Russian Armour, 1941-1943 Eric Grove, 1977 Soviet/Russian Armor and Artillery Design Practices, 1995 Russian Armour in the Second World War Michael Green, 2013-09-19 This WWII pictorial history of Russia's tanks and armored fighting vehicles provides a vivid look at the Eastern Front through rare wartime photographs. When Hitler's armies advanced into Russia it was Stalin's tanks and armored fighting vehicles that finally pushed them back from the outskirts of Moscow. At the Battle of Kursk in the summer of 1943 the Soviet tanks and AFVs proved their effectiveness by defeating the cream of the Panzertruppen. From that point on the tanks and armored fighting vehicles of the Red Army continued their offensive operations until they victoriously entered Berlin in April and May of 1945. In this fascinating pictorial history military expert Michael Green provides historical images of the full range of Russian armor as well as exterior and interior color photos of preserved and restored tanks and AFVs from the period. This latest book in the Images of War series brings to life the Red Army's efforts to repel Hitler's Panzer Armies.

Designed to Kill: The Case Against Weapons Research John Forge, 2012-12-24 The pilotless drones, smart bombs and other high-tech weapons on display in recent conflicts are all the outcome of weapons research. However, the kind of scientific and technological endeavour has been around for a long time producing not only the armaments of Nazi Germany and the atomic bombs dropped on Japan but the catapults used in ancient Greece and Rome and the assault rifles used by child soldiers in Africa. In this book John Forge examines such weapons research and asks whether it is morally acceptable to undertake such an activity. He argues that it is in fact morally wrong to take part in weapons research as its primary purpose is to produce the means to harm others and moreover he argues that all attempts to then justify participation in weapons research do not stand up to scrutiny. This book has wide appeal in fields of philosophy and related areas as well to a more general audience who are puzzled about the rate at which new weapons are accumulated.

Soviet Armoured Cars 1936-45 Jamie Prenatt, 2020-10-29 The armoured car has an important place in the early history of Soviet armoured fighting vehicles. AFVs they were the most important AFV during the Russian Civil War and figured prominently in the mechanization of the Red Army that began in late 1929. The 1930s saw the development and production of a wide variety of armoured cars which were used extensively in Soviet conflicts from then on. They saw service in the Spanish Civil War, in the 1939 Manchurian conflict with Japan and in the occupation of the Baltic states and the invasion of Poland and Finland. Although many of its armoured cars were lost in the early months following the German invasion in June 1941, Russia continued with its armoured car development program and the final model, the BA-64, was accepted for service in 1942 with over 9,000 built before production ended in 1946. This detailed book provides a survey of Russian armoured cars from 1936 to 1945, focusing on the history, design and specifications of the wheeled armoured cars that entered series production, including the rail variants and tracked BA-30. Packed with photographs, cross-sections and stunning battleplates, this is a comprehensive guide to some of the Red Army's fastest AFVs.

Warships of the Soviet Fleets 1939-1945 Przemyslaw Budzbon, Jan Radziemski, Marek Twardowski, 2022-10-30 Seventy five years after the end of the Second World War the details of Soviet ships their activities and fates remain an enigma to the West In wartime such information was classified and after a brief period of glasnost openness the Russian state has again restricted access to historical archives Therefore the value and originality of this work is difficult to exaggerate It sees the first publication of reliable data on both the seagoing fleets and riverine flotillas of the Soviet Navy listing over 6200 vessels from battleships to river gunboats and mercantile conversions as well as purpose built warships Divided into three volumes this first covers major surface warships down to MTBs and armored gunboats as well as submarines For every class there is a design history analyzing strategic tactical and technical considerations and individual ship detail includes construction yard key building dates commissioning fleet designations relocations and ultimate fate Once a closely guarded secret the wartime loss of every ship and boat over 1000 is described Furthermore the confusion caused by frequent name changes is clarified by indexes that run to 16 000 items By following the ships through both their wartime and earlier history the book reveals many aspects of Russian history that remain highly sensitive clandestine co operation with Weimar Germany and fascist Italy the NKVD enforced closure of Soviet borders the Gulag Fleet the faked Metallist sinking that excused the military occupation of Estonia and the ill conceived pact with Nazi Germany Restrictions recently imposed on historical publications in Russia mean this book could certainly not have been published there as proven by the fact that most of the authors Russian collaborators preferred not to disclose their identities This is undoubtedly one of the most important naval reference works of recent years and will be welcomed by anyone with an interest in warships the Soviet Navy or wider maritime aspects of the Second World War

Armor ,1993 The magazine of mobile warfare Stopped at Stalingrad Joel S. A. Hayward,1998 By the time Hitler declared war on the Soviet Union in 1941 he knew that his military machine was running out of fuel In response he launched Operation Blau a campaign designed to protect Nazi oilfields in Romania while securing new ones in the Caucasus All that stood in the way was Stalingrad Ju 87D/G STUKA versus T-34 Robert Forsyth,2023-09-28 An examination of two of the most high profile air and land weapons to be deployed on the Eastern Front in World War II In late 1942 as part of its attempts to strike back at ever increasing numbers of Soviet tanks the German air ministry authorised the development of an adaptation and enhancement of the longspan Junkers Ju 87D 5 Stuka dive bomber The aircraft was duly fitted with two underwing pods containing 37 mm BK cannon an antiaircraft cannon with its origins dating back to 1933 The solid slow Ju 87 airframe offered the Luftwaffe an ideal platform for specialist low level tank killing operations Despite the wealth of experience possessed by some of the Luftwaffe s ground attack and dive bomber aces knocking out T 34 tanks from the air was a demanding and difficult process Nevertheless some Luftwaffe pilots notched up impressive tank scores and the Ju 87 is credited with the destruction of more than 100 tanks across the central and southern sectors of the Eastern Front including during the Battle of Kursk Including personal accounts from Stuka pilots and biographies of the anti tank aces together with detailed photographs of the cannon installation into the Ju 87G and details of the construction of the T 34 illustrated using specially commissioned artwork this book covers the epic clash of two legendary machines of World War II
