A Cultural History of the Violin in Nineteenth-Century London Tom Wilder, 2025-03-18 Examines the violin's evolution as not just instrument but valued objet d'art through the eyes of musicians, collectors, makers, dealers, connoisseurs, journalists, auctioneers and traders. The nineteenth century saw developments in the composition, performance and reception of classical music that led to an unprecedented shift in how the violin was appreciated from humble craft object to one of art. A utilitarian tool defined in 1800 by its tonal properties became by century's end an expensive objet d'art classified almost exclusively in terms of physical, visible properties. In London's vibrant musical life, Cremonese violins acquired special significance and in turn helped shape the beliefs, knowledge and behaviour of the disparate actors connected to the instrument: musicians, collectors, makers, dealers, connoisseurs, journalists, auctioneers and traders. By 1880 London had supplanted Paris as the centre of the international violin trade. One firm in particular, W. E. Hill & Sons, emerged as a major presence in both the local musical community and the global violin market. The Hills were makers, restorers, dealers and connoisseurs. They were also writers, collectors and melomaniacs deeply implicated in London's instrument auction and exhibition scene. The mutually reinforcing nature of these activities, which they consciously turned to account for commercial reasons, bear witness to events and developments earlier in the century. Their story illuminates this first study of the violin's nineteenth-century journey from simple musical instrument to mystified work of art.

Violin Varnish

Joseph Michelman, 2011-03-23 After more than eight years of extensive research on the varnish used by the Italian Violin Makers from 1550 to 1750 A.D., it has not been possible to corroborate the results in the chemical laboratory. This is due entirely to the unavailability of samples of the varnish for confirmatory analysis. Violins made by the Italian masters of this period are so valuable and so scarce that a small sample of the varnish has not been procurable for experimental purposes. Therefore, synthesis must precede analysis and, with no assistance from the latter, this then will explain the sub-title of this book as 'A Plausible Re-creation of the Varnish Used by the Italian Makers Between the Years 1550 and 1750 A.D.'. However, the results of this investigation are so logical and so deeply supported by a vast amount of convincing evidence that publication of the book is in order. First, possibly the findings will be confirmed or otherwise by investigators who may be more fortunate in having access to material from authentic violins made by the old masters. Confirmatory chemical tests will be suggested; it should be comparatively simple, especially through modern micro analytical methods to determine the presence of certain constituents in the varnish The subject matter of this book will of necessity become technical especially when the theoretical aspects are considered It is realized that not everyone who will be interested in the rediscovery of the old Italian varnish will also be interested in the scientific deductions and conclusions For this reason a chapter will be included in which the preparation of the materials from which the varnish is made the formulation of the varnish and its application will be reduced to the simplest terms The old masters who lived several hundred years ago and who possessed none of the advantages of modern technology also used only the simplest technique in varnishing and finishing their violins Famous Violinists and Fine Violins Thomas Lamb Phipson,1896 The True-tone Violin W. J. Farrell,1921 Jacobs' Orchestra Monthly ,1915 The Violin Maker Glenn J. Hill,2019-12-31 The world is sinking into the chill of Nuclear Winter and an ancient evil ____ the Spanish Inquisition with all of it s horrors ____ once again stalks the earth In the midst of this terror a mysterious ancient violin captivates Joseph Davidson drawing him 500 years back in time Pursued by agents of the Inquisition Joseph and his lover Rachel must solve the puzzle of his hidden heritage ____ and a secret prophecy to save their dying world With their love in jeopardy and their lives in deadly peril the violin calls out with its siren song leading them on a dangerous quest across the globe ____ and back in time Current Literature ,1897
