Mapping Coasts:

Mapping Coasts Lynnette Brent Sandvold, 2011 Among the greatest intellectual heroes of modern times Raphael Lemkin lived an extraordinary life of struggle and hardship yet altered international law and redefined the world's understanding of group rights He invented the concept and word genocide and propelled the idea into international legal status An uncommonly creative pioneer in ethical thought he twice was nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize Although Lemkin died alone and in poverty he left behind a model for a life of activism a legacy of major contributions to international law and not least an unpublished autobiography Presented here for the first time is his own account of his life from his boyhood on a small farm in Poland with his Jewish parents to his perilous escape from Nazi Europe through his arrival in the United States and rise to influence as an academic thinker and revered lawyer of international criminal law

Coast Lines

Mark Monmonier, 2008-09-15 In the next century sea levels are predicted to rise at unprecedented rates causing flooding around the world from the islands of Malaysia and the canals of Venice to the coasts of Florida and California These rising water levels pose serious challenges to all aspects of coastal existence chiefly economic residential and environmental as well as to the cartographic definition and mapping of coasts It is this facet of coastal life that Mark Monmonier tackles in Coast Lines Setting sail on a journey across shifting landscapes cartographic technology and climate change Monmonier reveals that coastlines are as much a set of ideas assumptions and societal beliefs as they are solid black lines on maps Whether for sailing charts or property maps Monmonier shows coastlines challenge mapmakers to capture on paper a highly irregular land water boundary perturbed by tides and storms and complicated by rocks wrecks and shoals Coast Lines is peppered with captivating anecdotes about the frustrating effort to expunge fictitious islands from nautical charts the tricky measurement of a coastline's length and the contentious notions of beachfront property and public access Combining maritime history and the history of technology Coast Lines charts the historical progression from offshore sketches to satellite images and explores the societal impact of coastal cartography on everything from global warming to homeland security Returning to the form of his celebrated Air Apparent Monmonier ably renders the topic of coastal cartography accessible to both general readers and historians of science technology and maritime studies In the post Katrina era when the map of entire regions can be redrawn by a single natural event the issues he raises are more important than ever
