transformed for political ends how intellectuals theorized on the nature of Chinese rural life and how intellectuals conceived their own relationships with peasants For Mao Philip Corrigan,Harvie Ramsay,Derek Sayer,1979-06-17 A History of the Chinese Communist Party Stephen Uhalley,1988 Historical Dictionary of the Chinese Civil War Edwin Pak-wah Leung,2002-10-16 The Chinese Civil War has been regarded by many as an important subject in the study of modern Chinese history as this protracted struggle ultimately led to the Communist victory on the Mainland and the Nationalist government s retreat to the island of Taiwan in 1949 Considered an extremely important turning point in modern Chinese history the Civil War is also of great international significance This resource the first of its kind written in English details the microscopic and macroscopic views of the Chinese Civil War people events places and institutions The Pacific War, 1931-1945 Saburo

Songe, Pauline B. Mangin, 1981 Wisconsin Library Bulletin, 1950 Chinese Revolution in Practice Guo Wu, 2023-10-24 This book employs multiple case studies to explore how the Chinese communist revolution began as an ideology oriented intellectual movement aimed at improving society before China's transformation into a state that suppresses dissenting voices by outsourcing its power of coercion and incarceration The author examines the movement's methods of early self organization grass roots level engagement creation of new modes of expression and popular art forms manipulation of collective memory and invention of innovative ways of mass incarceration Covering developments from 1920 to 1970 the book considers a wide range of Chinese individuals and groups from early Marxists to political prisoners in the PRC to illustrate a dynamic interactive process in which the state and individuals contend with each other It argues that revolutionary practices in modern China have created a regime that can be conceptualized as an ideology military propaganda state that prompts further reflection on the relationships between revolution and the state the state and collective articulation and memory and the state and reflective individuals in a global context Illustrating the continuity of the Chinese revolution and past decades socialist practices and mechanisms this study is
