The Latin American Short Story at its Limits Lucy Bell, 2017-07-05 The Latin American short story has often been viewed in terms of its relation to orality tradition and myth But this desire to celebrate the difference of Latin American culture unwittingly contributes to its exoticization failing to do justice to its richness complexity and contemporaneity By re-reading and re-viewing the short stories of Juan Rulfo Julio Cortázar and Augusto Monterroso Bell reveals the hybridity of this genre It is at once rooted in traditional narrative and fragmented by modern experience its residual qualities are revived through emergent forms Crucially its oral and mythical characteristics are compounded with the formal traits of modern emerging media photography cinema telephony journalism and cartoon art

Fiction and Truth in Transition Oscar Hemer, 2012 What can fiction tell us about the world that journalism and science cannot This simple yet vast question is the starting point for an interrogation of the relationship between literary fiction and society's dramatic transformation in South Africa and Argentina over the past several decades The resulting discursive text borders on both journalism and literature incorporating reportage essay and memoir
