collection Land as Relation introduces readers to an intersectional approach to Indigenous space and land based education. Who We Are Martha Harroun Foster, 2016-01-18 They know who they are. Of predominantly Chippewa, Cree, French, and Scottish descent, the M'tis people have flourished as a distinct ethnic group in Canada and the northwestern United States for nearly two hundred years. Yet their M'tis identity is often ignored or misunderstood in the United States. Unlike their counterparts in Canada, the U.S. M'tis have never received federal recognition. In fact, their very identity has been questioned. In this rich examination of a M'tis community, the first book-length work to focus on the Montana M'tis, Martha Harroun Foster combines social, political, and economic analysis to show how its people have adapted to changing conditions while retaining a strong sense of their own unique culture and traditions. Despite overwhelming obstacles, the M'tis have used the bonds of kinship and common history to strengthen and build their community. As Foster carefully traces the lineage of M'tis families from the Spring Creek area, she shows how the people retained their sense of communal identity. She traces the common threads linking diverse M'tis communities throughout Montana and lends insight into the nature of M'tis identity in general. And in raising basic questions about the nature of ethnicity, this pathbreaking work speaks to the difficulties of ethnic identification encountered by all peoples of mixed descent. Great Plains Ethnohistory Rani-Henrik Andersson, Logan

Sutton, Thierry Veyri , 2024-12 This collection offers state of the field work in Great Plains ethnohistory, both contemporary and historical, covering the traditional anthropological subfields of ethnography, culture history, archaeology, and linguistics.

Jean Barman, 2015-02-25 Jean Barman was the recipient of the 2014 George Woodcock Lifetime Achievement Award. In French Canadians, Furs, and Indigenous Women in the Making of the Pacific Northwest, Jean Barman rewrites the history of the Pacific Northwest from the perspective of French Canadians attracted by the fur economy, the indigenous women whose presence in their lives encouraged them to stay, and their descendants who joined in this distant setting by Quebec paternal origins, the French language, and Catholicism. French Canadians comprised Canadiens from Quebec, Iroquois from the Montreal area, and Métis combining Canadian and indigenous descent. For half a century, French Canadians were the largest group of newcomers to this region, extending from Oregon and Washington east into Montana and north through British Columbia. Here they facilitated the early overland crossings, drove the fur economy, initiated non-wholly indigenous agricultural settlement, eased relations with indigenous peoples, and ensured that when the region was divided in 1846, the northern half would go to Britain, giving today's Canada its Pacific shoreline. Listening to the Fur Trade

Daniel Robert Laxer, 2022-04-05 As fur traders were driven across northern North America by economic motivations, the landscape over which they plied their trade was punctuated by sound: shouting, singing, dancing, gunpowder rattles, jingles, drums, fiddles, and very occasionally bagpipes. Fur trade interactions were in a word noisy. Daniel Laxer unearths traces of music performance and other intangible cultural phenomena long since silenced, allowing us to hear the fur trade for the first time. Listening to the Fur Trade uses the written record, oral history, and material culture to reveal histories of sound and music in an era before sound recording. The trading post was a noisy nexus populated by a polyglot crowd of highly mobile people from different national, linguistic, religious, cultural, and class backgrounds. They found ways to interact every time they met, and facilitating material interests and survival went beyond the simple exchange of goods. Trust and good relations often entailed gift giving; reciprocity was performed with dances, songs, and firearm salutes. Indigenous protocols of ceremony and treaty making were widely adopted by fur traders who supplied materials and technologies that sometimes changed how these ceremonies sounded. Within trading companies, masters and servants were on opposite ends of the social ladder but shared songs in the canoes and lively dances during the long winters at the trading posts. While the fur trade was propelled by economic and political interests, Listening to the Fur Trade uncovers the songs and ceremonies of First Nations people, the paddling songs of the voyageurs, and the fiddle music and step dancing at the trading posts that provided its pulse Montana Americana Music Aaron Parrett, 2016-07-25 Montana's relationship to Americana music is as wide and deep as the famed Missouri River that inspired countless musicians seated at its shores From the fiddling of Pierre Cruzatte and George Gibson in the Corps of Discovery to the modern day loner folk of Joey Running Crane and Cameron Boster the Treasure State inspires the production of top notch country music In the 1950s bands like the Snake River Outlaws fostered a long standing love of hillbilly honky tonk and in the 1970s the Mission Mountain Wood Band added a homegrown flavor of its own Contemporary acts like the Lil Smokies and songwriter Martha Scanlan promise a vibrant future for the local sound Author and musician Aaron Parrett explores this history to show what it means to boot stomp in Big Sky Country Canadian Cultural Heritage Bundle Sharon Stewart, Edward Butts, Rosemary Sadlier, 2013-12-10 Presenting three titles in the Quest Biography series that profiles prominent figures in Canada's history In these three books we explore the cultural heritage that is at the roots of Canada's present day multicultural society In the lives of abolitionist Underground Railway hero Harriet Tubman Metis revolutionary Louis Riel and frontiersman Simon Girty who adopted and respected Native culture long before the vast majority of white people we discover that the struggle for inclusion and human rights has existed since the dawn of Canada's modern history Includes Harriet Tubman Louis Riel Simon Girty
