Maori Origins and Migrations M. P. K. Sorrenson, 2013-11-01 Since Europeans first set foot in New Zealand they have speculated about where the Maori people came from how they made their way to New Zealand and how they lived when they arrived here Theories have abounded some of them have hardened into accepted truth The result has been an accumulation of Pakeha myths about Maori origins The process of this mythmaking is the subject of Sorrenson's book It is not an attempt to find an original or even a Pacific homeland for the Maori I leave that task to the many others who are happily engaged on it But as a study of the development of ideas this book is both fascinating and salutary Maori Origins and Migrations M. Maori Origins and Migrations M. P. K. Sorrenson, 1979 The Quest for Origins K. R. Howe, 2003-05-31 Did they come from space from Egypt from the Americas From other ancient civilizations These are some of today's most fanciful claims about the first settlers of the islands of the Pacific But none of them correctly answer the question Where did the Polynesians come from This book is a thoughtful and devastating critique of such new learning and a careful and accessible survey of modern archaeological anthropological genetic and linguistics findings about the origins of Pacific Islanders Professor Howe also examines the two hundred year old history of Western ideas about Polynesian origins in the context of ever changing fads and intellectual fashions Ko te Whenua te Utu / Land Is the Price M. P. K. Sorrenson, 2014-07-01 For more than half a century Keith Sorrenson one of New Zealand's leading historians and himself of mixed Maori and Pakeha descent has dived deeper than anyone into the story of two peoples in New Zealand In this new book Sorrenson brings together his major writing from the last 56 years into a powerful whole covering topics from the origins of Maori and Pakeha ideas about those origins through land purchases and the King Movement of the 19th century and on to 20th century politics and the new history of the Waitangi Tribunal Throughout his career Sorrenson has been concerned with the international context for New Zealand history while also attempting to understand and explain Maori conceptions and Pakeha ideas from the inside And he has been determined to tell the real story of Maori losses of land and their political responses as in the face of Pakeha colonization they became a minority in their own country Ko te Whenua te Utu Land Is the Price is a powerful history of Maori and Pakeha in New Zealand Beyond Colonial Anglicanism Ian T. Douglas, Kwok Pui-lan, 2000-01-01 This is a collection of fifteen provocative essays by a cadre of international authors that examine the nature and shape of the Communion today the colonial legacy economic tensions and international debt sexuality and justice the ecological crisis violence and healing in South Africa persecution and religious fundamentalism the church amid global urbanization and much more      History, heritage, and colonialism Kynan Gentry, 2015-04-01 History heritage and colonialism explores the politics of history making and interest in preserving the material remnants of the past in late nineteenth and early twentieth century colonial society looking at both indigenous pasts and those of European origin Focusing on New Zealand but also covering the Australian and Canadian experiences it explores how different groups and political interests have sought to harness historical narrative in support of competing visions of identity and memory Considering this within the frames of the local and national as well as of empire the book offers a valuable critique of the study of colonial identity making and cultures of colonisation This book offers important insights for societies negotiating the legacy of a colonial past in a global present and will be of particular value to all those concerned with museum heritage and tourism studies as well as imperial history      Becoming Aotearoa Michael Belgrave, 2024-10-10 In the first major national history of Aotearoa New Zealand to be published for 20 years Professor Michael Belgrave advances the notion that New Zealand's two peoples tangata whenua and subsequent migrants have together built an open liberal society based on a series of social contracts Frayed though they may sometimes be these contracts have created a country that is distinct This engaging new look at our history examines how      Maori Music Mervyn McLean, 2013-10-01 This book is the best introduction available to Maori music the instruments played the songs and dance styles and what they were used for performance composition teaching etc Based on 30 years of fieldwork that yielded 1300 recorded songs and hundred of pages of interviews and eyewitness accounts this is a classic book      The Imperial Curriculum J. Mangan, 2012-05-04 This volume presents the first comparative analysis of racial attitudes in the formal schooling of both Britain and its former dominions and colonies The various contributions examine the issue right across the British imperial experience with case studies ranging from Canada Ireland East and South Africa through the Indian subcontinent to Australia and New Zealand Racial indoctrination is considered from the perspective of both colonizer and colonized The central theme throughout is that a racial hierarchy was taught through both curriculum and text in schools throughout the former British Empire

