Early American Cartographies Martin Brückner, 2012-12-01 Maps were at the heart of cultural life in the Americas from before colonization to the formation of modern nation states The fourteen essays in Early American Cartographies examine indigenous and

European peoples creation and use of maps to better represent and understand the world they inhabited Drawing from both current historical interpretations and new interdisciplinary perspectives this collection provides diverse approaches to understanding the multilayered exchanges that went into creating cartographic knowledge in and about the Americas In the introduction editor Martin Bruckner provides a critical assessment of the concept of cartography and of the historiography of maps The individual essays then range widely over space and place from the imperial reach of Iberian and British cartography to indigenous conceptualizations including dirty ephemeral maps and star charts to demonstrate that pre nineteenth century American cartography was at once a multiform and multicultural affair This volume not only highlights the collaborative genesis of cartographic knowledge about the early Americas the essays also bring to light original archives and innovative methodologies for investigating spatial relations among peoples in the western hemisphere Taken together the authors reveal the roles of early American cartographies in shaping popular notions of national space informing visual perception animating literary imagination and structuring the political history of Anglo and Ibero America The contributors are Martin Bruckner University of Delaware Michael J Drexler Bucknell University Matthew H Edney University of Southern Maine Jess Edwards Manchester Metropolitan University Junia Ferreira Furtado Universidade Federal de Minas Gerais Brazil William Gustav Gartner University of Wisconsin Madison Gavin Hollis Hunter College of the City University of New York Scott Lehman independent scholar Ken MacMillan University of Calgary Barbara E Mundy Fordham University Andrew Newman Stony Brook University Ricardo Padron University of Virginia Judith Ridner Mississippi State University

Terra Antarctica William L. Fox, 2011-04-15 How does the human mind transform space into place or land into landscape For more than three decades William L Fox has looked at empty landscapes and the role of the arts to investigate the way humans make sense of space In Terra Antarctica Fox continues this line of inquiry as he travels to the Antarctic the largest and most extreme desert on earth This contemporary travel narrative interweaves artistic cartographic and scientific images with anecdotes from the author s three month journey in the Antarctic to create an absorbing and readable narrative of the remote continent Through its images history and firsthand experiences snowmobile trips through whiteouts and his icy solo hikes past the edge of the mapped world Fox brings to life a place that few have seen and offers us a look into both the nature of landscape and ourselves

An Empire of Small Places Robert Paulett, 2012-09-01 Britain s colonial empire in southeastern North America relied on the cultivation and maintenance of economic and political ties with the numerous powerful Indian confederacies of the region Those ties in turn relied on British traders adapting to Indian ideas of landscape and power In An Empire of Small Places Robert Paulett examines this interaction over the course of the eighteenth century drawing attention to the ways that conceptions of space competed overlapped and changed He encourages us to understand the early American South as a landscape made by interactions among American Indians European Americans and enslaved African American laborers Focusing especially on the Anglo Creek Chickasaw route that ran from the coast through Augusta to present day Mississippi and Tennessee Paulett finds that the deerskin trade produced a sense of spatial and human relationships that did not easily fit into Britain's imperial ideas and thus forced the British to consciously articulate what made for a proper realm He develops this argument in chapters about five specific kinds of places the imagined spaces of British maps and the lived spaces of the Savannah River the town of Augusta traders paths and trading houses In each case the trade's practical demands privileged Indian African and nonelite European attitudes toward place After the Revolution the new United States created a different model for the Southeast that sought to establish a new system of Indian white relationships oriented around individual neighborhoods

