Capital Cardiff 1975-2020 Alan Hooper, John Punter, 2006 Examining how the city of Cardiff has managed to transform itself in recent years this book analyses the way in which its local governments have promoted an economic social cultural physical and environmental transformation through a wide range of policy initiatives and partnerships with governments agencies and enterprises

Regional Advantage and Innovation Susan Kinnear, Kate Charters, Peter Vitartas, 2012-12-04 Regional areas are key building blocks of society in many countries This compilation uses Australian case study examples to demonstrate how regional areas are uniquely well placed to contribute to national goals in innovation infrastructure provision water and food security environmental sustainability industry diversification healthy and liveable communities and natural disaster preparedness and response Each of these themes is examined in the context of using innovative approaches from regions to deliver outcomes that are nationally significant Authorship is drawn from a balance of leading practitioners and academics to provide stories that are both engaging and rigorous The case studies are contextualised by an analysis of regional advantage literature discussion on the regional policy implications and lessons and commentary around the key trends and drivers for innovation and regional advantage in Australia The book provides a convincing argument that focusing on regional innovation and development offers significant benefits to a nation as a whole

Planning Regional Futures John Harrison, Daniel Galland, Mark Tewdwr-Jones, 2021-09-30 Planning Regional Futures is an intellectual call to engage planners to critically explore what planning is and should be in how cities and regions are planned This is in a context where planning is seen to face powerful challenges professionally intellectually and practically in ways arguably not seen before planning is no longer solely the domain of professional planners but opened up to a diverse group of actors the link between the study of cities and regions which traditionally had a disciplinary home in planning schools and the like steadily eroded as research increasingly takes place in interdisciplinary research institutes the advent of real time modelling posing fundamental challenges for the type of long term perspective that planning has traditionally afforded regional planning and its mixed record of achievement and the link between region and planning becoming decoupled as alternative regional and other spatial approaches to planning have emerged This book takes up the intellectual and practical challenge of planning regional futures moving beyond the narrow confines of existing debate and providing a forum for debating what planning is and should be for in how we plan cities and regions The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Regional Studies

The Theory, Practice and Potential of Regional Development Kelly Vodden, David J.A. Douglas, Sean Markey, Sarah Minnes, Bill Reimer, 2019-07-04 Canadian regional development today involves multiple actors operating within nested scales from local to national and even international levels Recent approaches to making sense of this complexity have drawn on concepts such as multi level governance relational assets integration innovation and learning regions These new regionalist concepts have become increasingly global in their formation and application yet there has been little critical analysis of Canadian regional development policies and programs or the theories and concepts upon which many contemporary regional development strategies are implicitly based This volume offers the results of five years of cutting edge empirical and theoretical analysis of changes in Canadian regional development and the potential of new approaches for improving the well being of Canadian communities and regions with an emphasis on rural regions It situates the Canadian approach within comparative experiences and debates offering the opportunity for broader lessons to be learnt This book will be of interest to policy makers and practitioners across Canada and in other jurisdictions where lessons from the Canadian experience may be applicable At the same time the volume contributes to and updates regional development theories and concepts that are taught in our universities and colleges and upon which future research and analysis will build

Housing transitions through the life course Andrew Beer, Debbie Faulkner, 2011-06-22 The housing we live in shapes individual access to jobs health well being and communities There are also substantial differences between generations regarding the type of housing they aspire to live in their attitudes to housing costs the nature of their households and their attitudes to different tenures This important contribution to the literature draws upon research from the UK Australia and the USA to show how lifetime attitudes to housing have changed with new population dynamics driving the market and a greater emphasis on consumption It also considers how the global financial crisis has differentially affected housing markets across the globe with variable impacts on the long term housing transitions of different populations

Decolonising Governance Paul Carter, 2018-09-19 Power may be globalized but Westphalian notions of sovereignty continue to determine political and legal arrangements domestically and internationally global issues the legacy of colonialism expressed in continuing human displacement and environmental destruction are thus treated parochially and ineffectually Not designed for dealing with situations of interdependence democratic institutions find themselves in crisis Reform in this case is not simply operational but conceptual political relationships need to be drawn differently the cultural illiteracy that prevents the local knowledge invested in places made after their stories needs to be recognised as a major obstacle to decolonising governance Archipelagic thinking refers to neglected dimensions of the earth s human geography but also to a geo politics of relationality where governance is understood performatively as the continuous establishment of exchange rates Insisting on the poetic literacy that must inform a decolonising politics Carter suggests a way out of the incommensurability impasse that dogs assertions of indigenous sovereignty Discussing bicultural areal management strategies located in south west Victoria Maluco Indonesia and inter regionally across the Arafura and Timor Seas Carter argues for the existence of creative regions constituted archipelagically that can intervene to rewrite the theory and practice of decolonisation A book of great stylistic elegance and deftness of analysis Decolonising Governance is an important intervention in the related fields of ecological ecocritical and environmental humanities Methodologically innovative in its foregrounding of relationality as the nexus between poetics and politics it will also be of great interest to scholars in a range of areas including communicational praxis land sea biodiversity design bicultural resource management and the constitution of post Westphalian regional jurisdictions APAIS, Australian Public Affairs Information Service ,1995 Vol for 1963 includes section Current Australian serials a subject list The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Urban and Regional Futures Robert C. Brears,2023-01-13 While urban settlements are the drivers of the global economy and centres of learning culture and innovation and nations rely on competitive dynamic regions for their economic social and environmental objectives urban centres and regions face a myriad of challenges that impact the ways in which people live and work create wealth and interact and connect with places Rapid urbanisation is resulting in urban sprawl rising emissions urban poverty and high unemployment rates housing affordability issues lack of urban investment low urban financial and governance capacities rising inequality and urban crimes environmental degradation increasing vulnerability to natural disasters and so forth At the regional level low employment low wage growth scarce financial resources climate change waste and pollution and rising urban peri urban competition etc are impacting the ability of regions to meet socio economic development goals while protecting biodiversity The response to these challenges has typically been the application of inadequate or piecemeal solutions often as a result of fragmented decision making and competing priorities with numerous economic environmental and social consequences In response there is a growing movement towards viewing cities and regions as complex and sociotechnical in nature with people and communities interacting with one another and with objects such as roads buildings transport links etc within a range of urban and regional settings or contexts This comprehensive MRW will provide readers with expert interdisciplinary knowledge on how urban centres and regions in locations of varying climates lifestyles income levels and stages development are creating synergies and reducing trade offs in the development of resilient resource efficient environmentally friendly liveable socially equitable integrated and technology enabled centres and regions