Boundary Markers Giselle Byrnes, 2015-12-21 In a country where land disputes were the chief cause of conflict between the coloniser and the colonised surveying could never be a neutral depoliticised pastime In a groundbreaking piece of scholarship Giselle Byrnes examines the way surveyors became figuratively and literally the cutting edge of colonisation Clearing New Zealand's vast forests laying out town plans and deciding on place names they were at every moment asserting British power Boundary Markers also shows how the surveyors commercial gaze a view of the countryside coloured by the desire for profit put them at odds with the Māori view of land      A Press Achieved Dennis McEldowney, 2013-11-01 Written by a former managing editor who is also a distinguished writer this book charts the origins of the Auckland University Press up to its formal recognition in 1972 It provides a valuable document in the history of the book in New Zealand an intriguing view of university politics and administration and glimpses of New Zealand culture in the making Na to Hoa Aroha, from Your Dear Friend, Volume 1 Sir Peter Buck, Sir Apirana Ngata, 2013-11-01 The leading historian Keith Sorrenson has collected in three volumes the complete correspondence 174 letters in all between two distinguished twentieth century M ori scholars and statesmen Sir Apirana Ngata and Sir Peter Buck Te Rangi Hiroa The letters confirm that each man was indeed a totara tree of some magnificence and that each was a tree that stood alone Even today such trees remain rare writes Hirini Moko Mead History Wars and The Classroom Tony Taylor, Robert Guyver, 2012-03-01 The book is entitled History Wars in the Classroom Global Perspectives and examines how ten separate countries have experienced debates and disputes over the contested nature of the subject for example the Black Armband and Whitewash factions in Australia who adopt opposingly celebratory or denigratory views of Australian history especially when evaluating episodes of poor racial relations There are also tensions between traditional patriotic views of history teaching and reformed or new history There are issues of political control of the curriculum and parallel issues of who writes it very topical in England at the moment over two expat big picture historians who work at Harvard and Columbia Niall Ferguson and Simon Schama Telling Pacific Lives Vicki Luker, Brij V. Lal, 2008-06-01 This volume of essays is an exploration of the way in which scholars from different disciplines standpoints and theoretical orientations attempt to write life stories in the Pacific It is the product of a conference organised by the Division of Pacific and Asian History at The Australian National University in December 2005 The aim of the conference was to explore ways in which Pacific lives are read and constructed through a variety of media films fiction faction history under four overarching themes The first Framing Lives sought to explore various ways of constructing a life from a classic western perspective of birth formation experiences and death of an individual to other ways for example life as secondary to a longer genealogical entity life as a symbol of collective experience individual lives captured and fragmented in a mosaic of others lives made meaningful by their implication in a particular historical or cultural web the underlying values and world views that inform one or another approach to framing a life The second theme the Stuff of Life looked at materials methods and collaborative arrangements with which the biographer autobiographer and recorder work their objectives constraints inspirations challenges and tricks The third section Story Lines focused on formats and genres such as edited diaries collections of writings voice recordings genres of biography autobiography truth and fiction verse dance novels and the varieties and different advantages of narrative shapes that crystallise the telling of a life The final section Telling Lives Changing Lives focused on biography autobiography and the consciousness of identity history purpose lives as witness and windows telling lives as change for those involved in the tale the telling the listening The overall aim was to bring out both the generic or universal challenges of telling lives as well as to highlight the particular tendencies and trends in the Pacific Yet these four themes which seemed analytically promising at the outset proved in practice difficult to disentangle from the presentations at the workshop Provided by publisher The Making of New Zealanders Ron Palenski, 2013-11-01 Examining the development of a sense of national identity in a British colony this highly authoritative work is a valuable addition to the literature in New Zealand By looking at the onset of home grown shipping railway and telegraph networks as well as at the Maori and kiwi experiences not to mention the emergence of rugby teams this book accounts for how transplanted Britons and others turned themselves into New Zealanders a distinct group of people with their own songs and sports symbols and opinions political traditions and sense of self Tracing markers in popular culture political processes and public events this informative and thrilling history focuses on the forging of a distinctive new culture and society Sleep Around the World K. Glaskin,R. Chenhall,2013-06-05 Although humans slumber for approximately one third of our lives sleep itself is vastly understudied This volume provides a comparative frame through which we can understand the myriad ways in which sleep reflects and embodies culture as contributors examine aspects of sleep in various countries and contexts Explaining the Genetic Footprints of Catholic and Protestant Colonizers S. Barter,2016-04-30 This book points out a novel pattern in colonial intimacy that Catholic colonizers tended to leave behind significant mixed communities while Protestant colonizers were more likely to police relations with local women The varied genetic footprints of Catholic and Protestant colonizers while subject to some exceptions holds across world regions and over time Having demonstrated that this pattern exists this book then seeks to explain it looking to religious institutions political capacity and ideas of nation and race The Certainty of Doubt Miles Fairburn,William Hosking Oliver,1996 Essays written by Peter Munz s friends and colleagues to celebrate his 75th birthday themes include history the philosophy of history the philosophy of science and the problems of knowledge reflecting Munz s intellectual interests and achievements Back cover Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson,L.W. Conolly,2004-11-30 Documents the history and development of Post colonial literatures in English together with English and American literature and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide
