Professors House:

The Professor's House Willa Cather, 2024-02-02 The moving was over and done Professor St Peter was alone in the dismantled house where he had lived ever since his marriage where he had worked out his career and brought up his two daughters It was almost as ugly as it is possible for a house to be square three stories in height painted the colour of ashes the front porch just too narrow for comfort with a slanting floor and sagging steps As he walked slowly about the empty echoing rooms on that bright September morning the Professor regarded thoughtfully the needless inconveniences he had put up with for so long the stairs that were too steep the halls that were too cramped the awkward oak mantles with thick round posts crowned by bumptious wooden balls over greentiled fire places Certain wobbly stair treads certain creaky boards in the upstairs hall had made him wince many times a day for twenty odd years and they still creaked and wobbled He had a deft hand with tools he could easily have fixed them but there were always so many things to fix and there was not time enough to go round He went into the kitchen where he had carpentered under a succession of cooks went up to the bathroom on the second floor where there was only a painted tin tub the taps were so old that no plumber could ever screw them tight enough to stop the drip the window could only be coaxed up and down by wriggling and the doors of the linen closet didn't fit He had sympathized with his daughters dissatisfaction though he could never quite agree with them that the bath should be the most attractive room in the house He had spent the happiest years of his youth in a house at Versailles where it distinctly was not and he had known many charming people who had no bath at all However as his wife said If your country has contributed one thing at least to civilization why not have it Many a night after blowing out his study lamp he had leaped into that tub clad in his pyjamas to give it another coat of some one of the many paints that were advertised to behave like porcelain and didn't

The Professor's House Willa Cather, 2020-05-18 When Professor Godfrey St Peter and wife move to a new house he becomes uncomfortable with the route his life is taking He keeps on his dusty study in the old house in an attempt to hang on to his old life The marriages of his two daughters have removed them from the home and added two new sons in law precipitating a mid life crisis that leaves the Professor feeling as though he has lost the will to live because he has nothing to look forward to The novel initially addresses the Professor's interactions with his new sons in law and his family while continually alluding to the pain they all feel over the death of Tom Outland in the Great War Outland was not only the Professor's student and friend but the fiancé of his elder daughter who is now living off the wealth created by the Outland vacuum The novel's central section turns to Outland and recounts in first person the story of his exploration of an ancient cliff city in New Mexico The section is a retrospective narrative remembered by the professor

The Professor's House Willa Cather, 2002 The professor's house was published in 1925 when she was fifty two At the time she was an author with a worldwide reputation having won the Pulitzer Prize in 1923 for One of Ours Reaching the top of her profession had produced a letdown and she later wrote that around the time she won the Pulitzer she had felt that for her the world had broken in two

The situation of the professor in this novel reflects the troubled time in Cather's own life. Behind this story of Godfrey St. Peter, a man who despite his successes has at mid-career experienced a profound disappointment with life, is the fierce story of how he decides to continue living despite his disappointment. Sandwiched between St. Peter's stories is the thrilling tale of his one brilliant student, Tom Outland, who discovers the cliff dwellings at Mesa Verde. Profound and disturbing, the professor's house has taken its place as one of its author's most important works.

The Professor's House Willa Cather, 2004-06

On the eve of his move to a new, more desirable residence, Professor Godfrey St. Peter finds himself in the shabby study of his former home. Surrounded by the comforting familiar sights of his past, he surveys his life and the people he has loved: his wife Lillian, his daughters, and Tom Outland, his most outstanding student and once his son-in-law. To be enigmatic and courageous and a tragic victim of the Great War, Tom has remained a source of inspiration to the professor. But he has also left behind him a troubling legacy which has brought betrayal and fracture to the women he loves most.

Willa Cather is among the most eminent female American authors. She is known for her depictions of U.S. prairie life in novels like O Pioneers!, My Antonia, and Death Comes for the Archbishop. Cather was born in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley but her family relocated to Nebraska in 1883 and she spent the rest of her childhood in Red Cloud, Nebraska. She insisted on attending college, so her family borrowed money so she could enroll at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. While there, she became a regular contributor to the Nebraska State Journal. After failing to obtain a position at UNL, she moved to Pennsylvania where she taught high school and worked for Home Monthly and McClure's Magazine. The latter publication serialized her first novel, Alexander's Bridge, which was heavily influenced by Henry James. For her novels, she returned to the prairie for inspiration, and these works became popular and critical successes. She won the Pulitzer Prize in 1923 for One of Ours (1922).
