Serving the Elderly Paul Kim, 2017-07-12 Broadly speaking there are two kinds of professional practice skills relevant to the burgeoning field of gerontological human service clinical modalities and macro strategies This book identifies seven essential approaches to clinical gerontology including five of the most important macro skills that all professionals in the field will need to acquire and it presents each of them in a single collection intended to serve as a basic text and reference work for academic and in service training Each contributor to this volume speaks with recognized expertise on his her preferred subject while mindful of the larger purpose of the collection as a whole In a concluding chapter Dr Kim draws on his own long and successful experience in obtaining financial support for his programs and provides a wealth of useful information on the preparation of grant proposals and the conduct of other fundraising activities Serving the Elderly is adaptable to the uses of a wide variety of geriatric health care providers from students and trainees in social work clinical psychology and other care giving professions to already established practitioners who are branching out in gerontology

The Gerontologist as an Administrator Jeffrey Anthonie Giordano, Thomas A. Rich, 2001-03-30 For students and practitioners of gerontology this indispensable text examines all aspects of administering services to older adults Jeffrey A Giordano and Thomas A Rich both professors of gerontology with extensive experience in administration surveyed practicing administrators over a two year period The resulting integration of administrative theory and practice is evident throughout this book s 13 chapters which address everything from leadership styles and management techniques to ethical issues and community relations In addition the authors thoroughly examine the most widely encountered facets of the typical gerontologist administrator s career including communication organizational structure the role and function of human resources administration motivation and productivity supervisory responsibilities staff development financial management strategic planning program evaluation and organizational change Both undergraduate and graduate students of gerontology will benefit from using Giordano and Rich s book as a core text for administration courses Professors of gerontology administration will be relieved at last to have found a work that emphasizes the unique requirements of administering older adult programs The authors consider all three service sectors private public and not for profit in addressing those who are now in administration those who aspire to be administrators and those who will be surprised someday to be offered administrative responsibilities Assuming a basic knowledge of gerontology the text includes a learning experience following each chapter that allows readers to apply their knowledge of the field in a practical manner Other special features include information on such contemporary challenges as how to use volunteers effectively how to integrate ethics into programs for older adults how to involve staff in administrative activities how to make the most of public relations and fund raising opportunities and how to develop special projects
