Early Islam Between Myth and History Sulaimān 'Alī Murād, 2006 This examination of the mythification of al-ʿaṣā al-Baṣrī shows how the transformation of his historical person into a complete myth was accomplished along with the groups responsible for making him say and do what legitimizes their own views and practices

Paper Stories – Paper and Book History in Early Modern Europe Silvia Hufnagel, Þórunn Sigurðardóttir, Davíð Ólafsson, 2023-04-27 This peer reviewed conference volume examines paper and material aspects of the written word in early modern Europe The collection is designed around three thematic strands based on the lifecycle of handwritten documents and manuscripts and printed books first production of paper second production of books and manuscripts and third trade and exchange and ownership of manuscripts and books By tracing the history of paper books and collections through case studies of historically important objects the authors identify agents and hotspots of production trade and ownership from both centres and peripheries of Europe from the late Middle Ages until the beginning of industrialisation They thereby address material aspects of documents manuscripts and books as well as object biography from an interdisciplinary viewpoint By doing so this volume provides insight into actual practices of the past and the material history of written texts

Daily Life in the Medieval Islamic World James E. Lindsay, 2005-06-30 From the time of its birth in Mecca in the 7th century C E Islam and the Islamic world rapidly expanded outward extending to Spain and West Africa in the west and to Central Asia and the Indian Subcontinent in the east An examination of the daily life in these Islamic regions provides insight into a civilized powerful and economically stable culture where large metropolitan centers such as Damascus Baghdad and Cairo thrived in many areas including intellectual and scientific inquiry In contrast with medieval Europe there is little common knowledge in the West of the culture and history of this vibrant world as different from our own in terms of the political religious and social values it possessed as it is similar in terms of the underlying human situation that supports such values This book provides an intimate look into the daily life of the medieval Islamic world and is thus an invaluable resource for students and general readers alike interested in understanding this world so different and yet so connected to our own Chapters include discussions of the major themes of medieval Islamic history Arabia the world of Islamic origins warfare and politics the major cities of Damascus Baghdad and Cairo religious rituals and worship and a section on curious and entertaining information Author James E Lindsay further provides a focused look at the daily lives of urban Muslims during this time period and of their interactions with Jews Christians and other Muslims Timelines tables including a calendar conversion to align the Bestsellers and masterpieces Heather Blurton, Dwight F. Reynolds, 2022-08-16 Bestsellers and masterpieces The changing medieval canon addresses the strange fact that in both European and Middle Eastern medieval studies those texts that we now study and teach as the most canonical representations of their era were in fact not popular or even widely read in their day On the other hand those texts that were popular as evidenced by the extant manuscript record are taught and studied with far less frequency The book provides cross cultural insight into both the literary tastes of the medieval period and the literary and political forces behind the creation of the modern canon of medieval literature

A Companion to Muslim Cultures Aryn Sajoo, 2011-11-22 I B Tauris in association with the Institute of Ismaili Studies Culture shapes every aspect of the relationship between God and the believer in Islam as well as among believers and with those beyond the fold Fasts prayers and pilgrimages are attuned to social rhythms old and new no less than the designs of mosques and public gardens the making of religious music and ways of thinking about technology and wellbeing Ancient deserts and modern urban landscapes may echo with the same call for transcendence but in voices that emerge from very different everyday realities Scripture itself as the Prophet Muhammad knew is ever seen through a cultural lens both language and what it communicates are intimately tied to context And the cosmopolitanism that runs through Muslim history from the outset recalls T S Eliot s remark that culture is that which makes life worth living It frames how the deepest religious values are understood and practiced from modesty in adornment and solidarity with the underprivileged to integrity and accountability in political life Muslims have never been content with a passive separation of faith from their daily lives whether public or private What are the implications of this holistic view in a diverse world of Muslims and non Muslims How do core ethical values interface with the particulars of local cultures in all their complexity especially when it comes to matters like the status of women and the scope of individual religious freedom The answers at a time when secular and Muslim identities appear to be locked in conflict are explored in this Companion by some of today s finest scholars
