Jelen, 2003-04-01 Can individual decisions concerning whether or where to attend church to contribute time or money to religious organizations or to forgo certain activities be explained as a special case of economic theory In Sacred Markets Sacred Canopies Ted G Jelen brings together the leading scholars in the sociology of religion to debate market theories of religion As the contributors examine whether or not religious choices can be understood as responding to the same laws of supply and demand as other forms of consumer behavior they bring out many of the issues controversies and concerns surrounding this innovative theory The result is a concise source for the arguments evidence and criticism of the market model of religious economies a perfect starting point for students and scholars approaching this set of problems Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1974 Transnational Financial Crime Nikos Passas, 2017-07-05 Financial crime affects virtually all areas of public policy and is increasingly transnational The essays in this volume address both the theoretical and policy issues arising from financial crime and feature a wide variety of case studies and cover topics such as state revenue collection criminal enterprises money laundering the use of new technologies and methods in financial crime corruption terrorism proliferation of WMD sanctions third world debt procurement telecommunications cyberspace the defense industry and intellectual property Taken together these essays form a must read collection for scholars and students in law finance and criminology Allegories of America Frederick M. Dolan, 2018-03-15 Allegories of America offers a bold idea of what in terms of political theory it means to be American Beginning with the question What do we want from a theory of politics Dolan explores the metaphysics of American ness and stops along the way to reflect on John Winthrop the Constitution 1950s behaviorist social science James Merrill and William Burroughs The pressing problem in Dolan's view is how to find a vocabulary for politics in the absence of European metaphysics American political thinkers he suggests might respond by approaching their own theories as allegories The postmodern dilemma of the loss of traditional absolutes would thus assume the status of a national mythology America's perennial identity crisis in the absence of a tradition establishing the legitimacy of its founding After examining the mid Atlantic sermons of John Winthrop the spiritual founding father Dolan reflects on the authority of the Constitution and the Federalist He then takes on questions of representation in Cold War ideology focusing on the language of David Easton and other liberal political behaviorists as well as on cold War cinema and the coverage of international affairs by American journalists Additional discussions are inspired by Hannah Arendt's recasting of political theory in a narrative framework here Dolan considers two starkly contrasting postwar literary figures William S Burroughs and James Merrill both of whom have a troubled relationship to politics but nonetheless register an urgent need to articulate its dangers and opportunities Alongside

Merrill's unraveling of the distinction between the serious and the fictive Dolan assesses the attempt in Arendt's On Revolution to reclaim fictional devices for political reflection

Truth, Beauty, and Goodness in Biblical Narratives Kris Sonek, 2009-05-05 A modern reader studying biblical narratives encounters various literary approaches and ways of understanding interpretive concepts Hence an attempt to put forward a comprehensive hermeneutical model of reading biblical narratives Such a model should aim at a synthesis of various approaches and show how they are interrelated The book proposes a hermeneutical theory which uses modern approaches to literary texts for the exegesis of biblical narratives The book discusses three spheres of the reader's knowledge about reality immanent narrative and transcendental The move from immanent to transcendental knowledge through the mediation of narrative knowledge results from the mediatory role played by the biblical text which refers the reader to a transcendent reality This theory is then applied to the exegesis of Genesis 21 1 21 and involves the evaluation of the New Criticism rhetorical criticism structuralism and narrative analysis reader response criticism the historical critical method as well as deconstruction In order to satisfy the postulate of pluralism in interpretation the hermeneutical theory draws upon a variety of ancient and modern sources such as Aristotle T S Eliot Hans Urs von Balthasar and Paul Ricoeur
