Representations Of The Self From The Renaissance To Romanticism:

Representations of the Self from the Renaissance to Romanticism Patrick Coleman, Jayne Lewis, Jill

Kowalik, 2000-04-27 This book examines the public assertion of self by men and women in England France and Germany from the Renaissance to Romanticism Self-Commentary in Early Modern European Literature, 1400-1700 Francesco

Venturi, 2019-05-15 This volume investigates the various ways in which writers comment on present and defend their own works and at the same time themselves across early modern Europe A multiplicity of self commenting modes ranging from annotations to explicatory prose to prefaces to separate critical texts and exemplifying a variety of literary genres are subjected to analysis Self commentaries are more than just an external apparatus they direct and control reception of the primary text thus affecting notions of authorship and readership With the writer understood as a potentially very influential and often tendentious interpreter of their own work the essays in this collection offer new perspectives on pre modern and modern forms of critical self consciousness self representation and self validation Contributors are Harriet Archer Gilles Bertheau Carlo Caruso Jeroen De Keyser Russell Ganim Joseph Harris Ian Johnson Richard Maber Martin McLaughlin John O'Brien Magdalena Oarska Federica Pich Brian Richardson Els Stronks and Colin Thompson The Representation of the Self in the American Renaissance Jeffrey Steele, 1987 Representation of the Self in the American Renaissance

Controlling Time and Shaping the Self J. Arianne Baggerman, Rudolf M. Dekker, Michael James Mascuch, 2011-06-22 This book gives answers to questions surrounding the rise of autobiographical writing from the sixteenth to the twentieth century by analyzing texts varying from the time of the Spanish Inquisition to post war Japan Early Modern English Lives Ronald Bedford, Lloyd Davis, Philippa Kelly, 2016-12-05 How did early modern English people write about themselves and how do we listen to their voices four centuries later The authors of Early Modern English Lives Autobiography and Self Representation 1500 1660 argue that identity is depicted through complex subtle and often contradictory social interactions and literary forms Diaries letters daily spiritual reckonings household journals travel journals accounts of warfare incidental meditations on the nature of time death and self reflection as well as life stories themselves these are just some of the texts that allow us to address the social and historical conditions that influenced early modern self writing The texts explored in Early Modern English Lives do not automatically speak to our familiar patterns of introspection and self inquiry Often formal highly metaphorical and emotionally restrained they are very different in both tone and purpose from the autobiographies that crowd bookshelves today Does the lack of emotional description suggest that complex emotions themselves in all the depth and variety that we now understand and expect of them are a relatively modern phenomenon This is one of the questions addressed by Early Modern English Lives The authors bring to our attention the kinds of rhetorical and generic features of early modern self representation that can help us to appreciate people living four hundred years ago as the complicated composite figures they were people whose expression of identity involved an elaborate interplay of roles and discourses and for whom the notion of privacy itself was a wholly different phenomenon A Field of Honor Gregory S. Brown, 2005-01-22 Gregory S. Brown's A Field of Honor: The Identities of Writers, Court Culture and Public Theater in the French Intellectual Field from Racine to the Revolution offers a multilevel study of the intellectual, social and institutional contexts of dramatic authorship and the world of playwrights in 18th century Paris. Brown deftly interweaves research in archival and printed materials, case studies of individual authorial strategies, the rich (often contentious) historiography on the French Enlightenment and contemporary cultural theory and criticism. Drawing on a sophisticated array of recent studies, Brown positions his work against and between the grain of alternative approaches and interpretations. He combines scholarship on the history of the book with analyses of political culture and cultural identity, leaving the reader with a strong and revealing appreciation for the tensions and crosscurrents staged at the center of the 18th century republic of letters.

