Science, Society, and the Search for Life in the Universe Bruce M. Jakosky, 2006-10-26 Are we alone in the universe As humans are we unique or are we part of a greater cosmic existence What is life s future on Earth and beyond How does life begin and develop These are age old questions that have inspired wonder and controversy ever since the first people looked up into the sky With today s technology however we are closer than ever to finding the answers Astrobiology is the relatively new but fast growing scientific discipline that involves trying to understand the origin evolution and distribution of life within the universe It is also one of the few scientific disciplines that attracts the public s intense curiosity and attention This interest stems largely from the deep personal meaning that the possible existence of extraterrestrial life has for so many Whether this meaning relates to addressing the Big Questions of our existence the possibility of encountering life on other planets or the potential impact on our understanding of religion there is no doubt that the public is firmly vested in finding answers In this broadly accessible introduction to the field Bruce Jakosky looks at the search for life in the universe not only from a scientific perspective but also from a distinctly social one In lucid and engaging prose he addresses topics including the contradiction between the public s fascination and the meager dialogue that exists between those within the scientific community and those outside of it and what has become some of the most impassioned political wrangling ever seen in government science funding

Human-Machine Interaction Munéo Kitajima, 2016-01-05 The first goal of this book is to extend Two Minds originating from behavioral economics to the domain of interaction where the time dimension has to be dealt with rigorously in human machine interaction it is of crucial importance how synchronization between conscious processes and unconscious processes is established for a sense of smoothness and how memory processes and action selection processes are coordinated The first half this book describes the theory in detail The book begins by outlining the whole view of the theory consisting of action selection processes and memorization processes and their interactions Then a detailed description for action selection processes theorized as a nonlinear dynamic human behavior model with real time constraints is provided followed by a description for memorization processes Also implications of the theory to human machine interactions are discussed The second goal of this book is to provide a methodology to study how Two Minds works in practice when people use interactive systems The latter half of this book describes theory practices in detail A new methodology called Cognitive Chrono

Ethnography CCE is introduced which adds the time dimension to Hutchins Cognitive Ethnography in order to practice know the users systematically by designing user studies based on a simulation of users mental operations controlled by Two Minds The author then shows how CCE has been applied to understanding the ways in which people navigate in real physical environments by walking and by car respectively and explores the possibility of applying CCE to predict people s future needs This is not for understanding how people use interfaces at present but to predict how people want to use the interfaces in the future given they are currently using them in a certain way Finally the book concludes by describing implications of human machine interactions that are carried out while using modern artefacts for people s cognitive development from birth on the basis of the theories of action selection and memorization Fisheries Review ,1994 Environmental
