New Politics Of Food:

Feeding Frenzy Paul McMahon, 2014-06-07 Feeding Frenzy traces the history of the global food system and reveals the underlying causes of recent turmoil in food markets Supplies are running short prices keep spiking and the media is full of talk of a world food crisis The turmoil has unleashed some dangerous forces Food producing countries are banning exports even if this means starving their neighbors Governments and corporations are scrambling to secure control of food supply chains Powerful groups from the Middle East and Asia are acquiring farmland in poor countries to grow food for export what some call land grabs This raises some big questions Can we continue to feed a burgeoning population Are we running out of land and water Can we rely on free markets to provide This book reveals trends that could lead to more hunger and conflict But Paul McMahon also outlines actions that can be taken to shape a sustainable and just food system Globalization and Food Sovereignty Peter Andree, Jeffrey Ayres, Michael Bosia, Marie-Josée Massicotte, 2014-03-21 In recent years food sovereignty has emerged as a way of contesting corporate control of agricultural markets in pursuit of a more democratic decentralized food system The concept unites individuals communities civil society organizations and even states in opposition to globalizing food regimes This collection examines expressions of food sovereignty ranging from the direct action tactics of La V a Campesina in Brazil to the consumer activism of the Slow Food movement and the negotiating stances of states from the global South at WTO negotiations With each case the contributors explore how claiming food sovereignty allows individuals to challenge the power of global agribusiness and reject neoliberal market economics With perspectives drawn from Europe the Americas Asia Africa and Australia Globalization and Food Sovereignty is the first comparative collection to focus on food sovereignty activism worldwide Alternative Food Politics Michelle Phillipov, Katherine Kirkwood, 2018-12-07 Media interest in food has intensified in recent years leading to a contemporary food landscape where alternative food practices are increasingly visible Concerns that were once exclusively the domain of activist movements motivated by environmental animal rights health and anti corporate agendas are now central to primetime television cooking shows mobile apps and social media This book is the first to explore the impact of popular media and culture on contemporary food politics Through examination of a range of media and cultural texts including news digital media advertising and food labelling it brings together leading and emerging scholars in food studies media and communications sociology law policy studies business and geography The book explores the practices of alternative food movements the marketing techniques of conventional and alternative food producers and the relationships between food industries media and the public Covering topics ranging from agtech start ups and social justice projects to new ways of mediating food waste celebrity and ethical foods Alternative Food Politics reveals the importance of media as a driver of food system transformation This is a pivotal time for media and food industries and this book is essential reading for scholars and students seeking to better understand the futures possibilities and limits of food politics today The New Politics of Food

Lyle P. Schertz, 1975 The New Politics of North Carolina Christopher A. Cooper, H. Gibbs Knotts, 2012-09-01 Political scientist V O Key in 1949 described North Carolina as a progressive plutocracy. He argued that in the areas of industrial development, public education and race relations, North Carolina appeared progressive when compared to other southern states. Reconsidering Key's evaluation nearly sixty years later, contributors to this volume find North Carolina losing ground as a progressive leader in the South. The new politics of the state involves a combination of new and old; new opportunities and challenges have forced the state to change, but the old culture still remains a powerful force. In the eleven essays collected here, leading scholars of North Carolina politics offer a systematic analysis of North Carolina's politics and policy, placed in the context of its own history as well as the politics and policies of other states. Topics discussed include the evolution of politics and political institutions, the roles of governors, the judicial branch, interest groups and party systems, and the part played by economic development and environmental policy. Contributors also address how geography affects politics within the state, region and nation. Designed with students and interested citizens in mind, this collection provides an excellent introduction to contemporary North Carolina politics and government. Contributors: Hunter Bacot, Elon University; Christopher A. Cooper, Western Carolina University; Thomas F. Eamon, East Carolina University; Jack D. Fleer, Wake Forest University; Dennis O. Grady, Appalachian State University; Ferrel Guillory, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Sean Hildebrand, Western Carolina University; Jonathan Kanipe, Town Manager, Catawba, North Carolina; H. Gibbs Knotts, Western Carolina University; Adam J. Newmark, Appalachian State University; Charles Prysby, University of North Carolina at Greensboro; Ruth Ann Strickland, Appalachian State University; James H. Svara, Arizona State University; Timothy Vercellotti, Rutgers University.

