section of Canada's poetry of the time the most vital years thus far in the history of Canadian Literature Read the work of your favourite poets just as they first made names for themselves Rediscover the excitement you felt when you came across their poems in Arc Canada's best little magazine      The Genealogy of the Francis and Elizabeth Ewart Family Carol King Heckman, 1969      Heloise Mandy Hager, 2017-05-15 What happens when the 12th century's most famous French lovers are caught in the crossfire of factions religious reform and blind ambition Heloise is a determined young woman with an exceptional mind longing to pursue learning rather than marriage or life as a cloistered nun Her path inevitably crosses with Peter Abelard the celebrity philosopher theologian and master at Paris famed Cathedral School When two such brilliant minds meet and engage sparks are likely to ignite But theirs is an impossible love This is a time when the Gregorian Reforms are starting to bite and celibacy among the clergy and church officials is being rigorously imposed Based on meticulous up to date research and the pair's own writings this novel offers a plausible interpretation of the known facts and a vivid imagining of the gaps in this legendary story It shines a light on a changing world whose attitudes and politics are not so very different from our own      Genetic Geographies Catherine Nash, 2015-04-01 What might be wrong with genetic accounts of personal or shared ancestry and origins Genetic studies are often presented as valuable ways of understanding where we come from and how people are related In Genetic Geographies Catherine Nash pursues their troubling implications for our perception of sexual and national as well as racial difference Bringing an incisive geographical focus to bear on new genetic histories and genetic genealogy Nash explores the making of ideas of genetic ancestry indigeneity and origins the global human family and national genetic heritage In particular she engages with the science culture and commerce of ancestry in the United States and the United Kingdom including National Geographic's Genographic Project and the People of the British Isles project Tracing the tensions and contradictions between the emphasis on human genetic similarity and shared ancestry and the attention given to distinctive patterns of relatedness and different ancestral origins Nash challenges the assumption that the concepts of shared ancestry are necessarily progressive She extends this scrutiny to claims about the natural differences between the sexes and the nature of reproduction in studies of the geography of human genetic variation Through its focus on sex nation and race and its novel spatial lens Genetic Geographies provides a timely critical guide to what happens when genetic science maps relatedness      Modernity in Islamic Tradition Florian Zemmin, 2018-07-23 What does it mean to be modern This study regards the concept of society as foundational to modern self understanding Identifying Arabic conceptualizations of society in the journal al Manar the mouthpiece of Islamic reformism the author shows how modernity was articulated from within an Islamic discursive tradition The fact that the classical term umma was a principal term used to conceptualize modern society suggests the convergence of discursive traditions in modernity rather than a mere diffusion of European concepts      The Unfinished Manner Elizabeth Wanning Harries, 1994 The Unfinished Manner examines the fragments produced by European writers and artists in the eighteenth century and earlier fragments that were not the result of an inability to finish either texts or buildings but rather deliberate refusals to make the traditional gestures of conclusion Most books published in the past few years on the fragment and the unfinished see it as a peculiarly Romantic early nineteenth century exclusively poetic form Elizabeth Wanning Harries argues instead that the fragment not only had a long history beginning with Petrarch but also played an important part in the history of the novel and other kinds of prose Conceptualizing the fragment as a genre Harries sheds a new light on the practice of reading fiction and reading ruins in the eighteenth century complex practices that often require oscillation between two perspectives or ways of reading She also explores the gendering of forms in eighteenth century aesthetics the perception of fragments as feminine beautiful rather than masculine sublime and speculates on the fragment's meaning within the context of eighteenth century social mythologies as well as those of later eras Finally she rereads Coleridge's Kubla Khan to show its roots in eighteenth century fragmentary textual practices The Unfinished Manner takes up the questions that arise when writers and artists treat apparently unfinished forms fragments ruins torsos sketches as finished both in the eighteenth century and implicitly today Harries's treatments of Petrarch as the initiator of the fragment tradition of Sterne in relation to biblical criticism of Coleridge's Kubla Khan in relation to Sterne's Tristram Shandy and of fragments in their relation to the feminine are original and revisionary contributions that seriously challenge some critical assumptions about Romanticism and its relationship to eighteenth century texts
