Radloff, 2013-03-14 A comprehensive review of the honeybees of Africa on a subspecies as well as by country basis Includes an updated multivariate analysis of the subspecies based on the merger of the Ruttner database Oberursel and that of Hepburn seasonal cycles of development in different ecological climatological zones of the continent swarming migration and absconding and an analysis of the bee flora of the continent The text is supplemented by tables containing quantitative data on all aspects of honeybee biology and by continental and regional maps Bibliography of Commonwealth Apiculture Commonwealth Secretariat, 2005 A bibliography on CD ROM that lists almost all publications that have been written about bees bee science beekeeping hive products etc for each Commonwealth country in the tropics Apicultural Abstracts , 2001 Rights Resources and Rural Development Christo Fabricius, 2013-01-11 Community based natural resource management CBNRM is an approach that offers multiple related benefits securing rural livelihoods ensuring careful conservation and management of biodiversity and other resources and empowering communities to manage these resources sustainably Recently however the CBNRM concept has attracted criticism for failing in its promise of delivering significant local improvements and conserving biodiversity in some contexts This book identifies the flaws in its application which often have been swept under the carpet by those involved in the initiatives The authors analyse them and propose remedies for specific circumstances based on the lessons learned from CBNRM experience in southern Africa over more than a decade The result is essential reading for all researchers observers and practitioners who have focused on CBNRM in sustainable development programmes as a means to overcome poverty and conserve ecosystems in various parts of the globe It is a vital tool in improving their methods and performance In addition academics students and policy makers in natural resource management resource economics resource governance and rural development will find it a very valuable and instructive resource Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation Karl S. Zimmerer, 2006-09-15 Examining the geographical dimensions of environmental management and conservation activities implemented on landscapes worldwide Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation creates a new framework and collects original case studies to explore recent developments in the interaction of humans and their environment Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation makes four important arguments about the recent coupling of conservation and globalization that is reshaping the place of nature in human environmental change First it has led to an unprecedented number of spatial arrangements whose environmental management goals and prescribed activities vary along a spectrum from strict biodiversity protection to sustainable utilization involving agriculture food production and extractive activities Conservation and globalization are also leading by necessity to new scales of management in these activities that rely on environmental science thus shifting the spatial patterning of humans and the environment This interaction results as well in the unprecedented importance of boundaries and borders transnational border issues pose both opportunities and threats to global conservation proposed by organizations and institutions that are themselves international Lastly Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation argues that the local level has been integral to globalization while the regional level is often eclipsed at the peril of the successful implementation of conservation and management programs Bridging the gap between geography and life science Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation will appeal to a broad range of students of the environment conservation planning biodiversity management and development and globalization studies