The Handbook of Food Research Anne Murcott, Warren Belasco, Peter Jackson, 2013-08-15 The last 20 years have seen a burgeoning of social scientific and historical research on food. The field has drawn in experts to investigate topics such as the way globalisation affects the food supply, what cookery books can and cannot tell us, changing understandings of famine, the social meanings of meals and many more. Now sufficiently extensive to require a critical overview, this is the first handbook of specially commissioned essays to provide a tour d'horizon of this broad range of topics and disciplines. The editors have enlisted eminent researchers across the social sciences to illustrate the debates, concepts and analytic approaches of this widely diverse and dynamic field. This volume will be essential reading, a ready-to-hand reference book surveying the state of the art for anyone involved in and actively concerned about research on the social, political, economic, psychological, geographic and historical aspects of food. It will cater for all who need to be informed of research that has been done and that is being done. Catalog Food and Nutrition Information Center (U.S.), 1974 Digital Food TV Michelle Phillipov, 2022-11-01 This book explores the new theoretical and political questions raised by food TV's digital transformation. Bringing together analyses of food media texts and platform infrastructures from streaming and catch-up TV to YouTube and Facebook food videos, it shows how new textual conventions, algorithmic practices and market logics have redrawn the boundaries of food TV and altered the cultural place of food and food media in a digital era With case studies of new and rerun television and emerging online genres Digital Food TV considers what food television means at the current moment a time when on screen digital content is rapidly proliferating and televisual platforms and technologies are undergoing significant change This book will appeal to students and scholars of food studies television studies and digital media studies

New Politics in the Old South David T. Ballantyne, 2016-11-15 The first scholarly account of the South Carolina Democrat's career and the transformation of Southern U S politics and society during the civil rights era New Politics in the Old South is the first scholarly biography of Ernest F Fritz Hollings a key figure in South Carolina and national political developments in the second half of the twentieth century Throughout his career Hollings was renowned for his willingness to voice unpleasant truths as when he called for the peaceful acceptance of racial desegregation at Clemson University in 1963 and acknowledged the existence of widespread poverty and malnutrition in South Carolina in 1969 David T Ballantyne uses Hollings's career as a lens for examining the upheaval in southern politics and society after World War II Hollings's political career began in 1948 when he was elected to the South Carolina House of Representatives He served as governor from 1959 to 1963 and then as a U S senator from 1966 until he retired in 2005 Ballantyne illuminates Hollings's role in forging a southern strategy that helped move southern Democrats away from openly endorsing white supremacy and toward acknowledging the interests of racial minorities though this approach was halting and reluctant at times Unlike many southern politicians who emerged as reactionary figures during the civil rights era Hollings adapted to the changing racial politics of the 1960s while pursuing a clear course Vietnam War hawk fiscal conservative regional economic booster and free trade opponent While Hollings was at times an atypical southern senator his behavior in the 1960s and 1970s served as a model for survival as a southern Democrat His approach to voting rights military spending and social and cultural issues was mirrored by many southern Democrats between the 1970s and 1990s Hollings's career demonstrated an alternative to hard edged political conservatism one that was conspicuously successful throughout his Senate tenure

The New Politics of Transnational Labor Marissa Brookes, 2019-03-15 Over the years many transnational labor alliances have succeeded in improving conditions for workers but many more have not In The New Politics of Transnational Labor Marissa Brookes explains why this dichotomy has occurred Using the coordination and context appropriate CCAP theory she assesses this divergence arguing that the success of transnational alliances hinges not only on effective coordination across borders and within workers local organizations but also on their ability to exploit vulnerabilities in global value chains invoke national and international institutions and mobilize networks of stakeholders in ways that threaten employers core material interests Brookes uses six comparative case studies spanning four industries five countries and fifteen years From dockside labor disputes in Britain and Australia to service sector campaigns in the supermarket and private security industries to campaigns aimed at luxury hotels in Southeast Asia Brookes creates her new theoretical framework and speaks to debates in international and comparative political economy on the politics of economic globalization the viability of private governance and the impact of organized labor on economic inequality From this assessment Brookes provides a vital update to the international relations literature on non state actors and transnational activism and shows how we can understand the unique capacities labor has as a transnational actor

