The Media Offensive Alexander G. Lovelace, 2022-05-25 World War II was a media war President Franklin D Roosevelt used the press to a great extent of course but as the war progressed the media also came to influence commanders decisions on the battlefield Rescuing General Douglas MacArthur from the Philippines in deference to public opinion forced the Allies to divide the Pacific War between two competing theaters Omar Bradley s concern over US public opinion convinced General Dwight D Eisenhower to include Americans in the final assault against Axis forces in Tunisia General George S Patton Jr raced across Sicily to gain media attention and British respect General Mark Clark s hunger for publicity and the glory of capturing Rome allowed an entire German army to escape destruction Negative media pressure and the fear of V 1 bombs damaging British morale provided the impetus for the breakout of Normandy and the unsuccessful attempt to liberate the Netherlands in the fall of 1944 British general Bernard Montgomery s remarks to the press during the Battle of the Bulge almost caused him to lose his command and created tremendous ill feelings among the Allies Soon afterward Eisenhower was forced to hold the dangerously exposed city of Strasbourg because of French public opinion By V E Day even Eisenhower was attempting to get more publicity for American as opposed to Allied units The Media Offensive offers a new way to understand military media relations during World War II The press and public opinion shaped not only how the conflict was seen but also how it was fought Alexander Lovelace demonstrates that the US military repeatedly discovered that the best effects resulted from accurate news stories Truthful news reporting defined as news reporting that accurately depicts the events it describes could not be created by the military or even the media but could only emerge through a free press searching for it Lovelace recasts World War II in a new and unique fashion by placing media and public opinion at the center of battlefield decision making Unlike past scholarship on the media during World War II that focused on censorship propaganda or the adventure stories of war correspondents The Media Offensive takes the historiography of war reporting in a new direction In what could be called the new history of war reporting the focus is switched from how the military controlled reporters to how military decisions were shaped by the press
