Smith, 2018-04-13 Most of us hope to do what morality requires of us But what if we can't figure out what it does require A soldier may know that morality requires him not to kill an innocent civilian but he can't tell whether the driver of a suspicious car is an innocent civilian or a terrorist about to detonate a bomb Holly M Smith addresses this problem in Making Morality Work by asking whether we should reject moral codes that can't be used by anyone hampered by inadequate information When considering questions of morality we call on moral theories to play both a theoretical and a practical role These theories provide accounts of what makes actions right or wrong and also provide a standard by which agents can guide their own conduct It is usually assumed that a single theory can serve both roles but limited knowledge often prevents people from using traditional normative theories to make decisions Smith examines three major strategies for addressing this epistemic problem in morality before developing an innovative solution that overcomes the weaknesses of prior approaches Making Morality Work opens a path towards resolving a deep problem in moral life Encyclopedia of Production and Manufacturing Management Paul M. Swamidass, 2006-09-21 The Encyclopedia of Production and Manufacturing Management is an encyclopedia that has been developed to serve this field as the fundamental reference work Over the past twenty years the field of production and operations management has grown more rapidly than ever and consequently its boundaries have been stretched in all directions For example in the last two decades production and manufacturing management absorbed in rapid succession several new production management concepts manufacturing strategy focused factory just in time manufacturing concurrent engineering total quality management supply chain management flexible manufacturing systems lean production and mass customization to name a few This explosive growth makes the need for this volume abundantly clear The manufacturing industry thinks and acts more broadly than it did several decades ago The most notable change has been the need for manufacturing managers to think in technological strategic and competitive terms This is a very favorable development and it leads to manufacturing success The entries in this encyclopedia include the most recent technical and strategic innovations in production and manufacturing management The encyclopedia consists of articles of varying lengths The longer articles on important concepts and practices range from five to fifteen pages There are about 100 such articles written by nearly 100 authors from around the world In addition there are over 1000 shorter entries on concepts practices and principles The range of topics and depth of coverage is intended to suit both student and professional audiences The shorter entries provide digests of unfamiliar and complicated subjects Difficult subjects are made intelligible to the reader without oversimplification The strategic and technological perspectives on various topics give this Encyclopedia its distinctiveness and uniqueness The world of manufacturing today is increasingly competitive It is apparent that manufacturers must respond to these competitive pressures with technical and strategic innovation This encyclopedia has been developed to help researchers students and those in the manufacturing industry to understand and implement these ongoing changes in the field

International Best Practices for Evaluation in the Health Professions William McGaghie, 2022-02-16. This unique text presents a comprehensive narrative on why and how health professions students need to be evaluated for practice in the 21st century. It systematically addresses current evaluation best practices in the health professions to identify today's evaluation benchmarks, reveal evaluation limits, address improvement pathways, and map a research agenda to boost future evaluation practices. Advancements in information and communication technology, bioscience, and behavioral research, and worldwide travel are dissolving barriers that have separated professions, countries, and cultures for centuries. This book both celebrates these achievements and carefully considers next steps. It recognizes the huge improvements made in evaluation practices within the health professions over the past 40 years but asks for more, calling for added reform and better understanding of current practice from different social, cultural, and educational perspectives. International Best Practices for Evaluation in the Health Professions values crossprofessional programs that span boundaries and acknowledge the authority of the future rather than historical baggage. Educators worldwide will be enlightened and inspired by its straightforward, compelling narrative.