The Romantic Foundations of the American Renaissance Leon Chai, 2019-05-15 The Romantic Foundations of the American Renaissance illuminates the process by which the cultural legacy of European Romanticism was assimilated by and transformed in the literature of mid nineteenth century America. Leon Chai traces the development of various governing concepts or tendencies from their genesis in British, French and German Romantic traditions through their subsequent appropriation by such American writers as Poe, Emerson, Hawthorne and Melville. Among the topics he addresses are the shift from allegory to symbolism, selected trends in Romantic science, the secularization of religion, the emergence of a historical consciousness and a philosophy of history, pantheism, the relation of subjectivity to objectivity in Romantic philosophy and Romantic poets. Early Modern Autobiography Ronald Bedford, Lloyd Davis, Philippa Kelly, 2006 Why and in what ways did late medieval and early modern English people write about themselves and what was their understanding of how selves were made and discussed? This collection goes to the heart of current debate about literature and autobiography, addressing the contentious issues of what is meant by early modern autobiographical writing, how it was done and what was understood by self representation in a society whose groupings were both elaborate and highly regulated. Early Modern Autobiography considers the many ways in which autobiographical selves emerged from the late medieval period through the seventeenth century, with the aim of understanding the interaction between those individuals' lives and their worlds, the ways in which they could be recorded and the contexts in which they are read. In addressing this historical arc, the volume develops new readings of significant autobiographical works while also suggesting the importance of texts and contexts that have rarely been analyzed in detail, enabling the contributors to reflect on and challenge some prevailing ideas about what it means to write autobiographically and about the development of notions of self representation. The idea of the self as seen from diverse and fascinating perspectives on sixteenth and seventeenth century life: this is what readers can expect from Early Modern Autobiography. A beautifully edited collection, genuinely far reaching and insightful, Early Modern Autobiography makes known to us a great deal about how people saw themselves four hundred years ago. Rethinking the Republic of Letters Koen Scholten,2025-10-01 This book offers a revisionist look at the historiography of the Republic of Letters and the community of learning in early modern Europe It suggests a new approach conceptualising the learned world as a web of imagined communities in which the members do not know all their peers These communities formed through distinct memory cultures and the representation of and identification with collective identities Rethinking the Republic of Letters looks at early modern biographical dictionaries vitae eulogies letters travelogues and funerary monuments of early modern learned men to trace the re formation of these communities It thereby offers a novel perspective on early modern learned communities the many Republics of Letters Actresses and Whores Kirsten Pullen,2005-02-17 Publisher Description Subjectivity Ruth Robbins,2005-04-20 Who do you think you are In Subjectivity Ruth Robbins explores some of the responses to this fundamental question In readings of a number of autobiographical texts from the last three centuries Robbins offers an approachable account of formations of the self which demonstrates that both psychology and material conditions often in tension with one another are the building blocks of modern notions of selfhood Key texts studied include William Wordsworth s Prelude Thomas De Quincey s Confessions of an English Opium Eater James Joyce s A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man Oscar Wilde s De Profundis Jung Chang s Wild Swans Robbins also argues that our subjectivity far from being the secure possession of the individual is potentially fragile and contingent She shows that the versions of subjectivity authorized by the dominant culture are full of gaps and blindspots that undo any notion of universal human nature subjectivity is culturally and historically specific we are in part what the culture in which we live permits us to be Concise and easy to follow this introduction to the concept of subjectivity and the theories surrounding it shows that in spite of the insecurity of selfhood there is still much to be gained from the textual encounter with other selves It is essential reading for all those studying autobiography or autobiographical writing

Pictured Politics Emily Engel,2020-03-23 The Spanish colonial period in South America saw artists develop the subgenre of official portraiture or portraits of key individuals in the continent s viceregal governments Although these portraits appeared to illustrate a narrative of imperial splendor and absolutist governance they instead became a visual record of the local history that emerged during the colonial occupation Using the official portrait collections accumulated between 1542 and 1830 in Lima Buenos Aires and Bogot as a lens Pictured Politics explores how official portraiture originated and evolved to become an essential component in the construction of Ibero American political relationships Through the surviving portraits and archival evidence including political treatises travel accounts and early periodicals Emily Engel demonstrates that these official portraits not only belie a singular interpretation as tools of imperial domination but also visualize the continent s multilayered history of colonial occupation The first stand alone analysis of South American portraiture Pictured Politics brings to light the historical relevance of political portraits in crafting the history of South American colonialism New Historical Literary Study Jeffrey N. Cox,Larry J. Reynolds,2021-07-13 This volume growing out of the celebrated turn toward history in literary criticism showcases some of the best new historical work being done today in textual theory literary history and cultural criticism The collection brings together for the first time key representatives from various schools of historicist scholarship including leading critics whose work has helped define new historicism The essays illuminate literary periods ranging from Anglo Saxon to postmodern a variety of literary texts that includes The Siege of Thebes Macbeth The Jazz Singer and The Chosen Place the Timeless People and central issues that have marked new historicism power ideology textuality othering marginality exile and liberation The contributors are Janet Aikins Lawrence Buell Ralph Cohen Margaret Ezell Stephen Greenblatt Terence Hoagwood Jerome McGann Robert Newman Katherine O Keefe Lee Patterson Michael Rogin Edward Said and Hortense Spillers The editors introduction situates the various essays within contemporary criticism and explores the multiple contestatory issues at stake within the historicist enterprise