Food for the Future John Brueggemann,2023-07-03 Food for the Future Stories from the Alternative Agro food Movement is about different foods the stories they contain and most of all the people in the stories John Brueggemann interviewed dozens of farmers chefs non profit managers consumers teachers and healthcare providers He argues that their individual stories point towards larger patterns that have shaped the alternative agro food movement and that other factors including the environmental movement farms lifestyle movements and consumers have all played a crucial role in its rise The author concludes that the alternative agro food movement is providing a countervailing force relative to mainstream market culture and that instead of efficiency profit consumption individualism and short term thinking the alternative agro food movement emphasizes meaning need creation community and long term thinking

The Politics of Fat Laura S. Sims,2016-09-16 Politics pervades every link in the food chain from the farm to the fork It influences what foods we eat how much they cost what we know about them and how safe they are This book brings the point home by focusing on the vexing issue of dietary fat content known to be a health menace but also an ingredient in many or most of our best loved foods Through this prism Dr Sims explores the politics of food assistance programmes with a case study of the National School Lunch programme agricultural policy for example the price premium paid to farmers for milk with high butterfat content food content with case studies of food labelling and the approval process for fat substitutes and dietary change with a case study of nutrition education programmes The book concludes with consideration of the costs and benefits of government intervention and nonintervention in food policy from the supply side to the demand side and its consequences for human health and happiness The Politics of Fat shows how government policy affects not only breakfast lunch and dinner but also our between meal snacks explores the nexus of health policy and agricultural policy from price supports to trade policy and is written in an accessible style enlivened by discussion provoking case studies State ,1990

The New Politics of Islam Naveed S. Sheikh,2003-08-29 This timely study of Islam s international relations details both the theory of pan Islamism from classical to post caliphal times and the foreign policy practice of Saudi Arabia Iran and Pakistan from the colonial period to the present day

The New Politics Frank Buffington Vrooman,1911 Edith Wharton's Brave New Politics Dale M. Bauer,1994 Most critics claim that Edith Wharton s creative achievement peaked with her novels The House of Mirth and The Age of Innocence dismissing her later fiction as reactionary sensationalistic and aesthetically inferior In Edith Wharton s Brave New Politics Dale M Bauer overturns these traditional conclusions She shows that Wharton s post World War I writings are acutely engaged with the cultural debates of her day from reproductive control to authoritarian politics to mass culture and its ramifications Bauer examines the social and political critique implicit in Wharton's later works from Summer 1917 to her last novel The Buccaneers published posthumously in 1938. She integrates historical, political, and feminist concerns to recast Wharton's antimodernism and to recover the novelist's understanding of public life and private morality. Edith Wharton's Brave New Politics illustrates how literary criticism can change the course of a literary career. In her refutation of the dominant interpretations of Wharton's literary work, Bauer challenges the prevailing conception of this genteel woman of letters, showing that to read Wharton's works in isolation from her complex politics is to misunderstand Wharton's aims and to miss entirely the exhilarating power of these later fictions.

Barack Obama, Post-Racialism, and the New Politics of Triangulation Terry Smith, 2012-05-31 Examines black voters' relationship to the political process and to the first black president in a prematurely post-racial America using interviews with members of the Congressional Black Caucus, empirical data, news accounts, academic literature, and case law.

The New Politics of Inequality Thomas Byrne Edsall, 1985 This book attempts to describe a major shift in the balance of power on the United States over the past decade and to describe the consequences of that shift in the formulation of economic policy.

The New Politics of Social Work Mel Gray, Stephen A. Webb, 2017-09-16 With contributions from those at the forefront of modern social work thought, this edited volume reflects the growing eminence of critical social work in the 21st Century. Taking a truly global outlook, this text advocates the promotion of equality through a range of radical perspectives and provides a blueprint for the future of practice.