Early Mapping of the Pacific Thomas Suarez, 2013-01-29 Take a journey back to the uncharted oceans with the most celebrated European explorers Interest in Southeast Asian history and culture is higher than ever before Ancient cartography of Oceania holds mysteries as old as time were these early ocean maps molded as much by fantasy as fact Early Mapping of the Pacific bravely delves into all the questions surrounding the history of maps The Pacific Ocean remained a mystery to mapmakers until the latter part of the eighteenth century This book traces the European exploration and charting of the vast ocean through a cornucopia of beautiful maps stretching from Japan on the northwest through Juan Fernandez Island on the southeast with the various islands of Oceania the primary focus It follows the history of mapmaking from Classical times up to the turn of the twentieth century The ancient seafarers who ventured eastward from Asia and were the Pacific's true pioneers left no maps They still helped make cartography history thanks to the navigational genius their descendants passed to European visitors Thus the Pacific as we now know it was formally born when the colonization of America partitioned the seas between Europe and Asia into two This gorgeous edition presents nearly 300 rare Asia maps and early prints compiled by expert Thomas Suarez Topics addressed include The Pacific Islands and Their People Mariners Mapmakers and the Great Ocean The Pacific Evolves after Magellan In the Wake of the Solomon Islands Earliest Mapping of Australia and New Zealand The Age of Enlightenment The Three Voyages of James Cook The Discovery of Tahiti and Hawaii Micronesia the Elusive Isles Surveyors Whalers and Missionaries You too can share in the wonder of these explorers vast geographical and cultural discoveries and the voyages that led to them in this comprehensive cartography book

The Shaping of Africa Francesc Relaño, 2019-06-04 This title was first published in 2002 When did Africa emerge as a continent in the European mind This book aims to trace the origins of the idea of Africa and its evolution in Renaissance thought Particular attention is given to the relationship between the process of acquiring knowledge through travel and exploration and its representation within a discourse which also includes previously acquired cosmographical elements Among the themes investigated are How did the image of Africa evolve from the conception of a symbolic space to a Euclidean representation How did the Renaissance rediscovery of Antiquity interact with the Portuguese discoveries along the African coast And once Africa was circumnavigated how was the inner landmass depicted in the absence of first hand knowledge Also overall in this whole process what was the interplay of myth and reality

Mapping Discord Jeffrey N.

Peters, 2004 Mapping Discord examines a series of allegorical maps published in France during the seventeenth century that cast in spatial terms a number of heated aesthetic and social debates. It discusses the convergence of map making and literary creation in the context of early modern cartographic practice and demonstrates that the unique language of allegorical cartography raises important theoretical questions about the relations between rationalist discourses of science and the figural designs of imaginative writing. In detailed analyses of the imaginary maps that appeared in seventeenth century novels and stories as well as of maps, atlases and geographic treatises produced by professional scholars and engineers of the period, Mapping Discord considers the ideological structure and uses of cartographic language and argues that allegorical maps have much to tell us about the potential capacity of every map to operate as a visual metaphor for power. Illustrated by Jeffrey N. Peters, who is Associate Professor of French at the University of Kentucky.

Spatial Cognition II Christian Freksa, Wilfried Brauer, Christopher Habel, Karl F. Wender, 2003-06-26 This book constitutes the second volume documenting the results achieved within a priority program on spatial cognition by the German Science Foundation DFG. The 28 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and reflect the increased interdisciplinary cooperation in the area. The book is divided into sections on maps and diagrams, motion and spatial reference, spatial relations and spatial inference, navigation in real and virtual spaces and spatial memory.

Early Mapping of Southeast Asia Thomas Suarez, 2012-08-07 With dozens of rare color maps and other documents, Early Mapping of Southeast Asia follows the story of map making, exploration and colonization in Asia from the 16th to the 19th centuries. It documents the idea of Southeast Asia as a geographical and cosmological construct from the earliest of times up until the dawn of the modern era, using maps, itineraries, sailing instructions, travelers' tales, religious texts and other contemporary sources. It examines the representation of Southeast Asia both from the historical perspective of Western exploration and cartography and also through the eyes of Asian neighbors. Southeast Asia has always occupied a special place in the imaginations of East and West. This book recounts the fascinating story of how Southeast Asia was quite literally put on the map, both in cartographic terms and as a literary and imaginative concept.

The Mysteries of the Marco Polo Maps Benjamin B. Olshin, 2014-10-29 What's the truth behind the travels of Marco Polo? A fascinating tale about maps, history and exploration. Times Literary Supplement UK. In the thirteenth century, Italian merchant and explorer Marco Polo traveled from Venice to the far reaches of Asia. A journey he chronicled in a narrative titled Il Milione, later known as The Travels of Marco Polo. While Polo's writings would go on to inspire the likes of Christopher Columbus, scholars have long debated their veracity. Some have argued that Polo never even reached China, while others believe that he came as far as the Americas. Now there's new evidence for this historical puzzle: a very curious collection of fourteen little-known maps and related documents said to have belonged to the family of Marco Polo himself. Here, historian of cartography Benjamin B. Olshin offers the first credible, book-length analysis of these artifacts, charting their course from obscure origins in the private collection of Italian American immigrant Marcian Rossi in the 1930s.

