Nineteenth Century Art:

Twenty-first-century Perspectives on Nineteenth-century Art Petra ten-Doesschate Chu, Laurinda S. Dixon, 2008

This book presents an interdisciplinary and inclusive view of nineteenth century art observed from the vantage point of the new twenty first century. The areas of expertise represented by the thirty essays herein span the full range of nineteenth century studies and include discussions of such artistic styles as realism impressionism romanticism and art nouveau as well as early twentieth century movements that owe their formative influence to the nineteenth century. Topics span the historical gamut from revivalism to the roots of modernism considering along the way such themes as the depiction of women Orientalism art criticism evolutionary theory political propaganda history painting landscape and national identity. Aspects of art display public monuments and international exhibitions shed light on the roles of government and individuals in the dissemination of artistic styles and subject matter. Unique in this collection is an emphasis on the marketing of art both in America and abroad which considers the important financial and commercial issues that continue to influence viewers beliefs and perceptions. Most important this book demonstrates that the rich field of nineteenth century studies continues to inspire discovery and creativity. Publisher description Nineteenth-Century Theories of Art Joshua C. Taylor, 1987. This unique and extraordinarily rich collection of writings offers a thematic approach to understanding the various theories of art that illumined the direction of nineteenth century artists as diverse as Tommaso Minardi and Georges Seurat. It is significant that during the nineteenth century most artists felt compelled to found their artistic practice on a consciously established premise.

Using the tools of the new art history feminism Marxism social context etc. An Introduction to Nineteenth Century Art offers a richly textured yet clear and logical introduction to nineteenth century art and culture. This textbook will provide readers with a basic historical framework of the period and the critical tools for interpreting and situating new and unfamiliar works of art. Michelle Facos goes beyond existing histories of nineteenth century art which often focus solely on France Britain and the United States to incorporate artists and artworks from Scandinavia Germany and Eastern Europe. The book expertly balances its coverage of trends and individual artworks where the salient trends are clear trend setting works are highlighted and the complexity of the period is respected by situating all works in their proper social and historical context. In this way the student reader achieves a more nuanced understanding of the way in which the story of nineteenth century art is the story of the ways in which artists and society grappled with the problem of modernity Key pedagogical features include Data boxes provide statistics timelines charts and historical information about the period to further situate artworks Text boxes highlight extracts from original sources citing the ideas of artists and their contemporaries including historians philosophers critics and theorists to place artists and works in the broader context of aesthetic cultural intellectual social and political conditions in which artists were working Beautifully illustrated with over 250 color images Margin notes and glossary definitions Online resources at www.routledge.com/textbooks/facos with access to a wealth of information including original documents pertaining to artworks discussed in the textbook contemporary criticism timelines and maps to enrich your understanding of the period and allow for further comparison and exploration Chapters take a thematic approach combined within an overarching chronology and more detailed discussions of individual works are always put in the context of the broader social picture thus providing students with a sense of art history as a controversial and alive arena of study Michelle Facos teaches art history at Indiana University Bloomington Her research explores the changing relationship between artists and society since the Enlightenment and issues of identity Prior publications include Nationalism and the Nordic Imagination Swedish Painting of the 1890s 1998 Art Culture and National Identity in Fin de Si cle Europe co edited with Sharon Hirsh 2003 and Symbolist Art in Context 2009 Art of the Nineteenth Century Robert Rosenblum, Horst Woldemar Janson, 1984 First published 1984 Ordered in terms of four broad historical divisions covering the period 1776 1900 the book examines the reciprocal influences of art and technology art and politics art and literature and art and music Art in the Nineteenth Century Sir Charles Waldstein, 1903

Museum and yet critics art theorists and poets during this period grappled with the question of whether the proliferation of museums might lead to the death of Art itself Did the assembly and display of works of art help the viewer to understand them or did it numb the senses How was the contemporary artist to respond to the vast storehouses of art from disparate nations and periods that came to proliferate in this era Siegel presents a lively discussion of the shock experienced by neoclassical artists troubled by remains of antiquity that were trivial or even obscene as well as the anxious aesthetic reveries of nineteenth century art lovers overwhelmed by the quantity of objects quickly crowding museums and exhibition halls In so doing he illuminates the fruitful crises provoked when the longing for admired art is suddenly satisfied Drawing upon neoclassical art and theory biographies of early nineteenth century writers including Keats and Scott and the writings of art critics such as Hazlitt Ruskin and Wilde this book reproduces a cultural matrix that brings to life the artistic passions and anxieties of an entire era

Nineteenth-century Art Walters Art Gallery (Baltimore, Md.), William R. Johnston, 2000 The 19th century holdings of the Walters Art Gallery are unique among museum collections of art from this period Not only were William T Walters and his son Henry unique in collecting the art of their own Gilded Age but they also acquired works across many key artistic periods This new title presents the highlights of this amazing collection These include paintings by Ingres and Delacroix landscapes by painters associated with the Barbizon school and the transportation series of watercolors that William Walters bought from Honore Daumier in 1864 However it is in the field of academic art which dominated French art during the Second Empire 1852-70 that The Walters excels

Local/global Deborah Cherry, Janice Helland, 2006 Local Global Women Artists in the Nineteenth Century is the first book to investigate women artists working in disparate parts of the world This pioneering collection addresses issues at the heart of feminist and post colonial studies the nature of difference discrepant modernities and cross cultural encounters Written in a lively and accessible style this lavishly illustrated volume offers fresh perspectives on women art and identity It is essential reading for anyone interested in the history of women artists and the art of the nineteenth century

Nineteenth-century European Art Petra ten-Doesschate Chu, 2003 This direct study addresses 19th century European art along with the forces that informed it Incidents from individual artists lives are included to enrich the reader's understanding of the art

Nineteenth Century Art Stephen Eisenman, Thomas E. Crow, 1994 This is a radical reconsideration of the origins of modern painting and sculpture in Europe and North America In art as in nearly every other field the nineteenth century was a time of questioning experimentation discovery and modernization Artists divined and portrayed as never before the crucial connections between seeing and knowing vision and society From Goya to Blake from Courbet to Eakins from Cassatt to Cezanne from Van Gogh to Ensor they challenged the prevailing definitions of art and the social order Nineteenth Century Art A Critical History embraces many aspects of the so called new art history attention to issues of class and gender reception and spectatorship racism and Eurocentrism while emphasizing the remarkable vitality salience and subversiveness of the era's best art Indeed the authors insist that there is a profound sympathy between these new methods and the art under examination For it was nineteenth century artists who first addressed the issues that preoccupy audiences and scholars today the relation between popular and elite culture the legacy of the Enlightenment the question of the canon and the representation of women and non European peoples This rich and diverse volume suggests that nineteenth century art remains compelling today because its critical insights have rarely been surpassed It will prove of interest not only to the specialist but to anyone fascinated by the art history and culture of this unique era
