Arguing with Numbers James Wynn,G. Mitchell Reyes,2021-04-15 As discrete fields of inquiry rhetoric and mathematics have long been considered antithetical to each other That is if mathematics explains or describes the phenomena it studies with certainty persuasion is not needed This volume calls into question the view that mathematics is free of rhetoric Through nine studies of the intersections between these two disciplines Arguing with Numbers shows that mathematics is in fact deeply rhetorical Using rhetoric as a lens to analyze mathematically based arguments in public policy political and economic theory and even literature the essays in this volume reveal how mathematics influences the values and beliefs with which we assess the world and make decisions and how our worldviews influence the kinds of mathematical instruments we construct and accept In addition contributors examine how concepts of rhetoric such as analogy and visuality have been employed in mathematical and scientific reasoning including in the theorems of mathematical physicists and the geometrical diagramming of natural scientists Challenging academic orthodoxy these scholars reject a math equals truth reduction in favor of a more constructivist theory of mathematics as dynamic evolving and powerfully persuasive By bringing these disparate lines of inquiry into conversation with one another Arguing with Numbers provides inspiration to students established scholars and anyone inside or outside rhetorical studies who might be interested in exploring the intersections between the two disciplines In addition to the editors the contributors to this volume are Catherine Chaput Crystal Broch Colombini Nathan Crick Michael Dreher Jeanne Fahnstock Andrew C Jones Joseph Little and Edward Schiappa communicate in an Anglophone country with native speakers Times have changed Nowadays most English language communications actually occur as a lingua franca between non native speakers Teacher training courses and EFL course content neglect this changed nature of ELT This potentially leaves teachers underprepared for the fact that the actual needs of their students may not necessarily include all things Anglophone The book aims to raise awareness of the cultural bias that continues to exist in ELT It offers an approach which includes content and methodology which rebalances cultural content to include more localised and multicultural context It considers the skills needed by contemporary learners whose motivation is to interact interculturally with both native and non native speakers of the language America Builds a School System Benjamin William Frazier, John Lund, Kent State University, Mary Dabney Davis, Mary Evalyn Crookston, Max Lederer, Nora Ernestine Beust, United States.