to investigations of their authenticity by the Library of Congress J Edgar Hoover and the FBI to the work of the late cartographic scholar Leo Bagrow to Olshin's own efforts to track down and study the Rossi maps all but one of which are in the possession of Rossi's great grandson Are the maps forgeries facsimiles or modernized copies Did Marco Polo's daughters whose names appear on several of the artifacts preserve in them geographic information about Asia first recorded by their father Or did they inherit maps created by him Did Marco Polo entrust the maps to an admiral with links to Rossi's family line Or if the maps have no connection to Marco Polo who made them when and why Regardless of the maps provenance this tale takes us on a fascinating journey offering insights into Italian history the age of exploration and the wonders of cartography Olshin's book tugs powerfully at the imagination of anybody interested in the Polo story medieval history old maps geographical ideas European voyages of discovery and early Chinese legends The Wall Street Journal

Overcoming Ptolemy Geoffrey C. Gunn, 2018-10-15 Studies on global metageography are enjoying a revival and in no way is this better referenced than against the geo world system bequeathed by Claudius Ptolemy almost two thousand years ago This is all the more important when we consider the longevity of the Ptolemaic construct through and beyond the European age of discovery allowing as well for its eventual revision or refinement Innovations in navigational science cartographic representations and textual description are all called upon to illustrate this theme With its focus upon the macro region termed India Extra Gangem literally the space between India and China the book unfolds a fourfold agenda First it explains the Ptolemaic world system back to classical points of reference as well as to its reception in late medieval Europe from Arabic sources Second it tracks the erosion of the Ptolemaic template especially in the light of new empirical data entering Europe from early travel accounts as well as the first voyages of discovery Third through selected examples as with India Southeast Asia and China it seeks to expose textual and cartographic adjustments to the classical models flowing from the scientific revolution Fourth through an examination of Jesuit astronomical observations conducted at various points in Asia it demonstrates how Eurasia was actually measured and sized with respect to its true longitudinal coordinates such had deluded Columbus and even succeeding generations In short this work problematizes the creation of geographical knowledge raises awareness as to the making of region in Asia over long historical time the Ptolemaic world in motion and as a more latent agenda sounds an alert as to the perils of overdetermination in the setting of modern boundaries whether upon land or sea

Mapping Different Geographies Karel Kriz, William Cartwright, Lorenz Hurni, 2010-09-15 This book is the outcome of the work of contributors who participated in the workshop Mapping Different Geographies MDG in February 2010 held in Puchberg am Schneeberg Austria This meeting brought together cartographers artists and geoscientists who research and practice in applications that focus on enhancing communication or develop and evaluate methodologies that provide innovative methods for sharing information The main intention of the workshop was to investigate how different geographies are being mapped and the possibilities for developing new theories and techniques for information design and transfer based on place or location So as to communicate these concepts it was important to appreciate the many contrasting meanings of mapping that were held by workshop participants Also the many and varied viewpoints of what different geographies are were elaborated upon and discussed Therefore as the focus on space and time was embedded within everyone's fields of investigation this was addressed during the workshop This resulted in very engaging discourse which in some cases exposed the restrictions that certain approaches need to consider For participants this proved to be most useful as this allowed them to appreciate the limits and restrictions of their own approach to understanding and representing different geographies As well the workshop also was most helpful as a vehicle for demonstrating the common ground of interest held by the very diverse areas of endeavour that the workshop participants work within

Explorations and Entanglements Hartmut Berghoff, Frank Biess, Ulrike Strasser, 2018-11-16 Traditionally Germany has been considered a minor player in Pacific history its presence there was more limited than that of other European nations and whereas its European rivals established themselves as imperial forces beginning in the early modern era Germany did not seriously pursue colonialism until the nineteenth century Yet thanks to recent advances in the field emphasizing transoceanic networks and cultural encounters it is now possible to develop a more nuanced understanding of the history of Germans in the Pacific The studies gathered here offer fascinating research into German missionary commercial scientific and imperial activity against the backdrop of the Pacific s overlapping cultural circuits and complex oceanic transits
