Mapping The Future Young People And Career Guidance:

International Handbook of Career Guidance James A. Athanasou, R. van Esbroeck, 2008-08-02 The International Handbook of Career Guidance represents a project of international professional cooperation. It is intended as a catalyst for reform and was designed to support the development of career guidance in the years to come. Working for over four years from Belgium and Australia, we had the privilege to collaborate with over 50 colleagues throughout the world to produce this Handbook. In every instance, we selected key researchers who have an established reputation in the field of career development. They agreed to be involved, and we are grateful for their support in this major effort. In this handbook, we have tried to bring together a collection that summarises the diverse aspects of career guidance. It is a synthesis of the domain of career and vocational guidance, firstly for an international readership and secondly, it is designed to act as a reference for academics, researchers, and professionals in the expanding field of career development. For this reason, the Handbook includes coverage of the background and history of guidance, right through to poignant issues relating to careers in the modern world of work. Policy issues relating to the provision of careers services, as well as professional issues relating to career education, career counselling, career assessment, program evaluation, and research methodologies, are covered.

Mapping the Future of Undergraduate Career Education Melanie V. Buford, Michael J. Sharp, Michael J. Stebleton, 2022-07-19 This timely book explores current trends and future possibilities for undergraduate career education, the nature of the changing workplace, and its impact on students in colleges and universities. Built on decades of experience in career development and professional learning, the editors raise and investigate multiple critical issues facing career educators in higher education today: preparing students for the future of work, exploring the increasing centrality of experiential learning in career education, examining innovative paradigm shifts in career education, and developing strategies for equity-focused and inclusive programming for all students. Reckoning with the effects of Covid-19 on the world of career development, this book draws on contributions from leading scholars, entrepreneurs, and practitioners from across the fields of education, business, STEM, and the humanities to offer an inclusive and innovation-focused approach to supporting scholars, practitioners, and students involved with career education, development, and counseling for a new generation and a new world of work.

Mapping the Future Caroline St. John-Brooks, Centre for Educational Research and Innovation, 1996 This report focuses on current innovations in career guidance in Austria, Canada, Finland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, and Scotland.

Resources in Education, 2000-04 Careers Education Suzy Harris, 1999-06-28 Careers Education takes a critical look at policy and practice in the context of the new role of the privatized Careers Education and Guidance Service. Suzy Harris places the present situation within the context of subordination to market principles, delineates the changing and uncertain relationship between schools and the Careers Service, shows how the politics of curriculum relevance marginalizes careers teaching, describes the downward path to complete exclusion from The National Curriculum, and points the way for policymakers to eschew rhetoric and rebuild the

Careers Service This book will be an essential resource to help careers and guidance practitioners make sense of their situation for students and research Career Development as a Partner in Nation Building Australia Wendy Patton, 2019-07-15 Despite examples of vocational guidance practice being evident in Australia since the mid 1800s there remains a spasmodic and patchwork approach to practice across the country For decades it is a field which has been paradoxically boosted and challenged by changing economic and political agendas Repeated international national and State reviews emphasise the vital nature of a systemic national approach to career development however authors repeatedly lament the lack of a sustained focus on career activity as a major national priority There is no broad comprehensive historical reckoning of the history of career development theory and practice in Australia since this early period Career development theory and practice in Australia has been forged in partnership with developments in an international context In documenting the shared history with other countries the author significantly adds to the body of knowledge on career development as a field in Australia and internationally The book provides new understandings about the historical development of this field of knowledge and in particular the challenging and cyclical nature of its policy history

No Quick Fixes Louise Stoll, Kate Myers, 2002-11. The challenge of school improvement for failing schools is a complex and much debated issue. This text attempts to help those working in or working with failing schools and aims to contradict the notion that there are no quick fixes for schools in difficulty. The issue of failing schools is looked at from a number of viewpoints. Section one contains policy perspectives, section two contains three schools' perspectives, section three contains chapters written by three external facilitators, section four addresses the issues from three prominent school effectiveness researchers, and section five gives international perspectives from the co-ordinator of the OECD Combating School Failure initiative.

Mapping Career Counseling Interventions Shékina Rochat, 2022-06-07. Mapping Career Counseling Interventions provides an innovative insight into identifying and resolving problems within career management. In recent years, myriad of counselling tools have been developed so that practitioners can offer the most appropriate support possible. To guide the selection of such tools, this book offers a map that introduces and links 63 frequent career management difficulties with more than 160 qualitative interventions and solutions. Through its highly organized layout and extensive detail, major career management difficulties, namely lack of motivation, indecisiveness, dysfunctional beliefs, lack of information, conflicts, and lack of employability, are scrutinized and divided into specific, more manageable sub-difficulties. Targeted interventions to address each of those difficulties, originating from vocational, motivational, and positive psychology, are then suggested and described. From these conclusions, the book delivers practical advice to help conduct these interventions in a sensitive and respectful manner. Overall, this book outlines the most effective ways to foster a good working alliance. One of the book's standout features is its inclusion of an inventory and card sort to facilitate the identification of obstacles to professional choice and career management. This book is a pivotal resource for the large and diverse community of career development practitioners, such as career counsellors, career advisors, employment counsellors, and career coaches, regardless of their specific audience and work settings.
