Rights Concepts In Social Thought:

Relating Humanities and Social Thought Abraham Edel, 2019-01-22 In the current atmosphere of controversy about modes of interpreting literature historical influences in science and subtle ideologies in social theory Abraham Edel confronts the institutionalized separation of the humanities and the sciences the segregation of disciplines through structures that rest on entrenched dualisms and the isolations reenforced by habits of the academy and its struggles over turf Edel s search for connections carried out not only theoretically but through a series of particular studies spanning major disciplines from philosophy and social theory to jurisprudence biography and cultural anthropology leads into uncharted waters He faces the startling conclusion that the clue to answering internal questions characteristically turns out to come from trans discipline relations This fourth volume of Edel s Science Ideology and Value focuses in a Deweyan vein on the functional requirements at the base of the social sciences and humanities alike discipline structures are subject to change development and decay and even to categorial shifts as well as to readjustments At the same time Edel s philosophical naturalism helps diagnose the obstacles to research that stem from imposed dualisms such as theory and practice subjectivity and objectivity fact and value individual and society as well as social contrasts of elite and mass Normative structures are to be held responsible to inquiry and a self conscious exploratory practice is needed to minimize the risks of arbitrary closures For those who wish to get beyond sloganeering in the world of education humane learning and the social and historical sciences this book is a must

The Two Greatest Ideas Linda Trinkaus Zagzebski, 2023-06-27 In The Two Greatest Ideas Linda Zagzebski tells the history of two hugely impactful ideas and their crucial role in shaping human culture over the last two thousand years These ideas Zagzebski argues underlie virtually all of the intellectual innovations of human civilization yet are so simple they are almost invisible The first idea is that the human mind is capable of grasping the universe The second is that the human mind is capable of grasping itself Based on a series of lectures given in 2018 at Soochow University Zagzebski offers an ambitious big history narrative of the emergence and influence of these two ideas and the tension and conflict between them The idea that the human mind can grasp the universe had a significant influence on culture in many parts of the world in the first millennium BCE giving rise to physics mathematics philosophy and most major religions In the early modern period however particularly in the West the idea that the human mind can grasp itself supplanted some of the wider focus and popularity of the idea that human mind can grasp the universe revealing something important was missing namely the subjectivity of minds This transformation was reflected in radical changes in philosophy political thought art literature religion and science In this book Zagzebski provides a new frame for understanding the intellectual underpinnings of Western culture and thought through an illuminating exploration of the history and contemporary legacy of these two great ideas including reflections on their history in Eastern thought Zagzebski also reveals the deep roots of some familiar divisions in contemporary culture e g autonomy versus harmony and rights versus responsibilities as they relate to the great ideas The book then concludes with a discussion of what reconciling the two great ideas might entail including the possibility of a third great idea
