

The Magic Monastery

A constant quiet derivate used often to attend the weekly meals given by a cultivated and generous man. This circle was known as "The Assembly of the Cultured".

The derivate never took part in the conversations, but simply arrived, smilingly shook hands with all present, seated himself in a corner, and ate the food provided.

When the meeting was over, he would stand up, say a word of farewell and thanks, and go his way. Nobody knew anything about him, though when he first appeared there were rumors that he was a saint.

For a long time the other guests thought that he must indeed be a man of sanctity and knowledge, and they looked forward to the time when he might impart some of his wisdom to them. Some of them even boasted of his attendance at their meetings to their friends, hinting at the special distinction which they felt in his presence.

Gradually, however, because they could find no relationship with this man developing, the guests began to suspect that he was an impostor, perhaps a fraud. Several of them felt uncomfortable in his presence. He seemed to do nothing to harmonize himself with the atmosphere, and did not even contribute a proverb to the delighted conversation which they had come to prize as a necessary part of their very lives. At last, on the other hand, because unaware that he was there at all, since he drew no attention to himself.

One day the derivate spoke. He said:

"I invite all of you to visit my monastery, tomorrow night. You shall eat with me."

This unexpected invitation caused a change in the opinions
