On The Brink Australias Universities Confronting Their Future:

On the Brink Peter Coaldrake, Lawrence Stedman, 1998 How well placed are our universities to support the needs of the future Around the world universities must confront budget pressures and relentless change with long standing ideals and traditions called into question On the Brink outlines the big challenges facing higher education and analyses many of the conflicts in this vital but widely misunderstood area The Australian Government Muscling in on School Education

Grant Rodwell, 2020-05-07 Despite the Australian Constitution implying school education to be a state responsibility the Commonwealth has increasingly interfered with state school education The Australian Government Muscling in on School Education therefore offers a historical account of this government involvement in Australian education from federation to the present day providing a much needed fully updated and relevant overview the topic Arguing that education has become an arena for competing political forces this book examines the powerful influence of the Commonwealth over education and the political motives behind it exploring how politics influences aspects of the curriculum teaching standards assessment and reporting funding teacher selection and policy more broadly Ultimately questioning whether this influence is in the interests of the members of the community who depend on education the book holds government engagement in education to account Taking the major epochs of federalism as an organizing framework the book s chapters include explorations of The efficiency dynamic and the progressive years 1919 39 Postwar imperatives and the Menzies years 1949 72 Coordinative federalism and treading softly the Whitlam years 1972 5 and Fraser years 1975 83 Corporate federalism the Hawke Keating years 1983 96 Supply side federalism and globalization the Howard years 1996 2007 National control and the Rudd Gillard Abbott Turnbull and Morrison years 2007 15 A thorough and significant examination of the historical engagement of the Australian government in education this book is essential reading for student teachers and postgraduate students in education studies and politics Teacher Preparation in Australia Thomas O'Donoghue, Keith Moore, 2019-10-30 The book is a study of teacher preparation policy and practice in Australia from the establishment of the first colony there in 1788 to the present day It will highlight within an international context how the focus of preparation moved through the following five interrelated and overlapping phases The Market Oriented University John A Davis, Mark A Farrell, 2016-05-27 The New Inheritors Madeleine Mattarozzi Laming, 2012-12-20 This groundbreaking book examines why the majority of Australian school leavers want to go to university and have resisted government attempts to promote alternative forms of tertiary education The New Inheritors explores differences in young people s understanding of the purpose of university and their reasons for wanting to enrol The book reveals that although there has been a general shift in values towards the utilitarian perspective there is still significant support for the traditional liberal idea of university education as a cultural experience This support is concentrated in well educated families regardless of their financial resources but there is a substantial number of young people from less well educated families who have absorbed the liberal perspective The book begins with an extensive and unique overview of changes in Australian federal government tertiary education policy and changes in the public discourse on education This overview provides a framework against which differences among today's students are examined in detail Drawing on a study of over 200 secondary school students from diverse backgrounds The New Inheritors records their attitudes to university including access fees and the role of government and explores how these are formed by their family backgrounds and influenced by public policy on education The New Inheritors uncovers the complexity of young people's attitudes and what processes occur in the forming and reforming of those attitudes to university and what young people really want from university education Dr Madeleine Mattarozzi Laming is a Lecturer in Education at Australian Catholic University She has given numerous conference papers on transition from school to university and teaching students from diverse backgrounds In 2011 she received an Australian Learning and Teaching Council Citation for an outstanding contribution to student learning particularly at the first year
