Race And Family:

Race and Family Roberta L. Coles, 2016 The second edition of Race and Family maintains the book's distinctive feature its structural lens while featuring new material throughout Race and Family focuses on demographic economic and historical legal factors that impact all families though often disparately The text also includes separate chapters focusing on the histories and diversity within each major racial ethnic group

No More Kin Anne R. Roschelle, 1997-04-17 Black and Latino families are in fact highly family oriented and want to be involved in exchange networks but because they are economically disenfranchised they are prevented from participation The vitriolic debate on welfare reform currently sweeping the nation assumes that if institutional mechanisms of social support are eliminated impoverished families will simply rely on an extensive web of kinship networks for their survival The political discourse surrounding poverty and welfare reform has an increasingly racial undertone Implementation of social policy that presupposes the availability of family safety nets in minority communities could have disastrous consequences for many without extended kin networks Many scholars and political analysts assume that thriving kin and non kin social support networks continue to characterize minority family life Policy recommendations based on these underlying assumptions may lead to the implementation of harmful social policy No More Kin examines extended kinship networks among African American Chicano Puerto Rican and non Hispanic white families in contemporary America and seeks to provide an integrated theoretical framework for examining how the simultaneity of gender race and class oppression affects minority family organization Breaking new ground in a variety of fields No More Kin is sure to become a valuable resource for students and professionals in family studies gender studies and race ethnic studies

Communication, Race, and Family Thomas J. Socha, Rhunette C. Diggs, 1999-08-01 This groundbreaking volume explores how family communication influences the perennial and controversial topic of race In assembling this collection editors Thomas J Socha and Rhunette C Diggs argue that the hope for managing America's troubles with race lies not only with communicating about race at public meetings in school and in the media but also and more fundamentally with families communicating constructively about race at home African American and European American family communication researchers come together in this volume to investigate such topics as how Black families communicate to manage the issue of racism how Black parent child communication is used to manage the derogation of Black children the role of television in family communication about race the similarities and differences between and among communication in Black White and biracial couples and families and how family communication education can contribute to a brighter future for all With the aim of developing a clearer understanding of the role that family communication plays in society's move toward a multicultural world this volume provides a crucial examination of how families struggle with issues of ethnic cultural diversity
